CLARK PROBES AUTO TOWING

Today

The Argentine Method.
You Must Love It.
Sell, But Don't Drink.
He Needed His Job.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

THEY DO THINGS differently in other countries.

Here, lacking prosperity for the moment, we are content to ask each other, "When do you think it will end?"

In Buenos Aires they have lack of prosperity, and the Argentine president has his dwelling guarded by troops and bristling with machine guns. Imagine President Hoover hearing that a lot of men are out of work and immediately ordering the White House fortified with bomb, cannon, etc.

A WELL KNOWN story tells of Frederick the Great's father pursuing little boys that ran in terror from his angry face, catching them and beating them with his cane, saying:

"I will make you love me."

The Russian government intends to make the people love the Russian money, no matter what they think of it.

Yesterday Russia's chief of police announced the execution of 10 men convicted of hoarding gold and silver coins and foreign currency.

The present Russian theory is:

"If the money of the Soviet is not good enough for you, this world is not the place for you."

COL. SEARS, of the National Prison Emergency Committee, studying crime and prisons, announces that bootleggers are not drinkers of their own goods.

Omar, who also lived under prohibition and didn't think much of it, wondered what the wine sellers could buy with their money, as good as the wine for which they got the money.

He lived before the days of bootleg whisky.

MANY READ OF unemployment, as of a thing theoretically interesting but not important.

That was not the view of Constine Barowski.

He had a job. He worked hard to keep it. His family was destitute. A mosquito bit him, gangrene set in, doctors told him he must have the leg cut off. That would mean the loss of his job.

Helped by the good leg and the bad leg, he climbed to the roof, jumped off and died.

It is hoped and presumed that he has found a better job somewhere else.

PEACE AND QUIET mean a long life. The French to "peace and quiet" add "good wine." The oldest woman in France, Madam Laneau, lives at Dijon, capital of Burgundy, the province of marvelously fine wine, if it is permitted to apply "fine" to anything connected with the demon rum. Madame Laneau has lived soberly, as the French do, eating carefully, never drinking water without putting wine in it, never in her life traveling by train or automobile, she feels very well.

FRANCE HAS ON hand a war that all will approve. Armed cutters of the French Navy are fighting giant fish "belugas," or dolphins, that eat millions of good fish and destroy gear of fishermen along the coast of Brittany.

Protected by slippery, hard skin, and thick fat, they are hard to kill, and continue their murderous work.

Suppose that in a city of five million inhabitants, there lived a few giants eating smaller citizens, each giant devouring thousands every day. Such is life in the ocean.

The marvel is that any fish survive. The number of eggs in a shad roe explain it.

A pair of shad in a few years if all the young survived, and raised families, would make the Atlantic and Pacific solid shad banks.

IN NEW YORK, Eugene Van Clief discovered the truth in Kipling's idea that the female is more deadly than the male—when you select the wrong female.

Van Clief was fascinated by a lady who had killed her husband with a knife, admired her in court, and almost married her, afterwards.

They lived together, having agreed to marry "a little later." The lady kept her temperament and the knife. The man worried, could not make up his mind to leave her, murdered her and killed himself.

GOV. ROOSEVELT, of New York, will ask the legislature "to take up a practical definite study of unemployment insurance, avoiding, of course, any form of dole."

The difference between the British dole and unemployment insurance, if the state pays for the insurance, is not a great difference.

WE ALL DEPEND on each other, and our sad depression will make some, especially the prosperous, realize that when the little man suffers the big man feels the pinch.

For instance, when a small man can't afford to buy his new automobile, even on the instalment plan, the big owner of railroad stocks feels the pinch severely.

THE DROP IN automobile sales alone means to big railroads a loss of about $20,000,000 a month.

To be prosperous yourself, make others prosperous. To keep yourself safe and healthy in your own fine house, keep disease and plague out of the slums.

ENGLAND BELIEVES that the Labor and Liberal parties may unite, following a conference on unemployment between MacDonald and Lloyd George.

If the Labor Party and the Tory Party both should make up their minds to accept Lloyd George's leadership and advice, as they did so gladly when the war frightened them, England might be better off.

FRANK M. FISH, 49

MAN KILLS SON, WIFE, SELF

That Frank M. Fish, 50, sales executive of Mt. Lebanon, had not planned to kill his wife, Adah, 49, and their son, John, 19, when he decided to take his own life, was revealed today with the finding of his will among business papers by relatives.

In the will, drawn up Wednesday, Mr. Fish directed that after his death his estate was to go to his wife and son, and upon their death, to a sister of Mrs. Fish, who resides in Spokane, Wash.

That he changed his mind after winding up his business affairs, and killed his wife and their son because of "his great love for his family," was thought probable by relatives, who identified the bodies in the morgue and ordered them removed to an undertaking establishment.

GIRL'S DEATH SHOCK

Fish had been despondent over financial difficulties, and had never recovered from the shock sustained when his daughter died two years ago, relatives said. He was a district sales representative for the Matthews Conveyor Company of Ellwood City.

After he mad his will, relatives thought, he brooded over the fact that he was leaving his wife and

Dr. Brewster Fails In Channel Swim

DOVER, Eng., Aug. 29.—(INS.)—Another bid for English Channel swimming honors failed today when Dr. Brewster, of London, attempteing to swim from Dover to France in record time, for the Dover gold cup, became seasick and was forced to leave the water at 2 p. m. Dr. Brewster had been in the water almost eight hours.

DEATHS SEEN AS MURDER, SUICIDE

North Side Pair Discovered In Bedroom; Neighbors Tell of Hearing Quarrel

A man and his wife were shot to death in a bedroom on the North Side today.

They were Lazarus Romanin, 44, and Catherine Romanin, 31, of 331 Bothwell street.

The double death follows by 24 hours the Mt. Lebanon shooting, in which a man murdered his wife and son and then took his own life.

Romanin and his wife were found in the home of Mrs. James Troian, at 300 Bothwell street. Mrs. Romanin was the housekeeper there.

TOLD OF QUARREL

Homicide detectives in a preliminary investigation were unable to determine which of the two had done the shooting.

The detectives were told by neighbors that Romanin had been quarreling with his wife.

The bodies were sprawled on the floor of the bedroom, a few feet from each other. The door was locked.

In their own home a few doors removed were the two omanin children, Ardo, 5, and Lena, 9.

TWO GUNS FOUND

Two revolvers were found in the bedroom—one on the floor and one on the dresser. The one on the floor had been fired.

Romanin was said to have been out of work for several months. He was a stonemason.

Mrs. Romanin was taking care of the Troian home while Mrs. Troian and a child were touring Italy.

Child Slain, Greensburg Man Held

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Aug. 29.—(AP.)—Police today sought some clue to the identity to the slayer of 8-year-old Marverine Appel, whose body was found last night in al alley two blocks from her home. The child had been missing since Wednesday evening, but she had been dead only an hour and a half when her body was found.

Jack Stancer, 32, who had told Marverine's mother, Mrs. Eula Appel, that the child would soon be found, was questioned and then released. Police were convinced Stancer knew nothing of the crime.

The paucity of clues left authorities almost helpless. A man was reported to have invited Marverine and several other children to take a ride with him in an automobile Wednesday. Marverine and her companions re-

MENCKEN, BRIDE IN MONTREAL

MONTREAL, Aug. 29.—(AP.)—H. L. Mencken, magazine editor, just married in Baltimore, on arriving here with Mrs. Mencken on their honeymoon trip, commented in picturesque fashion on prohibition in the United States, and assailed the MacDonald government in England. He declared:

"Ramsay MacDonald is a kind of Methodist evangelist. His is the only government I have ever heard of that has failed to do every single thing that was expected of it. From the man in the street, who expected to get food for his empty stomach, to the big-minded Liberal, who looked to him for a solution of the problems of India, he has failed them all."

Concerning the government of the United States, Mencken said:

"It's a comic government, but perhaps it's as good as any."

'HUNCH' HITS, LOTTERIES GROGGY

Second Big Payoff in Month Reported to Cost Racket Quarter Million

Losses reported to hover around $250,000 were suffered today by "numbers" operators throughout the city when another "hunch number," 507, came through. It marked the second time within the month that the racketmen were on the losing end of their good proposition—in a big way.

The number is one of the most popular in all the realm of "numbers." Statistics reveal that a combination of 507 has "hit" 16 times during the past two years and the number itself has come through four times within the same period.

HEAVY PLAY MADE

It is said there is a heavy play on the number daily, and when it was learned it came through today there was near panic among the racketmen. Heroic efforts to meet the growing demand for ready cash were made. No reports of pools unable to pay off were received.

The heaviest losses were reported on the North Side. It was estimated that racketmen in that district were "touched" for nearly $75,000. The drain on the limited reserve funds of the North Side racketeers may put an end to the syndicate there.

The big shots of the North Side "numbers" pool, who were reported "broke" last Saturday after their business dropped two-thirds, were convinced today that the "numbers" racket wasn't a paying investment in that district. The pools in that section were the first to reduce payoff odds after the first hunch number "805" came through, August 5.

BOY, 16, RAIDING ICE BOX, SHOT

An alleged attempt to loot the ice-box of a neighbor may prove fatal to Joseph Phillips, 16, of 2436 Diehl place, Carrick, who is in St. Joseph's Hospital with a bullet in his shoulder.

W. J. Herlihy

William J. Herlihy, of 2526 Berg place, Carrick, told police he shot Phillips when the youth—with a companion—attempted to force the rear door of his home shortly after midnight. The companion escaped.

"I struck him with my gun when he leaped past me, and when he refused to halt I shot him."

The statement was made today by Herlihy, who said he watched for the prowlers after several at-

Daughters of Confederacy Will Defend Borglum

ATLANTA, Aug. 29.—(AP.)—Daughters of the Confederacy have expressed their readiness to stand bond for Gutzon Borglum if any attempt should be made to arrest him on his arrival here Saturday.

Borglum, original sculptor of the Stone Mountain Confederate memorials near here, is coming to Atlanta to see if plans cannot be perfected to resume carving on the memorial.

Borglum is subject to arrest on an old indictment which grew out of his removal some years ago as the sculptor by officers of the Memorial Association. They charged him with larceny and malicious mischief, the charges being based on his destruction of the models for the memorial.

The De Kalb County grand jury some time ago recommended that the charges be dropped. Solicitor General Claude Smith declared the indictments would be treated "like ordinary cases."

In the event that Borglum should be arrested, Mayor-elect Key will ask that he be released immediately on bond. He said the sculptor was coming here as his guest and the city's guest and that the laws of hospitality should be observed during his visit.

After Borglum's removal Augustus Lukeman was employed as sculptor. Following controversy and suits work was stopped more than a year ago.

The owners of the mountain asked that it be returned to them alleging the association was insolvent, a charge which the organiaztion denied. The present move is an effort to get everything settled and the work resumed under supervision of the city of Atlanta.

Peace Depends on Ceded People's Deciding Own Allegiance, Says Hearst

FRANKFORT, Germany, Aug. 28.

The following signed statement by William Randolph Hearst is published by the Frankfurter Zeitung:

I personally feel very friendly to Germany and the German people, but I also have friendly feeling for the other peoples of Europe. During the early part of the late great war I did my best to have America remain out of the war because I thought, first, that the war was entirely a European war and not especially our affair, and, second, because I thought it was desirable for the United States as a nation to maintain friendly relations with all the peoples of Europe.

This policy of freedom from foreign entanglements and friendship for all nations was in accordance with the advice of Washington, the great founder of our country, and I thought and think that the majority of the American people felt the same way as Washington, because Mr. Wilson was re-elected President on the claim that he had kept us out of the war.

DRAWN INTO THE WAR

However, we were finally drawn into the war and the nation accepted the declaration of President Wilson that it was the duty of the United States to go into the war in order to make "the world safe for democracy," and to insure the self-determination of peoples.

Well, Germany has done its part to make the world safe for democracy. It is now a democratic nation and a genuine one. If the world is unsafe for democracy anywhere, it is not in Germany. If one of the great objects of the American crusade has only partly succeeded, it is not through any lack of democracy in this central part of Europe.

PRESIDENT WILSON FORGOT

The other great object of the American crusade as defined by President Wilson, namely, to insure the self determination of peoples, has not succeeded at all. The Versailles conference apparently did not have that object in view and President Wilson himself seemed to have forgotten all about this inspiring policy.

As a consequence of the utter abandonment of this principle, Teutonic peoples have been delivered to the domination of Belgium, France, Italy, Jugo-Slavia, Czecho-Slovakia, Poland and Lithuania.

As it was one of the great objects of America in entering the war to rectify that injustice of races being under foreign domination and to establish the self-determination of peoples (that is, their right to be free from foreign domination and their right to determine under what government they shall be enrolled), Americans should be interested in the present unsound and unstable condition in Europe which is so far from the condition which they hoped to secure.

THREAT OF FUTURE WAR

Furthermore, in my opinion, not only America but more particularly all European nations should be interested in rectifying a condition which, because of its fundamental unsoundness and injustice, holds so great a threat of future war.

Elemental injustice must always be remedied. In the past we have sought to remedy it by war, and have merely substituted one injustice for another as a result of war.

Let us hope we have reached a point in human progress where injustice can be remedied by peaceful policies, by an honest recognition of what is right, and by a sincere desire to establish peace permanently on a basis of general satisfaction and genuine content.

I would think that if the nations of Europe actually desired permanent peace and mutually friendly relations they would allow the people of the various ceded territories themselves to determine by a plebiscite to what nation each one desired to belong and to bestow its allegiance.

GOOD, SOUND, BUT—

The principle of self-determination which President Wilson enunciated is a good one and a sound one and a just one. It was a worthy policy for America to have had as its inspiration in war. It is too bad that this noble principle was neglected by the Versailles conference and forgotten by Mr. Wilson. It is perhaps not too late to have that splendid principle revived and eventually established as the firm basis of European peace. Until it is so established, there will be nothing but the continual menace of war.

If that principle were firmly established in actual practice, then Mr. Briand's idea of a United States of Europe could probably be put into successful operation, but to my mind no United States of Europe is in any way possible while so many of the states which would go to make these United States are living in a condition of rankling injury and injustice.

FOR AMERICA TO UNDERSTAND

Americans do not know a great deal about Europe, not much more than Europeans know about America. In order to make the European situation clear to Americans it would be necessary to make comparisons with the situation here

EACH GARAGE FACES QUIZ IN THEFTS

Public Safety Chief Urges Losers Inform Him; Will Revoke Offenders' Permits

Public Safety Director James M. Clark returned today from a three-weeks' vacation with the pledge to investigate every garage which enjoys police towing privileges.

Clark's promise followed testimony that two employes of the Center Garage, in Roberts street, stole a wheel and tires from a truck towed there. The director said:

"If the charges are true, I will revoke the towing license of the Center garage. I intend to investigate every towing garage in the city. Furthermore, if the owners of autos which have been towed in discover anything missing from their cars, I want them to report the losses to me personally."

Clark's announcement came after C. H. Roth, secretary of the Pittsburgh Motor Club, had announced that state legislation would be sought to stamp out the alleged petty thievery incident to such towing.

The garage employes were held for court following Detective Joseph Lavery's report that they had admitted the theft.

GERMAN FLIERS REACH BUFFALO

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 28.—(AP.)—The giant Dornier Wahl flying boat, piloted by Capt. Wolfgang Von Gronau, appeared over Buffalo at 11:34 (Pittsburgh time) and landed in the Niagara River at the coast guard station six minutes later.

The German quartet was accompanied by two passengers on its Buffalo-Chicago voyage. One was Hertha Seleman-Mirow, of the flying division of the Hamburg-American line, who has been acting as Capt. Von Gronau's secretary during his visit here. The other was Dr. George Gyssling, of the German consulate in New York.

The Germans plan to stay in Buffalo over night and will leave for the National Air Races at Chicago tomorrow.

The fliers had hopped off from New York this morning.

MATHER TESTIFIES HE KEPT MERGER NEWS FROM EATON

FINANCIER'S ASSOCIATE ON STAND

Informed About Negotiations On Return From Cruise, Did Not Reveal Plan

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 29.—(AP.)—William G. Mather, of Cleveland, an associate of Cyrus S. Eaton in the Cliffs Corporation, testified today that he was informed of the merger negotiations between Youngstown Sheet and Tube and the Bethlehem Steel corporation last February 23 and that he said nothing to Eaton about it prior to the March 7 meeting when Eaton claims the news first was conveyed to him.

Mather said that he and his brother, Samuel Mather, managing partner in Pickands, Mather and Company, Cleveland ore firm, were met in New York when they returned from the West Indies on February 23 and were informed by Henry G. Dalton that the merger negotiations were in progress.

SUMMONED BY JUDGE

The witness, summoned at the request of Judge David Jenkins, who said he had some important questions to ask, was interrogated by the court.

Mather said he knew Dalton was a director of Sheet and Tube but could not be sure whether he knew then that Dalton also was a director of Bethlehem. His impression, however, was that Dalton spoke as a Sheet and Tube representative, he said in response to the court's question.

Mather said he told Dalton that if terms of one and a third shares of Bethlehem for one of Youngstown could be arranged, instead of one and a fourth shares as were then being discussed, he believed it would be favorable to Sheet and Tube. The former terms were agreed upon and ratified.

MEETING HELD

The witness said he returned to Cleveland that same day and found that Eaton, the leading opponent of the merger, was in the South. About the first of March Dalton returned to Cleveland and he said it was his recollection that a day or so later Eaton likewise returned.

The March 7 meeting, held in Mr. Mather's office, was arranged by Dalton, the witness testified. The court took him back to the New York conference and Mather revealed that Dalton had said then he was going to notify Eaton.

At that time, Mr. Eaton, according to his own testimony, was working on negotiations for a merger between Sheet and Tube and Inland Steel of Chicago, with the consent of Youngstown executives.

Mather testified that the arrangements for the March 7 meeting were in Mr. Dalton's hands; that Dalton, and not himself, communicated with Eaton and that he had not discussed the merger with any Sheet and Tube stockholder. This included his nephew, S. Livingston Mather, a member of the executive committee of the Youngstown company, he said.

THOSE PRESENT

Referring to the March 7 meeting, Judge Jenkins asked who was present. The witness replied that in addition to himself, his brother, Samuel Mather, his nephew Livingston, Dalton and Eaton were there.

Here were represented the "complex" relations of the Mathers to the firms and individuals involved in the merger battle, cited yesterday by William G. Mather's attorney as the reason they had not wished to testify in the injunction suit against the merger.

The witness recalled that Dalton got down immediately to the point of the meeting, which was to inform Eaton of the merger negotiations. Dalton announced, he said, that terms of one and a third shares of Bethlehem for one of Youngstown had been arranged.

EATON AGAINST DEAL

The next speaker, the witness said, was Eaton, who addressed the meeting for half an hour expressing his strong opposition to the consolidation as it had been arranged and his surprise that he had not been told about it.

The judge inquired:

"Did he say it was the first time he had heard about it?"

The witness replied:

"Yes, he indicated it was the first he heard of it."

The witness was unable to recall many of the subsequent details.

KEPT 'QUIET'

The court asked:

"Did you take part in the conversation?"

Mather replied:

"Very little; practically none."

"What do you recall having said?"

"It was my desire to keep perfectly quiet."

Laughter filled the court room. Mather continued:

"I don't remember that I said anything of importance. I know I didn't want to. I wanted to be quiet passive."

The judge said:

"There is evidence here that others in the case realize that, too."

NEW PROBE IN JUDGE'S DEATH

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—(INS.)—Plans were made today by Attorney General Ward's office to re-investigate the year-old mysterious death of Magistrate Andrew Macrery.

Robert S. Conklin, assistant to Ward, announced the new probe following the uncovering of secret information concerning the magistrate's death.

Macrery, according to charges made last year, was beaten to death because he refused to pay a second instalment of $5,000 on $30,000 alleged to have been the price agreed upon for his office.

The magistrate died on Aug. 21, 1929, a few days after he had been appointed to the bench.

Announcement of the re-opening of the investigation of the magistrate's death followed indictment of Martin J. Healy, Tammany district leader, on charges of failure to pay income tax returns for 1927. Healy was mentioned as having received a $10,000 loan from the wife of former Magistrate George F. Ewald a few days before Ewald's appointment to the bench.

Weather Conditions.

The disturbance yesterday over the lakes developed eastward and is now over the lower St. Lawrence Valley, having caused only light, scattered showers in the lake region and portions of the Upper Ohio Valley. Pressure is high over the southeastern states, and relatively high over most of the Plains and Central valleys, although falling pressure or the uniformity of pressure distribution in the plains is causing unsettled weather, with light showers in the plains and Central Rocky Mountains. Another disturbance, as yet unaccompanied by precipitation, appears in the far Northwest. It is somewhat warmer in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Tennessee, Kentucky and North Carolina and slightly cooler in the lake region and the Upper Mississippi Valley.

River Conditions.

The rivers are stationary. Stage at Franklin is minus 0.1 foot; Lock No. 7, 4.6; Pittsburgh, 9.5; Dam No. 4, 9.1; Dam No. 6, 7.5; Dam No. 9, 8.1, and Dam No. 12, 4.0. The dams are up.

SLURS PARENTS, FINED $10

Informing Magistrate John J. O'Connor in Morals Court today that his parents were too old-fashioned for him to live at home, cost Willis Hattenfeller, 21, of 940 Ridge avenue, a truck driver, a $10 fine or 30 days in the workhouse.

Hattenfeller was arrested with four other youths last night during a free-for-all fight at the Langley High School athletic grounds. The magistrate discharged the other participants and was about to do the same for Hattenfeller, who replied he did not live at home and explained the reason. O'Connor warned the youth he would be sorry and pronounced sentence.

Those discharged were James Auth, 16, of 726 Lorenz avenue; Thomas Parks, 17, 2634 Glenmar avenue; Louis Wineshier, 24, 1411 Martin street, and Robert Kirkwood, 19, 724 Lorenz avenue.

No Sale When 'Collegians' Try Wiles on Prexy

EVANSTON, Ill., Aug. 29.—(AP.)—Three young magazine salesmen here picked a poor prospect, or had a poor sales talk.

The sales talk was that they were making their way through Northwestern University. The prospect was Dr. Walter Dill Scott, president of the university.

The youths, who later identified themselves as Sam and Herbert Krause, of New York, and Philip Land, of Los Angeles, explained that the money they made from magazine subscriptions all went into tuition fees and such at Northwestern. Dr. Scott replied:

"Well, isn't that fine. I happen to be president of that institution. I don't remember seeing any of you boys around. What's your college? What work are you majoring in? What—"

But all three had disappeared around the corner. Dr. Scott notified police and the youths were taken to the station. After a lecture on the ethics of sales representation the boys were released on their promise to leave Evanston.

POLICE HOLD 3 IN MYSTERY SHOOTING

Victim Taken From Taxi by Pair in Auto, Driver Jailed in Case Declares

With one man in the hospital suffering from bullet wounds and three others under arrest, police and detectives today were endeavoring to clear mystery surrounding the shooting, which occurred early today in Banksville road, West End. Charles Carson, 21, of 2759 Banksville road, was shot. Those under arrest are Victor Willitt, 23, of 413 South Dithridge street; Benjamin Warden, 27, of 242 North Dithridge street, and James Stone, 26, of 605 Merchant street.

Stone, a cab driver, told police they say that he picked up Carson at Wylie avenue and Fullerton street as a fare and was ordered to drive to Banksville road. Stone said he noticed another car following him.

FIRE WITHOUT WARNING

When he stopped to let Carson out, the other car drove alongside, Stone told police. Without warning, two men who leaped from the other car opened fire. Carson was wounded in the left shoulder and right hand.

When police arrived they found Stone by his cab. He told them the two men had picked up Carson and sped off with him. Later attaches at the Mercy Hospital reported to police that Willitt and Warden had brought Carson to the hospital for treatment. Stone, taken to the hospital, partially identified Carson as his passenger.

TELL DIFFERENT STORY

Willitt and Warden told police they were riding in their machine with Carson when a highwayman attempted to stage a holdup. He fired upon them, they said, wounding Carson. Police say Stone's hand was bruised as though he had struck someone, and that Willitt showed signs of having been struck in the face.

Carson's condition is not serious.

Mrs. Palsack shot her husband three times Wednesday morning in the probation office of Desertion and Non-support Court. He died yesterday in Allegheny General Hospital.

She is being held without bail, charged with murder. Miss McFedries is trying to secure permission for the widow to attend the funeral.

fused to enter the car, but it was believed the man might later have enticed her into the machine.

Blood stains were found today on the floor of a barn about a block and a half from the place where the child's body was discovered. It was declared possible she might have been killed in the barn.

Aid of authorities in other cities of Indiana and Illinois was requested in the search for the slayer. Word was received from Elkhart that a man giving the name of Frank B. Shuey, 34, of Greensburg, Pa., was being held for questioning. Police said he answered the meager description given by Marverine's companions of the man who tried to lure them into the machine.

Baling wire had been wound tightly about the girl's neck and there was a deep gash on the left side of the head.

RACE THRONGS WAIT FOR LINDY

CURTISS AIRPORT, Chicago, Aug. 29.—(INS.)—Hoping to get a glimpse of Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh before these two idols of all aviation enthusiasts took the air again for Detroit on their return to the East, thousands of persons clogged the motor highways and crowded the trains on the way to the airport for the seventh day of the National Air Races.

The crowds entertained a hope that the famous Trans-Atlantic flyer would give them an exhibition of his flying skill before his departure.

Both the Army and Navy have invited Lindbergh to fly with their squadrons, but this he has graciously declined to do, pleading fatigue and the call of business affairs in New York.

He and Anne Morrow Lindbergh where made the object of an almost overwhelming demonstration of welcome upon their arrival herelate yesterday. They reached the airport and were ushered from their plane into their box in the stands in time to witness some of the events on the late afternoon program.

Lindbergh was asked:

"How is Junior?"

He replied:

REVOLT GRIPS 4 AMERICAN REPUBLICS

Brazil, Argentina and Peru Torn by Political Strife; Cuba Also Feeling Unrest

Associated Press.

Military and political unrest showed its effects today in four American republics, Brazil, Argentina, Cuba and Peru.

Advices to the Associated Press from Montevideo said the Brazilian state of Rio Grande do Sul had been disturbed by a revolutionary movement, headed by Juan Francisco de Souza, and that all federal troops had been confined to barracks.

Havana reported the government in readiness to proclaim martial law in Maximo Gomez, Matanzas, where rioting over over political issues had not been quelled. The same dispatch said a score of politicians had been arrested at Cruces, Santa Clara, in a plot against the government.

Arrival of three destroyers at Buenos Aires today strengthened the hand of the government of Argentina, threatened by insurgents. President Hipolito Yrigoyen did not emerge from the heavy guard of troops yesterday thrown about the government house and his residence. Buenos Aires still was unable to explain the extreme measures and as a consequence there were many rumors regarding the seriousness of the situation.

Peru's revolution, which ousted President Leguia and installed Lieut. Col. Luis M. Sanches, Cerro, as military dictator today had completed its cycle, with Sanchez sworn in as president and Lieut. Col. Ortega as military governor of Lima, a year after the date on which they launched the revolt.

2 PORTER SEAT VOTES LIKELY

A special election, called by the Governor, must be held if the vacancy caused by the death of Congressman Stephen G. Porter is filled for the unexpired term, it has been learned.

Politicians believe Gov. John S. Fisher will fix the special election for November 4, in connection with the regular election, thus avoiding considerable expense.

Porter died shortly after the primary of last May 20, in which he had received the Republican nomination from the Thirty-fif Congressional District for the tenth consecutive term.

Under party rules, the Republican committee of the Congressional District is empowered to select the nominee to appear on ballots at the general election at a meeting called by the county chairman of the party.

That nomination, however, is for the term beginning next March 4, and as there will be a session of Congress from December until March, the special election to be called by the Governor is necessary to fill the unexpired term.

Among candidates for the vacancy are Edmond F. Erk, Porter's secretary for 20 years, and Attorney Charles G. Lane, Jr., son of one of County Commissioner Armstrong's most intimate friends.

As county chairman it devolves upon Armstrong to call the committee together to name a candidate to be elected as Porter's successor, but so far no date has been announced for the convention.

EDDIE SWALLOWS A PIN THIS TIME

EDWARD ALLEN RENQUEST, 5, IN CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL FOR FIFTH ANNUAL VISIT

A pin he swallowed has sent Edward, son of Mrs. Alice Renquest, 7215 Whipple street, Swissvale, to the hospital. He was there in 1926, 1927, 1928, 1929. There's always a bed waiting.

Pin in Throat, Eddie Makes Annual Trip to Hospital

Edward Allen Renquest, 5, son of Mrs. Alice Renquest, of 7215 Whipple street, Swissvale, was rushed to Children's Hospital today for his fifth annual visit to the institution. The occasion of Eddie's visit this time is a pin lodged in his throat.

Eddie's present sojourn at the hospital is just a couple of months behind the regular schedule.

The annual visits began in May, 1926, when he was admitted to the hospital on the belief that he had swallowed a pin. The pin was not found and Eddie was discharged.

A year and a month later found Eddie back again, this time with burns received when he spilled a cup of hot tea. The following year he returned to have his tonsils removed. In 1929 he was admitted for treatment for an abscessed ear.

This year May and June arrived according to schedule but Eddie did not return to the hospital. It began to look as if the annual visit would be omitted but Eddie, with a longing to return to his old stamping grounds, began to complain of pains in the laryngial region and physicians decided there was a pin in his throat.

So Eddie took up his residence again at the hospital. X-rays were being taken to locate the pin, and physicians expressed the hope of removing it soon.

While his condition is serious, it was said he has a good chance of recovery.

HOW 'RAIDER' WAS SHOT

HOW LAD, 16, WAS SHOT AT NIGHT ON NEIGHBOR'S PORCH

William J. Herlihy, Carrick, victim of petty thieves, heard noises near his back porch icebox and, in investigating in the dark, shot 16-year-old Joseph Phillips as a younger lad, 13, escaped.

tempts had been made to enter his home.

After the shot, Carrick police followed a trail of blood to the Phillips home, where the youth was found on a porch where he had been sleeping on warm nights.

In his statement to police, Herlihy said residents on the street had been bothered for the past year by a gang of youths who prowled around the district robbing iceboxes and stealing articles left on porches and lawns.

TELLS OF TRAP

He said:

"Last night I borrowed a gun from a neighbor, turned out the lights, and waited just inside the door. Through the glass door I could command a view of the porch, and shortly after midnight the youths crept stealthily to my back porch and tried to open the ice box.

"It was locked, and they then fumbled with the lock on the door of the house. I then opened the door suddenly and the smaller of the two boys vaulted the railing and disappeared. I struck the other boy, and when he refused to stop I fired. I knew I hit him. I am sorry about his age, but nevertheless, he was a burglar."

Mrs. Charles Price, mother of the Phillips boy said:

"I don't know why Joseph did that. He has been sleeping on the porch, and has evidently been traveling with a bad gang. He had no reason to steal food; so I suppose he did it for excitement."

P. O. BENT QUIZ NEXT MONTH

BOSCOBEL, Wis., Aug. 29.—(AP.)—Senator Blaine (Rep.), of Wisconsin, chairman of the committee investigating postoffice leases, said his group probably would hold its first meeting at "some place in the Northwest," between September 20 and October 1.

Circumstances in connection with the leasing of the St. Paul postoffice site have attracted much attention, but Blaine did not indicate whether or not that city would be the original meeting place for the investigators.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—(AP.)—Preliminary investigation of the government's annual rent bill for leased postoffice stations has disclosed that two professional bidders each held leases totaling about $1,000,000.

They are Jacob Kulp, head of Postoffice, Inc., with offices in Chicago, and Raymond Brown, of Indianapolis.

Coolidge Discourages Navy Strength Argument

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Aug. 29.

To the Editor of the Sun-Telegraph:

The allegations in the recent criticisms of one of the English naval reactionaries that the limitation treaty leaves their navy in a distinctly second place, after being compared with the similar statements by some of our own reactionaries regarding the resulting inferiority of our Navy, may well be eliminated from further consideration.

Calvin Coolidge

The chief motive for the treaty was to prevent competition in building, the secondary considerations were the savings of expense and the extension of the policy of parity to all ships. Because the needs of the British were felt to differ from the needs of the United States as to types of ships and caliber of guns, parity could only be approximate. Experts differ about it. But the main object of preventing present competition was fully secured.

Further discussion of parity is not only vain but is almost an exhibition of an unfriendly attitude. Representatives of three great and peaceful naval powers have reached a temporary agreement mutually advantageous. It will be best for all concerned to adopt it and abide by it. No good purpose will be served by constant discussion of the relative strength of the different navies involved.

Dry Law Futile Without States' Help, Youngquist Admits

PLEADS FOR AID UNDER LOCAL STATUTES

Pledges Corrupt or Unfit Agents Hereafter Will Get Short Shrift From Bureau

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—(AP.)—Stressing the vital need for state and local co-operation in prohibition enforcement, Assistant Attorney General Youngquist, in a radio address last night, said effective enforcement by federal forces, unaided, is an "utter impossibility."

The number of federal agents—estimated as one to every 70,000 persons—he described as pitifully inadequate for the task of drying up the country. Reiterating the appeal for state co-operation, frequently voiced of late by Attorney General Mitchell, Prohibition Director Woodcock and Chairman Wickersham, of the Hoover Law Enforcement Commission, Youngquist said the local authorities in many sections already are giving valuable help.

SEEN MORE EFFECTIVE

Enforcement, he asserted, is becoming more effective and will improve in the future. However, he emphasized, it is not a matter of enforcing the prohibition laws alone, since co-operation is needed for obtaining observance of all criminal statutes. He said:

"The associations and ramifications of the criminal element generally are such that prosecutions and convictions under the prohibition laws tend to prevent the commission and effect the punishment of other crimes as well."

Pointing out that every state but five has liquor laws of its own, and that many municipalities also have enforcement statutes, the Assistant Attorney General said local peace officers numbered 175,000, compared to the 1,750 federal agents—a much more adequate force for making the statues effective.

WANTS ONLY FIT MEN

Youngquist stressed the determination of the Justice Department to have only fit men engaged in the prohibition task, declaring:

"No mercy will be shown the corrupt or unfit agent. The job is more important than the man who happens to fill it."

Last night it was learned from Prohibition Director Woodcock that no reduction in expenditures can be expected in the enforcement bureau. Congress appropriated $15,000,000 for the present fiscal year, this to be divided with the Treasury's industrial alcohol bureau. Woodcock pointed out that the total overhead of the two was somewhat increased by the separation.

BEATING RIVAL BRINGS FINE

Objecting to a rival millinery salesman watching him trim a window, and emphasizing the objection with a blow to the jaw, cost Joseph A. Reck, 28, of 5551 Phillips avenue, a $10 fine in Central Police Court today.

Reck and Albert Zonis, 25, of 705 Chislett street, were arrested about midnight in front of a millinery store in Fifth avenue. Zonis testified he was connected with the milinery department of an-another store and enroute from a theater paused to watch Reck. The latter left the window and ordered Zonis to move on. Zonis' refusal caused the blow, it was testified.

CLOSE-UP OF TWO-MOTORED U. S. ARMY BOMBER HIGH OVER AIR RACES AT CHICAGO: DO YOU SEE THREE MEN?

'LAUGH, CLOWN,' CHANEY'S ADIEU

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 29.—(AP.) Rites as dramatic as any of his films marked the funeral of Lon Chaney yesterday. His wishes were carried out and gave the occasion a touch that carried the memories of his friends back to his weird portrayals.

As he died Tuesday, "the man with a thousand faces" had asked that his "set music" be played at the funeral—the strains used to inspire and aid him in carrying on while the camera registered his often painful poses.

As Lieut. Col. H. S. Dyar, Marine Corps chaplain, completed his simple eulogy and stepped back from the casket, the strains of "Laugh, Clown, Laugh," theme song from one of Chaney's most successful pictures, sounded through the little chapel of the Guardian Angel.

Mrs. Chaney fainted. The musicians, Sam and Jack Feinberg, using a violin and a portable organ, played with tears streaming down their faces.

Plans for a simple funeral went astray when 1,500 ardent admirers, eager for a last glimpse of their idol, milled about the entrance. Special police squads were necessary to open a way for the cortege.

THUG POINTS GUN AT CLERK

Manager Gives Chase After Robbers Dash to Car; Police Search District

Two young bandits, armed and using a fast automobile, today held up the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company store at 1274 Benton avenue. After threatening a girl clerk and the manager of the store, they escaped with $50 in cash taken from the till.

So hurried was the departure of the thieves that one of them leaped into the sedan through a window after the door of the vehicle stuck.

MANAGER GIVES CHASE

A speedy departure was necessary, for William Smithdale, manager of the store rushed from the back room, into which he had been forced, and gave chase to the bandits in his own car. He followed them to Shadeland avenue, where the robbers escaped in congested traffic.

Shortly before noon a man entered the store while Miss Anna Klein, 18, of 1010 Rice street, a clerk of the establishment, was alone. Smithdale was in the rear room.

The man drew a gun, threatened the girl and disappeared into the rear room where he cowed Smithdale. An instant later the second thief entered, armed only with a heavy wrench.

GIRL THREATENED

He held the tool above the girl' head and said:

"If you don't get in there with your boss I'll crush your skull with this wrench."

The girl went in the rear room

The man with the wrench then rifled the cash register, called to his companion, and fled.

North Side police under Lieut. Harry Moore searched the district for the pair.

While Newsboy Kramer, 150 Morewood avenue, was making collections, his parked car broke away on the Montefiore Hospital ramp, ran downhill, leaped this wall and embankment into the rear of 114 Chesterfield road. No one, of course, was hurt.

If Baby Must Go to Picnic, Take Him in Big Basket

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—(AP.)—Fewer crying babies on Labor Day picnics and week-end excursions was the aim of the United States Children's Bureau in issuing today special advice to mothers.

This counsel was:

Carry baby in a big market basket, where he can be cooler and more comfortable, instead of having him become hot and fretful in someone's arms. If autoing, carry him in a hammock.

Don't let strangers play with him.

Don't give him cakes, candies, bananas or sweet crackers to keep him quiet.

Be sure of his water and milk supply before you start. Special precautions should be taken at present because of the drought situation. It is best to carry a supply in vacuum bottles. Milk from a vacuum bottle should not be used after 24 hours.

If these suggestions are followed, child experts predicted, there will not only be happier picnics, but also less of an aftermath of ailments from improper food coupled with the fatigue and excitement of traveling.

AUBURN TRIO EXECUTED

OSSINING, N. Y., Aug. 29.—(AP.)—Guarded closely to frustrate any last minute attempt at violence, three convicts were electrocuted [illegible] for the slaying of a [illegible] during the Auburn prison riot of last December.

Claude Udwine, 29, William Force, 30, and Jesse Thomas, 30, were convicted of slaying Henry Sullivan, leader of the mutiny in which 10 lives were lost.

The arms of the three men were grasped tightly by guards during the march from their cells to the death chamber. Warden Lewis E. Lawes later explained that one of the men earlier in the day had tried to induce a woman relative to smuggle him a gun.

Thomas was the first to be executed and was followed quickly by Force and Udwine.

An attempt by Stella Udwine, sister of one of the men, to see Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt at a hotel where he was staying at Oswego, N. Y., failed when she was refused admittance.

BALLOON CREWS GIRD FOR RACE

CLEVELAND, Aug. 29.—(AP.)—If Uncle Sam's string of four consecutive victories in the international Gordon Bennett balloon race is stopped, Capt. Ernest DeMuyter of Belgium is looked upon as the most likely to do it.

DeMuyter, who arrived here yesterday to prepare for the start of the race Monday, as the climax of a two-day aerial carnival, is considerably more experienced in the lighter-than-air classic than any of his rivals. He has flown in every race since 1920, has won four times and is the holder of the original trophy. Only Ward T. Van Orman of Akron, O., who last year gave the United States its first leg on the third award, has won more than once.

The Belgian captain, however, is by no means certain of victory. DeMuyter, the German, French and three American crews planned to examine their instruments today, but may not uncrate their silken bags until shortly before the take-off. They are studying the atmospheric conditions expected to take them across Lake Erie and possibly to Labrador.

BOYS IN TREE 1,078 HOURS

Brushton's tree sitters, aspiring to championship honors in that line of accomplishment, today completed 1,078 hours in the air. The boys, Robert, James and Lawrence Gravely, and their cousin, Sam King, have been perched in the branches of two trees in the rear of 631 Sickles street since July 16, a total of 45 full days and nights.

Stricken Boy Scout Gets Hoover Flowers

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—(AP.)—Charles Johnson, 13-year-old Anderson, S. C., Boy Scout who was taken ill at the White House yesterday while waiting with 12 companions to see President Hoover, was the recipient of bouquet of flowers from the President today as he lay in Emergency Hospital.

Mr. Hoover did not learn of the lead's misfortune until today and he immediately arranged to send the flowers. The boy is said to be suffering from bronchial pneumonia.

Schumann-Heink Nears 'Happy Age'

COLORADO SPRINGS, (INS.)—Retirement is the last thought in the mind of Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, 69-year-old prima donna, who declared on her visit here that she is about to enter the "happy age" of her career.

With radio and talking pictures offering her a more effective means of reaching larger numbers of people than ever before, Mme. Schumann-Heink believes that retirement is out of the question—for the next decade at least.

Capone Ally Slain At Door of Home

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—(INS.)—John Kruspe, 38, said to be a henchman of Alphonse Capone, was shot and killed today by two gunmen at the front door of his home.

Kruspe dropped dead with five slugs in his body when he admitted his identity to the two callers. The gunmen then fled, according to Mrs. Sue Gardner, who witnessed the slaying.

Promoter Arrested Soliciting Money

Robert V. Huggins, promoter, arrested while soliciting funds for the National Endowment and Foundation Company, was held for court by Alderman Howard James on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. Huggins formerly operated in Ohio and Massachusetts as a promoter.

2 Rob Movie as Fans See Jail Riot Film

son to face his troubles, and it was not until then that he decided to wipe out his family. This is born out by letters written yesterday in which he instructed utility companies to discontinue gas, light, water and telephone service.

Neighbors attracted by the howling of the family dog and the drawn blinds found the bodies. L. R. Gorley, who lives across the street from the Fish home, notified W. A. Bode, a real estate agent, of 343 Castle Shannon road, and they investigated. They hurriedly reported their find to Police Chief C. W. Senn, of Mt. Lebanon, who, with W. J. Kane, superintendent of the borough force, and County Detective Michael Stabile went to the home.

SHOT WHILE ASLEEP

Mrs. Fish's body, a bullet wound in her head, was found in bed in the front room on the second floor. She was attired in night clothing. In another bedroom the pajama-clad body of the son was found. The boy had been shot in the neck and left arm.

The body of the husband and father lay in a hallway in front of the bathroom door with a .32-calibre automatic pistol at his side.

Mrs. Fish and her son had been shot while asleep, police believe. After the shooting, Fish, the authorities claim, pulled down all window blinds and took a walk through Mt. Lebanon. Bode, from whom Fish had bought his house which was mortgaged for $7,000, told police he saw the man walking about 10 a. m. yesterday, apparently worried.

NOTE FOR $1,000

Other evidence tending to show the tragedy was motivated by financial difficulties was revealed, detectives said, with the finding of a six months' promissory note for $1,000 dated May 1, 1929. The note was 10 months overdue. The man's balance in a downtown bank was $13. In his pockets was found $15.

Detectives were of the belief that the double murder occurred before 9 a. m., because of two watches found on Fish. His pocket watch had stopped at 9:15 and his wrist watch had stopped at 10:15 o'clock.

SEEK RELATIVES

Fish moved into the attractive home April 1 of last year. After losing his position, Fish decided to sell the house and the lack of a prospect was believed to have driven Fish to despondency. His son had graduated with honor last June from the Langley High School and this fall was to have enrolled at Carnegie Tech.

The slain woman, neighbors said, has a sister, Mrs. A. F. M. Thomas, living in Glen avenue, Ellwood City, and other relatives in Johnstown.

Fish was crippled some years ago by the loss of his left leg which was amputated below the knee. The bodies of the three were removed to the county morgue by Deputy Coroner Mullen Jackson who today was making efforts to communicate with the relatives.

and with what a similar situation in America would mean for America to realize fully what it means. For instance, for Germany to have a piece of Germany in the west ceded to Belgium and another piece to France and a piece of Germany in the east ceded to Lithuania and a lane cut across Germany in the east and ceded to Poland, we would have to explain to our people that that situation was very much as if Arizona and California (which formerly belonged to Mexico) were given back to Mexico and the state of Washington were given back to British Columbia and the state of Florida were given back to Spain and a lane were cut from the Great Lakes following the Erie Canal through New York State to the sea, and the lane which divided New England from the rest of the United States were given to Canada.

AUSTRIA'S PLIGHT

And now, in order to illustrate the situation in Austria so that the people in America shall be able to understand it, let us suppose that the entire west coast of the United States had been given to Mexico and the entire east coast of the United States had been given to Canada and the entire south coast of the United States had been given to Spain, so that there remained to the United States only the central part of the country without any seacoast of any kind whatsoever. That would be a duplicate of the existing Austrian situation. If such a thing had happened or should ever happen to us, our people can understand how dissatisfied, how indignant and how determined to rectify this injustice at some future time our people would be.

THE U. S. A. CAN UNDERSTAND

Therefore, if the people of the United States would look at Europe, as if it were their own country, or rather would look at their own country as if it were Europe, they can understand how unstable, how unsound, how unjust, how unpeaceful the present arrangement or rather misarrangement of Europe is. They would understand what a bad job for Europe and for themselves, too, the victorious nations accomplished at Versailles and what a betrayal of his own-declared policies President Wilson agreed to.

BRIAND'S PLAN COULD SUCCEED

Personally, I do not think there need be another war.

I believe that the moral sentiment, the intelligent opinion of the world, could easily proceed along Mr. Briand's plan of a United States of Europe and by rectifying injustices here and there, establish a United States of Europe which would persist, because it would be based upon mutual satisfaction and self-interest. A democratic United States of Europe is the peaceful and permanent solution of the European problem.

It is equally a mistake to divide Europe into little trivial states utterly independent of each other, or to bind states together with the shackles of militaristic empires.

Either situation makes for instability and insecurity.

THE UNITED STATES AS EXAMPLE

The United States of America has shown on what basis a union of states can be made patriotically permanent. The United States has also shown that such a union can not only benefit the union as a whole, but can equally benefit every individual state. But the basis for the loyalty of every state and the basis which make the union as a whole, peaceful and permanent, are equal rights, equal liberties and exact justice.

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST.

HOOVER SEEKS BANK HEAD

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—(Universal)—President Hoover was looking today for an able, seasoned banker, nationally distinguished in his field and willing to endure lots of criticism if need be, to serve as governor of the Federal Reserve Board.

For a man possessing all these qualities, and preferably a good many more, he is able to pay $12,000 a year.

The problem of finding a successor to Gov. Roy A. Young, who resigned Wednesday to become governor of the Boston Reserve Bank, will not be solved quickly nor easily, officials close to the president indicated today. Vice-chairman Edmund Platt, of New York, will serve as the board's active head meanwhile.

Mr. Hoover may draw an appointee from the Philadelphia, Cleveland, Richmond, St. Louis, Minneapolis, Kansas City or Dallas district.

FREE FAKE FILM $1-FEE AGENT

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 29.—(AP.)—Prof. Edward S. Bamford, whose fake "national motion picture and modeling employment agency" was broken up by police Monday, was placed on three years' probation by the court today after a hard-luck plea by Bamford and a checkup of his record had revealed no blemishes.

He said he was without funds, that he had a wife and two children in Kansas City and that his wife was ill.

Bamford, a former structor in Pennsylvania State College, was arrested Monday in a local hotel, where he examined more than 100 young women as "prospective motion picture actresses and artist's models."

He admitted today that he got a $1 fee from about 25 of the girls, posing as E. S. Burgess, "director of the agency."

ASKS FARM AID FOR ARGENTINA

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 29.—(AP)—A closer understanding between the agriculturalists of Argentina and the United States to co-ordinate the activities of the two great producers of foodstuffs was urged by Francis F. O'Grady at the banquet of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

O'Grady, president of the organization, attacked suggestions in America that an embargo be placed on the exportation of American farm machinery to Argentina.

He urged the United States import more Argentine meat, insuring the economic stability of the country's great cattle industry, declaring:

"If the cattlemen can't make a profit they must convert their lands to cereals, which would not suit the middlewestern farmer fearing world overproduction."

He asserted Argentina might be forced to produce 50,000,000 tons of wheat, corn and linseed instead of her present 15,000,000.

URGES 10-YEAR DRY LAW TRIAL

OBERLIN, O., Aug. 29.—(AP)—An honest enforcement trial of another 10 years for prohibition was advocated before the international convention of the Episcopal Brotherhood of St. Andrew by Col. Raymond Robins, veteran of the World War and now a leader in the world peace movement. He said:

"Until the present national administration no honest and conscientious effort was made to enforce the prohibition act. We are passing through a period of nullification by the public in general. It would be better to have the law repealed entirely than nullify it through disobedience. As long as prohibition remains on the statute books, it should be enforced.

"Because there has not yet been any honest effort for enforcement, I favor another 10-year trial. After that time the defects and merits of the law should be weighed carefully and if the facts indicate the defects greater, it should be repealed."

Claims Low Pay Drives Men From Schools

READING, Pa., Aug. 29.—(AP)—Keeping up with the Joneses is easier for the woman school teacher than for the teacher who is the head of a family and therefore American education is getting more women teachers, Dr. Q. A. Rohrbach of the University of Pittsburgh told the Berks County Teachers Institute.

He said:

"Already 70 per cent of the teachers of this country are women. These women, many of whom have no dependents, can afford luxuries unknown to the man who has a family to support. If things continue at the present rate men will have to seek employment with better pay and leave teaching to women altogether."

BRITISH ANGRY AT MASEFIELD

LONDON, Aug. 29.—(Universal)—John Masefield, recently created poet-laureate of Great Britain, evidently has offended the sensibilities of British literary men by having his first work in prose written since the honor came to him published in the Cosmopolitan Magazine of New York.

"The Wanderer," which is said to run about 40,000 words, will appear serially in both the Cosmopolitan and Nash's Magazine in London in the September numbers.

Critics of Masefield's decision to sell his first prose output after receiving his appointment as laureate to Nash's and Cosmopolitan charge that the arrangement was made through the Society of Authors, but in a statement to Universal Service, Lord Gorell, chairman of the society, denied that report.

DEPORTATION BAR DENIED

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—(AP)—A writ of habeas corpus obtained in an attempt to prevent the deportation of August Kosutich, Croatian engineer and former cabinet minister of Jugo-Slavia, was dismissed by Federal Judge Coleman. The government seeks to deport him as a quota immigrant without a proper passport.

Judge Coleman said he regretted the necessity of an adverse decision in view of Jugo-Slavia's protests. Kosutich's attorney said he would carry the case to the Federal Circuit Court of Appeals.

The attorney declared his client's father-in-law, Stephen Raditch, leader of the Croatian peasant's party, was slain in Kosutich's presence and that the latter left his homeland when he learned of a plot against his own life.

RADIO HEARING DATES FIXED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—(AP)—The Federal Radio Commission has set September 9 as the tentative date for hearing four new applicants for broadcasting stations and September 22 for the request of the Universal Broadcasting Company, Philadelphia, to increase its power from 10 to 50 kilowatts. It operates station WCAU.

The initial applicants who will be heard September 9, their location, frequency, time and power requests follow:

J. Milton Guyton, Uniontown, 1,190 kilocycles, on unlimited time, 250 watts; John Magaldi, Jr., Philadelphia, 1,310 kilocycles, daytime hours except Sunday, then from 6 p. m. to 1 a. m., 50 watts; Mount Pleasant Broadcasting Station, C. W. Lemmon, president, Mount Pleasant, 1,330 kilocycles, four hours daily, 20 watts; Burdette Hale, Irwin, 1,420 kilocycles, daytime hours, 50 watts.

GIRLS CONFESS TO 40 FIRES

PONTIAC, Mich., Aug. 29.—(AP)—Four girls, aged 6 to 15, confessed, according to state and county officials, that they started the nearly 40 fires which have impoverished their parents and puzzled investigators more than a month.

The first fire destroyed the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Crosier, near Battle Creek. The oldest daughter, Dorothy, told officers after long questioning that she started that fire in the hope of implicating a neighbor she disliked. Later she said she was aided by her sisters, Evelyn, 13; Helen, 11, and Frances, 6.

The other girls also confessed. All said their parents knew nothing of their activities.

After their home near Battle Creek burned the family moved to Athens, Mich. There a long series of small fires broke out.

Lost Pair Discovered In Plane on Lake

ATLIN, B. C., Aug. 29.—(AP)—A rescue plane has left here to bring back Capt. E. J. A. Burke and a passenger sighted on a lake about 125 miles northeast of Teslin, after disappearing on a flight more than a week ago. W. A. Joerss, pilot of the rescue ship, dropped food and cigarets to the stranded men, but was unable to land because his machine was too heavily loaded.

Change in Freight Rates on Fertilizer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Rates on carload shipments of fertilizer from Philadelphia to destinations in New York on the Long Island Railroad were found not unreasonable in the past by the Interstate Commerce Commission, which also held that they would be unreasonable for the future and prescribed reasonable rates.

Trophies Stolen At Country Club

EASTON, Pa., Aug. 29.—(AP)—A thief broke into the trophy room of the Northampton Country Club and stole all the loving cups and other emblems, many of which had been housed there for 30 years.

The cigar case was cleared of expensive brands, but the inexpensive ones were untouched. The cups to be awarded for this year's golf and tennis matches were among those stolen.

Oil Men Discuss Gulf-Paragon Deal

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 29.—(AP)—Officials of the Gulf Oil Corporation of Pittsburgh were in Toledo yesterday in connection with the corporation's merger with the Paragon Refining Company. Gulf officials in conference with Paragon men were G. R. Nutty, president; C. A. Hartman, vice-president, and W. J. Guthrie, secretary.

DRY CHIEF ASKS MORE CASH

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—(Universal.)—Though President Hoover has ordered departmental heads to slash expenditures, Col. Amos W. W. Woodcock, prohibition director, will ask for an increase in the appropriation for dry law enforcement, it was made known today.

The prohibition chief will shortly go into conference with the President's budget makers and will request more than the $9,000,000 allotted to the Department of Justice Bureau this year.

Congress appropriated $15,000,000 for dry law enforcement, this fund being divided between the alcohol division in the Treasury Department and the Justice Department, with the Treasury receiving $6,000,000.

Fully 500 additional prohibition agents are needed by the dry bureau, Colonel Woodcock said. This alone will require an additional $3,000,000, it is estimated.

DENIES MENACE IN YOUNG PLAN

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—(AP)—George P. Auld, former accountant general of the reparations commission, in a statement denied that the United States will be left "holding the bag" under the Young plan. The statement was issued through the National Foreign Trade Council.

Auld said the bank for international settlements involved in the Young plan had fulfilled the highest expectations of bankers. He said it had proved itself a workable substitute for the agent general of reparations and his nominal superior, the reparation commission at Paris.

He declared the annuities which Germany is now paying are well within her capacity to pay.

Americans, Mr. Auld said, are "investing to good advantage in gold securities such of surplus earnings as are not needed at home."

2,000-GALLON STILL SEIZED

BALTIMORE, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Federal prohibition agents in raiding what they termed the largest distilling plant uncovered in Baltimore since the passage of the prohibition law, were too slow to make any arrests.

The plant was on the third floor of a supposedly vacant building near the business district. The lower two floors were unoccupied, but on the third the agents found a 2,000-gallon still, forty 1,000 gallon mash vats, 3,000 pounds of rye meal, sugar, yeast and other liquor-making paraphernalia. Nearly 2,000 gallons of liquor also were seized.

The agents found the building completely wired for a burglar alarm system. They believe the alarm sounded while they were battering in the front door, and the operators of the plant fled.

BLAME HOOVER VISIT FOR RAID

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 29.—(AP.)—The International Red Aid Society issued a statement today charging that Tuesday's government raid on the Communist headquarters here and arrest of five radicals was part of a scheme to hush the voice of the proletariat so as not to embarrass President Hoover on his forthcoming visit to Mexico.

The society charges that the Mexican Government has sold out to Yankee imperialism, but adds that despite the terroristic methods applied against them, the voice of the proletariat will make itself heard the day Mr. Hoover arrives in Mexico.

The raiders seized literature attacking Mexican officials. The five then arrested are still held.

While no date has been set for Mr. Hoover's visit to Mexico, it is understood that it will take place within a few months.

New Offer Solution For Wailing Wall

JERUSALEM, Aug. 29.—(AP.)—A reliable source today said the government has submitted a proposal for voluntary solution of the wailing wall question. The proposal is said to acknowledge the Jewish right of access but prohibits a Jew service and Jewish praying at the wall. Jews also would be forbidden under the regulation from putting nails or written prayers and notices on the wall.

Arabs would be granted the right to erect buildings and make some changes after agreement with the government.

Home Again!

VACATION days are over. Dad is back on the job trying to catch up with his work. Mother is getting the house straightened around and getting the kiddies ready for school. After several weeks in the country, it seems hard for either of them to get quickly settled down to home and city life. What they forgot to do yesterday should be done today. Yet they still forget.

Before they went away, the evening newspaper was an essential and important part of their home life. Dad says, "I'll order the carrier to start delivery again right away," but he forgets it. Night comes and there is no newspaper at the door. Mother says, "I'll call the Sun-Telegraph tomorrow."

But she has to get knickers for the boys, dresses and stockings for the girls, and it slips her mind. And they both miss their newspaper again.

That's why the Sun-Telegraph prints this convenient order blank.

FILL in this blank at once, mail it today and the Sun-Telegraph will come regularly to you by carrier—rain or shine, hot or cold—no matter what the weather. The Sun-Telegraph carrier boy never misses. He's always on the job.

CARROLL SENT HIS MAN FOR FOOD ABOUT 4 A.M.
THE ARREST OF JACKSON

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

The body of a murdered man is found in a basket taken from a service truck of the Imperial Laundry. The driver has no conception how it got there. The only clue is a $20 gold piece found beside the body. A former janitor at the Deauville Court Apartment, Thomas Jackson, identifies the body in the basket as that of a tenant, Richard Wythe, a notorious gambler. The police learn of a high-stake poker game in which Wythe had been discovered to be a cheat. One of the players was Clayton Norris. Norris has just been arrested for the embezzlement of $50,000 from his employer. Wythe, Dale learns, was popular with women. He also had a reputation for dealing a crooked game. The reporter visits the scene of the game. He learns some facts about the men who had taken part in it.

Now Go On With the Story.

CHAPTER V.

Robin Dale made one more stop. It was at the Brighton Apartments, which backed upon the Deauville Court. Brighton Apartments faced on Fifty-fourth street and had its service entrance on the alley with the Deauville Court. He chatted for a while with the night-boy about the murder, the story having broken in the papers that afternoon. He led cautiously up to the single point on which he wanted assurance.

"By the way, Mr. Ernest Saunders—lives in this apartment, doesn't he?—Is Saunders married?"

"Sure, he's got a knockout of a wife, too."

"What floor are they on?"

"Ground floor, rear."

"This place," said Dale, gazing around appraisingly, "is built just like the Deauville, isn't it?"

"It's a twin—built by the same guy."

"Thanks, buddy, think I'll go home an' hit the hay."

But Robin Dale sat until the first gray tones of dawn streaked in through his library window before he thought of bed again.

The case of Dick Wythe had been pretty well rounded out, and yet there was one important link in the chain missing. The most important.

Where had Wythe gone when he left his apartment?

If he knew that he might come pretty near answering the riddle of Wythe's death.

Jackson—Norris—Saunders—Carroll—Murdoch . . . which? Some of them might be eliminated by Capt. Blake's questioning on the morrow. There was only one real perplexing point in the entire case. Dale pondered over this for a long time. The night boy had said Wythe talked to him at 5 o'clock. That fact knocked the foundation from under the entire structure of the crime as the reporter had built it up.

At 2, or thereabouts, Wythe left his apartment. And no one saw him return! There entered the important factor: Where did he go? Wherever it was, he probably left at approximately 3 o'clock. He returned as he had gone, by the alley entrance, probably had a key from Jackson. But he never got to his apartment. The crime probably was committed in the basement where his body was hidden until the following morning, when the laundry wagon offered the bizarre manner of disposing of the body and throwing the police off the track.

Simple, very simple . . . but if this was true, how was Wythe able to speak from his apartment at 5 o'clock?

Who had access to the basement? Any of those under suspicion. It was a simple matter to wait in the alley for Wythe, hit him over the head and then with the key from Wythe's own pocket, open the basement door.

Where had Wythe gone?

How did he happen to be in his apartment at 5 o'clock?

The answer to these two questions might bring the answer to the whole riddle.

It turned out that many days would pass before Dale found the satisfactory answer to them. And when he did learn the answers only one of them was as he had anticipated.

The next day Robin Dale waited until early afternoon before dropping in on Capt. Blake. The various suspects had been questioned. All had satisfactory explanations except Norris, who had previously admitted tramping the streets during the fateful night.

"Murdock went directly to Lindmann's and sat around there, drinking coffee with some of his crowd until 6:30 in the morning."

"That's number one."

"Saunders hated to admit it but he finally said, when he realized he had to make some explanation, that he found his wife waiting up for him and they got into a battle—a battle of words, he explained pointedly—that lasted most of the night."

"Number two alibied," commented Dale.

"Jackson said his daughter, who was ill, wakened him some time after 3 and after trying the remedies he had on hand, was finally obliged to go to a druggist at Eighty-sixth and Third avenue. He rang the night bell and woke the druggist. While he was waiting for his medicine Jackson said he noticed that it was just 5 o'clock."

"Alibi number three. What about Carroll?"

"All of them seemed to be doing something that night. He got up to his apartment and feeling hungry sent his man out for something to eat. The man got back about 4 and by the time he had finished it was 5. He took a cold bath and fussed around until his man almost fell asleep on his feet. He sent him off to bed at 6 and turned in himself and didn't wake until noon."

"Well, all of which is not going to make it any easier to find out who killed Dick Wythe and rolled him into the basket."

In fact, things came to a standstill for many days. It was close onto New Year's Eve before any important development took place. Then things started happening with startling swiftness, climaxing with the arrest of the culprit.

The first development was unexpected. Fortunately, Capt. Blake had kept shadows on all the suspects in the case. Two days before the New Year, Thomas Jackson was brought into police headquarters after having, that day, attempted to board a train for the West.

In order to protect his daughter, who was with him, she was escorted back to her home, but none of the details of the affair were given to her. At her father's request, it was merely explained to her that he was an important witness and was, therefore, not permitted to leave the city. Jackson, however, was brought to Capt. Blake's office to explain his action, being under arrest.

Prehistoric Bones Unearthed in Ohio

CLEVELAND, O.—(INS.)—Bones taken from an excavation for a bridge abutment near Waynesburg, Stark County, O., recently are believed by Dr. J. E. Hyde, professor of geology at Western Reserve University, here, to be the remains of a small mammoth, an animal which roamed Ohio 50,000 years ago.

While the bones of 50 or 60 mastodons have been found in Ohio, the Waynesburg discovery is regarded as the most important from a geological point of view, to be unearthed in the state.

POONA, India, Aug. 29.—(AP)—A prospect of eventual dominion status for India was held out today by Sir Frederick Sykes, governor of Bombay presidency, in addressing a group of landed at a durbar (official reception).

RARE VOLUMES THIEF'S CHOICE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Fifty rare volumes of German prose and poetry have been added to the library of the Capital's most discriminating thief.

The latest robbery was discovered yesterday. A search of other closed houses in the neighborhood disclosed numbers of books packed and ready to be taken away by the intellectual burglar.

MINERS GIVE UP IN AIR BOMBING

MURPHYSBORO, Ill., Aug. 29.—(AP)—Two Illinois miners have surrendered here to face Federal and state charges in connection with the airplane bombing of the Providence (Ky.) coal field August 11.

The miners, Ray Edmondson and Ed Hecklebeck, who had evaded officers for two weeks, walked into the office of State's Attorney Fletcher Lewis yesterday with bondsmen and surrendered. They were immediately identified by Paul Montgomery, confessed pilot of the bombing plane, as the two men who hired him to make the air raid.

Edmondson and Hecklebeck furnished $5,000 bonds on state charges of conspiracy to destroy property and were turned over to Federal authorities, who took them to Benton, Ill., to give bonds on similar charges.

Police Jail 14 Men In Box Car Raids

Charged with vagrancy, 14 men were taken from box cars along the Allegheny River last night and lodged in the North Side Station. Arraigned before Magistrate Ray E. Schneider this morning they were discharged and given until noon to leave Pittsburgh.

SPEED ANDREE SHIP'S RETURN

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 29.—(INS.)—Treacherous storms that sweep unexpectedly over the Arctic seas with disaster to shipping have impelled the Norway government to broadcast requests to the sealing vessel Bratvaag to hasten to port as soon as possible.

The Bratvaag at present is homeward bound with the three bodies of the Andree balloon expedition recovered 33 years after the venture brought death to its participants in the polar waste. An impatient world is anxiously awaiting disclosure of the contents of the diary in whose pages Andree related the adventures of himself and his companions after their departure from Spitzbergen.

Jealous Brother Kills Serenader

GUADALAJARA, Mexico, Aug. 29.—(AP.)—Believing that his brothers, Florentino and Luis Huerta, were serenading his sweetheart at 3 o'clock this morning, Enrique Martin Del Campo, a prominent businessman, shot and killed Florentino. Police said Florentino and Luis, who were troubadours, were employed by a group of youths to serenade their sweethearts. When attacked the brothers were entertaining a girl living in the apartment occupied by Enrique's sweetheart.

Daughter Is Healthy Now

"My thirteen-year-old daughter Maxine was troubled with backache and pain when she came into womanhood. I knew Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound would help her because I used to take it myself at her age. Now she does not have to stay home from school and her color is good, she eats well and does not complain of being tired. We are recommending the Vegetable Compound to other school girls who need it. 2 PLANES HOOK WINGS, 6 HURT

DES MOINES, Ia., Aug. 29.—(AP.)—Six persons were injured when two planes mixed wings during an exhibition at the Iowa State Fair.

Leo Allen, pilot of one of the planes, was one of the most seriously injured. Physicians said they believed he received a fractured skull.

Allen and C. V. Younglove were flying with a [illegible] calling themselves the "Sons of Guns." They have been giving daily exhibitions at the fair. They started to make a turn and in doing so mixed wings. Allen's plane fell near the aircraft tent but Younglove righted his, circling the field and then flying to the municipal airport to land.

Allen's plane struck the ground about 75 feet from the aircraft tent. It rolled over twice, spectators said, and then crashed through a tent.

MOTHER SEEKS RECOGNITION

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—(AP.)—A [illegible]-year-old woman has asked the law to force two matrons prominent in New York society to acknowledge her as their mother.

Mrs. Elizabeth Archibald secured an order from Supreme Court Justice Untermyer permitting her to serve summons and complaint by publication upon Mrs. Elizabeth Vanderhoef of the exclusive Sutton place district here and Mrs. Carolyn Harriss of La [illegible], France. She asks injunctions compelling them to change statements in their marriage licenses regarding their parentage.

Mrs. Archibald alleged her daughters in obtaining licenses to wed gave their father's name as James A. Archibald and their mother's maiden name variously as Elizabeth Case and Elizabeth Russell. She said her maiden name was Elizabeth Widden, that her husband's name was Everett A. Archibald. She further alleged Mrs. Vanderhoef falsely published in a periodical that Mrs. Archibald was her stepmother.

GAMBLING RAID MADE ON FAIR

CUMBERLAND, Md., Aug. 29.—(AP.)—When representatives of the sheriff's office descended on the midway at the Cumberland Fair to break up alleged gambling, several concessions were closed and one man was arrested.

The raids were prompted by complaint of one man that he had lost $320 at a "Creeper" game and reports of gambling at others of the stalls placed in the center of entertainment of the annual fair.

Governor's Day, when Gov. Ritchie was the guest of honor at the fair, drew an attendance of 20,000, officials of the exhibition said. The attendance Tuesday was 10,000 and Monday 6,000.

CITY'S 200TH YEAR FETED

STROUDSBURG, Pa., Aug. 29.—(AP.)—This section held its two hundredth birthday parade last night. After a day of family reunions and the industrial exposition of "Made-in-Monroe" products, thousands of visitors lined the streets and witnessed the march of floats and bands.

The parade was the main feature of the day at the celebration dealing with events of the two centuries since Peter Labar built the first house here in 1730.

Gen. John T. Meyers, assistant commandant of the United States Marine corps, was judge of the parade events. Following the parade the second presentation of the historical pageant at the former fair grounds was given.

DEBATE PRISON SOLITUDE

PRAGUE, Czecho-Slovakia, Aug. 29.—(AP.)—A heated debate on the question of solitary or mass confinement for prisoners broke out at the International Congress of Criminologists, following an address by Dr. Alice Masaryk, daughter of President Masaryk.

Sanford Bates, Massachusetts commissioner of correction, voiced the view that an abnormal character did not benefit unless confined with more normal beings both day and night.

During the protracted debate Belgium and France sided against America, England and Germany.

Alumni of Academy Elect at Reunion

NEW BRIGHTON, Aug. 29.—At the sixteenth annual reunion of the Perisol Academy Alumni Association here, James Hogan, Beaver, was elected president. Other officers elected are:

Vice presidents, Hervey J. Taylor, Monaca; E. M. Standley, Beaver, and William B. Brown, Rochester; secretary, Mrs. Perisol Neely, Beaver; treasurer, Miss Mayme Dawson, Beaver.

Former Klan Chief Judicial Candidate

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 29.—Clyde W. Osborne, attorney, has filed petitions as a candidate for the Common Pleas judgeship to be filled November 4. Osborne is former head of the Ku Klux Klan in Ohio. He was at one time law director of Youngstown. Seven others seek the judgeship newly created for Mahoning County.

"THINK KONJOLA WONDERFUL" SAYS PITTSBURGH MAN

Stomach Ailment and Run Down Condition Soon Banished By New Medicine.

Medicines, like men, are known by what they have actually done, not by the claims and promises that are made for them. The record of Konjola has made this master-compound America's most talked-of medicine. The Konjola Man at the Dow drug store, Penn avenue and Sixth street, Pittsburgh, is prepared to tell you all about this master-medicine. Now read the interesting statement of Mr. Charles M. Martz, 101 East Montgomery Avenue, Pittsburgh:

MR. CHARLES M. MARTZ

"For six months I was in a badly run down condition and suffered from stomach trouble. I had tried different kinds of medicine and did not seem to get any better. Through friends I heard of the results people were getting from Konjola. Up to this time I have taken four bottles of this medicine. Before I finished the third bottle I could see that I was getting results. I sleep and eat better and I seem to have a great deal more "pep." The reason I am endorsing this medicine is because it has done exactly what the Konjola Man said it would. I really think it is a wonderful medicine."

Konjola is free from alcohol, nerve-deadening drugs or heart depressing chemicals. It is all pure medicine and every drop works. Even infants can take Konjola.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow drug store, Penn avenue and Sixth street, Pittsburgh, where he is meeting the public daily. Konjola is sold also at all Dow drug stores in Pittsburgh and vicinity.

FREE SAMPLES GIVEN BY THE KONJOLA MAN.

Padlocked Cafe To Re-Open Monday

The Lido Restaurant, 546 Sixth avenue, padlocked about two months ago after being raided by prohibition agents, will reopen Labor Day. The padlock order issued by Federal Court was modified to permit the use of the premises as a restaurant.

Mexico to Reduce Army for Economy

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Eight infantry and eight cavalry regiments numbering about 5,000 soldiers will be disbanded under the War Department's program of economy for next year.

The department's budget is being cut by about $7,500,000.

CHARGES $1,724 BRIBE TO DRY

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 29.—(AP)—Testifying at the trial of five former federal officers on liquor conspiracy charges, Jack McBride said he paid $1,724 in protection money to William M. Whitney, at one time assistant prohibition administrator.

McBride's testimony was the first intimation that the government would attempt to prove Whitney accepted bribes prior to the time Al Hubbard, former rum runner and dry agent, testified he became the "go between" in a huge conspiracy.

Two convicted members of a rum ring headed by Roy Olmstead, now under prison sentence, added more testimony to the government case. Ed Engdahl testified that following a raid on Olmstead's home Whitney came to him with a tentative offer of protection.

McBride said he had no contact with Roy C. Lyle, former administrator; Earl Corwin, former field agent; R. L. Fryant, former agent, and C. T. McKinney, former assistant United States attorney, the other defendants in the action.

HURLEY STARTS RIVER STUDY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—(AP)—With two Army planes pressed into service to expedite traveling time between the capital and the Mississippi Valley, Secretary of War Hurley today launched his study of Mississippi River projects, including inland waterways, rivers and harbors enterprises and flood control works.

During the next three weeks, the secretary will traverse a 3,000-mile route which will take him from Washington to Minneapolis by airplane and thence down the Mississippi River by airplane and boat and return to Washington in time to keep an engagement in the capital September 19.

The party will include Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown, chief of Army engineers, and Thomas Q. Ashburn, chairman of the Board of the Inland Waterways Corporation.

To begin immediately his study of the projects along the river, the secretary had with him a large number of maps and mass of data on possibilities of relieving unemployment in such places as projects can be speeded up.

Ship Line to Run Despite Receiver

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—(AP)—Agents for Lamport and Holt, shipowners, announced the receivership granted in London in the line's affairs would not affect the continuance of the service generally. Advices from the company's offices in England said the cargo steamers from New York to Brazil and Argentina would be dispatched as scheduled.

CLAIM HOOVER PLEDGES KEPT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29—(AP)—The Republican National Committee in a statement today said few administrations in recent times have had such a record of promises kept as has that of Herbert Hoover.

In support of the assertion the committee issued a lengthy summary of administration accomplishments as compared to the Kansas City platform. The platform planks were given in one column and in a parallel column the committee's view of what had been done was carried.

Recalling the President's statement: "Platform promises must not be empty gestures," the compilation said a reduction of income taxes of $160,000,000 for 1930 at Mr. Hoover's recommendation was evidence that the party pledge to reduce the "tax burden" wherever possible was being carried out. Almost every plank in the platform was dealt with in similar fashion.

SAILORS ADMIT STORY HOAX

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 29—(AP)—Three castaways who told a tale of rowing 16 hours to save their mates on the disabled schooner Francis T. admitted their story was all wrong, coast guard officials said.

Capt. Christopher Bentham said the men finally admitted the schooner was not in trouble but they had been sent ashore to get spare parts for the motor. When they were asked to direct the search for the vessel, long suspected of being a rum-runner, they refused, Bentham said, and told the truth.

The three sailors were turned over to United States Immigration Inspector John Wagner for deportation to Nova Scotia.

95 MD. LEGION MEN HONORED

BALTIMORE, Aug. 29—(AP)—Ninety-five members of the Maryland department of the American Legion were decorated by the French government for their part in the defense of Verrun as the twelfth convention of the department opened here.

The decorations were pinned to the veterans by John Phelps, French consul in Baltimore, to start the celebration which marked the opening of the state meeting.

Several hundred of the 2,500 delegates and their friends here for the three-day session attended the ceremony, and heard addresses by Gov. Ritchie, Mayor William F. Broening, Harlan Johnson, state commander of the legion, and others.

"UNDERNEATH THE STARS" AND NEW RKO SERIES ON LOCAL RADIO TONIGHT

The Loudspeaker

German Jazz Opera
Byrd's Endurance
Bedtime Stories
Our Musical Life

By LOUIS REID

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—The influence of the radio announcer has spread to the White House. President Hoover begins his [illegible] messages with "My countrymen and women of the radio audience."

Louis Reid

The [illegible] all [illegible] penetrated [illegible] parts of the land more than 40 times [illegible] Coolidge [illegible] a one-way ticket to Northampton. Its happiest expression [illegible] memory is as good as we think it is was upon the occasion of the Edison celebration at Dearborn, Mich., last fall. Ordinarily Hoover is one of the most serious and solemn of speakers.

Excerpts from the German jazz opera "Jonny Spielt Auf" continue to tumble out of loud-speakers, reminding us anew that it is about time those who would uphold America's jazz leadership got busy. Why must we look to Germany for jazz opera? Where are the Gershwins, the Handys and the Donaldsons? For that matter, where are Deems Taylor and John Alden Carpenter?

Gershwin, it seems to me, is the best equipped of all American composers to write an American jazz opera. He works incessantly in the medium. He deals in tonal complexities. He goes in for strange and exotic effects without the sacrifice of melody, as he has demonstrated in "A Rhapsody in Blue."

Maybe the Jazz Opera Will Come From Harlem

The foundation of jazz music lies in the melodies of the Negro and it would not surprise me were the more imaginative tunesmiths of Harlem to put aside their blues, their "wild-about-Harrys," their tributes to "baby" and concentrate on a modern musical conception of New York, something that might keep the box office men at the Metropolitan busier than they have been with any other American work.

Meanwhile, the old fashioned operas continue regularly to agitate the air—all save "Cavalleria Rusticana." This strangely is seldom heard on the microphones though there has been room three and four times a week for "Aida."

If the broadcasters live up to their usual custom it will be a fair and warbling fall and winter on the high C's. Before the drug store windows display sun-tan preparations next May the listeners will have heard enough arias to last an armchair-dealer's lifetime.

We are still waiting for Admiral Byrd's memoirs, particularly that section of them in which he will set down, we hope, what he thinks of those programs flashed incessantly to him during his stay in Antarctica.

Byrd Holds Radio Endurance Record

When it comes to endurance records give a thought to Byrd. He has endured more congratulations that a presidential victor, he has heard more praise than is customarily heaped upon all the first rate plays of a Broadway season, his ears have dripped with waves upon waves of jazz and ballads of the "Dear Old Pal" variety. He has even been subjected to artificial lightning from Schenectady and artificial thunder from Washington.

No task since broadcaster began has taxed the ingenuity of the radio men as much as that of providing programs for Byrd. Once an imaginative triumphal tour up Broadway was sent to him. He must have ideas on this vast microphone activity. Perhaps, it was to escape it that he returned as early as he did to civilization.

Musicians in radio orchestras receive on the average $18 a broadcast. . . . Radio has come to the aid of police departments in most of the big cities. . . . Sopranos with a sentimental leaning never tire of singing Dvorak's "Songs My Mother Taught Me." . . . The meteoric rise of Graham McNamee is traced to his description of the Greb-Wilson middleweight championship bout seven years ago. . . . No Hawaiian program is complete without "On the Beach of Waikiki." . . . Songs once heard around the old parlor stove are receiving consideration from the broadcasters.

An idea of the colossal state of the bedtime story industry on the air can be obtained from the figures of the radio rajahs. According to them the tales broadcast each night to children save the parents of America 300 years every day. Were it not for the radio, they say, 6,000,000 parents would be forced to amuse their children for half hour periods each evening. Thanks to the broadcasts, nearly 3,000,000 hours each day are saved the parents.

Two badly worn books comprise the library in the announcers' coop at the headquarters of the National Broadcasting Company. One is "18,000 Words Frequently Mispronounced" and the other is a book on opera.

A volume on the lives of famous composers has been tossed on the ash heap, indicating that the noun-and-adjective men are finally familiar with the names of Saint-Saens, Smetena, Scriabin and Moussorgsky.

Our Musical Life Revolutionized

Walter Damrosch, who will soon bring back his paternal patter to the microphones, is convinced that in two more years radio will revolutionize the musical life of America.

He is speaking, of course, of the classics. America's musical life, so far as jazz is concerned, was long ago revolutionized.

And if your pride is particularly noise you can actually say—and mean it—that the American jazz revolution has swept around the world.

We Now Present

By DARRELL V. MARTIN,
Radio Editor.

"Underneath the Stars," a new program on WCAE at 10 o'clock tonight, sounds very romantic. Rosalie Wolfe, soprano, who sang the "Indian Love Call" with much grace early this week, is to be teamed with a male octet.

The new RKO series gets under way over WCAE at 10:30 p. m. with a salute to Amos 'n' Andy.

"Merry Widow" selections are to be sung at 9:30 on KDKA by the Armour chorus. The ensemble is billed to do "Jericho."

The Thrasher-Myer Detective Agency at KDKA reports that they have located Elsie Lichtenstuhl in New York, that she has gained 20 pounds from eating salt water taffy. She will return to the air the morning after Labor Day.

Bearing in mind the daring daylight robbery some months ago when a $2,500 grand piano was whisked from Studio B, Myers and Thrasher have hit upon the novel idea of removing the "E" and "F" strings of all the studio consoles when they are not in use.

If someone steals a piano our two clever sleuths will be able to trace it by the missing notes, they point out.

If you hear any strange hurdy-gurdies in the neighborhood call ATlantic 4854 at once.

QUESTION A DAY:

Horatio Williams, Akron, O.—What is the distance of the new KDKA transmitter from Pittsburgh?

A.—Thirty-one miles by auto; 28 miles airline.

Those three Buck Sisters on KQV at 9:40 tonight are headed for the stage.

Helen, the eldest, teaches the others how to play and sing. She's only 20. Their widowed mother is the critic. She tunes in every time they're on the air and gives pointers when the girls return home.

* * *

These girls are not crazy about movie stars like many girls at their age but Helen does have the room of her North Side home decorated with autographed photographs of Richard Dix, Mary Pickford and other stars she met a few years ago in a trip to the coast.

TODAY'S TID BIT:

H. M. Addison, manager of the downtown theatrical house that features Wild Oscar and his "School of Broadcasting," formerly owned Station WBEN at Buffalo.

You won't ride very far on JUST PRICE!

It's a bargain in PRICE AND VALUE that you're looking for . . . and that's exactly what you get in GOODRICH CAVALIERS!

ANYONE can make a cheap tire. Goodrich, with all its facilities, could make them at lower costs than most manufacturers, if desirable.

But price doesn't make a tire. Cheapness won't repair a blow-out, mend a road delay, or keep a tire away from the scrap heap.

The value has to be there... the stamina, sturdiness, ability to take punishment.

That's why Goodrich Cavaliers are the biggest bargains offered in tires today. They're low in price. Mighty low. As low as you can go with any assurance of real performance—and peace of mind.

In fact, price is no longer a problem. You cannot see the quality but you can see the name Goodrich.

And that's your assurance of value, the proof of money well spent!

Cavaliers are made by Goodrich. They must perform. Must come up to Goodrich reputation. Must give value... lots of it... a hundred cents, or more, for every dollar.

And they do. Because they're big. Husky. Tough clear through. Made oversize and cured by that exclusive Goodrich process . . . water curing. Built to give wear—to stand up!

See Cavaliers for yourself. Your Goodrich dealer will be glad to show you how they are made. He will prove their outstanding value.

Then ask the price. That's the clinching argument for Cavalier . . . not the one and only talking point.

Buy price and value!

BRIDGE OPENING AWAITS KLINE RETURN

Finished Bridge to Remain Closed 'Til Mayor Comes Home

SIDEWALKS of PITTSBURGH

by WILLIAM PFARR

The verbatim, if rambling, report of one of Sidewalks' better spies:

Swimming's popularity is shown by the steady increase in concrete swimming holes. City boys, however, have no idea of the importance of the "ole swimmin' hole" in the lives of the younger country bumpkins.

Get two old-time country boys together and hear them talk of the fun they had.

The fellow who took the first swim of the year was always a hero. This developed quite a few prevaricators, too. A great many claimed the distinction, to be hooted at or asked for proof.

In mid-season a gang would always race to the hole to be first in—that was a distinction. They raced, undressing as they ran. At the water's edge the last particle of a none too elaborate wardrobe dropped off and the cry "First in" smote the summer air.

There was always a boy who had to get home early, but he never got home on time because the other boys would wait until he stepped out of the water and then plaster him, with fiendishly accurate aim, with mud. Back he would go to get washed. Many a try he made.

I don't suppose there is a more consistent dancer in the city than Walter Faulkner, a South Side mill man. He has seen then come and go over 30 years at least. Any Saturday night you will see him at Palm Garden, tripping the well-known light fantastic. Close to 50, a bachelor, he goes to a dance winter and summer at least once a week and not infrequently twice a week. Girls and boys he mingled with on the floor many years ago have sons and daughters now attending the dances, but Walter keeps on. Grizzled married men who went through the dance stage while courting their future wives think it quite a nuisance now, unless enlivened with three or four highballs, but Walter still finds it appealing.

WHAT ABOUT TH' DANCE TO-NIGHT ?

Once upon a time the late Henry Miller, a great actor, interrupted a performance of "The Great Divide" to lambast, from the Nixon stage, the late Charles M. Bregg, whose review had enraged the actor. But while Mr. Miller was roasting Mr. Bregg a stagehand was signaling him frantically from the wings to stop, because smoke was issuing into the theater from a fire in the Nixon restaurant. The papers made much of Mr. Miller's impromptu performance, and there seemed to be genuine bad feeling between critic and actor. . . . The next time Mr. Miller came to town, he invited Mr. Bregg to a breakfast at which, instead of coffee, they drank champagne.

The funny part about the whole thing is, the ones that are running it don't want their names mentioned, not this year, anyway. They are liable to sue Gerard for slander. Yours,

MOSES WILL STAY, EVEN IF COPY

County Architect Declares Design Duly Approved, So Nothing Can Be Done

Moses and the Ten Commandments in the new County Building may be similar to Moses and the Ten Commandments on many other public buildings, but the carving in the new county office building will stay.

So R. S. Conwell, assistant in charge of design in the architect's office of Allegheny County, said. He declared:

"We received the drawings from Maxfield Keck, the sculptor and we passed them. At the time, we didn't know the Moses piece was similar to the one in the Albany state house, but all those symbols of the law in which Moses is used are somewhat alike.

"Mr. Roush (Stanley S. Roush, county architect) is out of town, but I'm sure there's nothing to be done about the carving. It is in the building, and I doubt if it will be changed."

Asked who gave the order for the medallions, Conwell said the general contractor buys them. He added:

"I don't suppose he let bids. Most contractors don't on the small stuff. Cecil & Company did the building."

The marked similarity between the sculpture on the Albany state building, designed by Maxfield Keck, New York sculptor, and the ones in the new county building, also done by Keck, was made public by Commissioner Charles C. McGovern. He said he would ask for an investigation at the next meeting to find out why the designs here are not original and why open bids were not taken on the work.

With few details excepted, the models are much alike, only the county building's carving shows Moses with his legs tucked under more.

SEEKS $20,000 AFTER SUICIDE

Her husband committed suicide as a result of injuries received when struck by a bus of the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company, it is alleged in a suit for $20,000 damages filed against the company by Mrs. Antonietta Bucci, of Oakland avenue.

It is alleged that Bucci, a street cleaner, working for the city of Pittsburgh, April 30, was struck by a car of the defendant company while at his work at Forbes street and Oakland avenue. As a result of the accident, it is alleged, he was subject to fits and during one of these, May 30, ended his life. The widow is represented by Attorney M. Stancati.

MAIL CLERKS WIN FIGHT

Return of the rotating shift system for postoffice clerks in the dispatching and distributing divisions has been tentatively set for September 8, under orders from the Post Office Department a Washington.

The change resulted from protests filed by the local chapter of the National Federation of Post Office Clerks. Under the order issued by Assistant Postmaster General Arch Coleman, the clerks will rotate weekly on three eight-hour shifts. This system was used until February 1, when a group of inspectors sent here recommended that the clerks be placed on permanent shifts.

John P. Holleran, chairman of the special committee, and Joseph Goldman, president of the clerks' association, carried the fight to Washington.

Court Frowns on Shovel For Wife Beating

Magistrate E. M. Trich, of McKeesport, believes a husband makes a bad impression when he hits his wife with a shovel. He voiced his opinion yesterday when he fined Michael Goscinski, of 903 Ridge avenue, McKeesport, $50 and costs when Michael was arraigned in police court on a charge of beating his wife with the workman's implement.

Patrolman J. C. Rosepiler testified he rushed to the Goscinski residence late Wednesday night and arrested the husband when he found Mrs. Goscinski had been struck with a shovel. According to testimony, Michael admitted wielding a shovel but said that it was a little shovel. Police said it weighed 12 pounds.

Cathie Discovers Rival in Engineer's Secretary

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Catherine Paige, elder daughter in a fatherless home, secures her first position in the office of Alfred A. Farnsworth, successful engineer. In the office she meets Gordon Moore, and is instantly attracted to him, and he to her. He easily persuades her to spend the rest of the day "celebrating" her securing a position with Farnsworth, and his securing a contract for an important engineering project. At the end of an innocent and delightful day of lunching and sightseeing with him, Cathie finds herself deposited at her door and nonchalently bidden goodby. She manages to seem as nonchalent as Moore, and only when she is safely inside the house and inside her own room does she cry over her shattered romance. When Frank Prout, known to the family as her "boy friend" telephones asking to see her she says no. In the office several days later she learns from a gossipy office boy that Farnsworth's attractive secretary, Marsha Darrow, is not only "setting her cap" for him, but carrying on a flirtation with Moore.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER V.

''Don't let those men make any advances,'' Cathie's mother warned her, getting her off on time to work every morning, reminding her to take a clean handkerchief, and to buy something sensible for lunch. ''Not just an ice cream soda and a hunk of French pastry, do you hear me, Cathie?''

Cathie heard. Heard with the half conscious hearing that comes of listening to the same old thing over and over. Sometimes she laughed to herself, not very happily, thinking of all the worry the family went to for nothing.

Mr. Farnsworth was friendly enough, but he said very little, and even when he praised her work, or made a little joke, it was from a great distance. He was Alfred A. Farnsworth, and he didn't want anyone to forget it. The engineers who drifted in and out of the office looked at her sometimes, but no one introduced them, and the other girls and Miss Darrow laughed and chatted with them, and left her out.

The other girls had such nice clothes. Especially Miss Darrow. Miss Darrow wasn't really pretty, but she was certainly stylish. Sometimes she was a vision in grass green, with woven green sandals that exactly matched. Some days she was in pale yellow with a blazer sweater of orange and maize. "Mr. Browning would never tolerate such clothes on a girl working in HIS office," Ruth said severely, when Cathie rather wistfully described the fetching costumes.

Expenses
Jean and Eddie Are Problems at Home

Cathie blushed. She didn't want Ruth to know that she would have liked such things for herself. Cathie's working hadn't helped home finances very much, though she turned over all but a few dollars to Ma. Half unconsciously Ruth had relaxed, had given up some of the fierce economy that she had practiced for so long. And of course Cathie had insisted upon Ma stopping work. The apron and soft shoes never went out in the brown paper parcel any more.

There was Jean, too. Jean, the baby, turning into a young lady, growing into beauty with astounding rushes. She was such a sweet child, so warm and affectionate and loving, and oh dear, so expensive!

Schools had gymnasiums and special courses now. That meant special clothes. "It's a good thing they didn't have such nonsense when you girls were young," Mary Paige told Ruth and Cathie. But she was secretly pleased with it all, and so were they, though sometimes the price of a tennis racket or new gymnasium shoes meant putting off the grocer or letting the gas bill run.

Eddie Gets Job
Work Takes Him to South America

Eddie was a problem, too. So tall and blonde and handsome, so like his dead father that his mother's heart ached every time she looked at him, and she said to the girls, "Leave him alone. He's young yet. Before you know it he'll be working and

AN IDEA OF HOW HIGH OVER EAST STREET SPAN PASSES

PASTORS HELP SAFETY PLAN

September 28 will be "Safety Sunday" in Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania, the day before the Nineteenth Annual Safety Congress convenes here.

More than 800 ministers throughout the district are being asked to devote their sermons on that day to safety. Radio also will be used for the message of safety.

The "Safety Sunday" feature is only one part of a program preceding the Safety Congress which the speakers' bureau committee, under the direction of Grafton Duvall, has planned. More than 25 talks already have been given before clubs and at rallies of department stores, various industrial groups, bus lines and social service centers.

Several thousand school children will gather at Scottdale September 15 with the Rotary club to hear a talk about the Safety Congress. One city fireman and one city policeman have given a total of 114 safety talks before 30,000 children in the playgrounds during the summer.

SET VOTE DATE ON ANNEXATION

Judge H. H. Rowand in Quarter Sessions Court yesterday, set November 4 as the date of a special election petitioned by residents of the Elwyn district of Baldwin Township to determine if they want annexation to the city of Pittsburgh.

As the record was found to be regular and no exceptions having been filed at the hearing held yesterday in the annexation proceedings, the court fixed the date of the election.

Freight Official To Retire Monday

M. S. Connelly, assistant freight traffic manager of the Pennsylvania Railroad in the Pittsburgh district since 1917, will retire from active service next Monday. He entered the employ of the company in Louisville in 1878. He was made general western freight agent in Chicago in 1904, and general freight agent in Pittsburgh in 1908. In 1925 he was transferred to Chicago, but was brought back to Pittsburgh a short time later.

Escapes on Three Wheels After Auto Crash

Most motorists need four wheels to make their automobile run, but the one whose machine struck another car driven, police say, by Arthur H. Masters, Jr., of 216 Hastings street, needed only three to make his getaway.

In the crash which occurred at Bower Hill and Washington roads, Mt. Lebanon, last night, the man's auto lost one of its wheels. While Masters ran for police aid, the driver of the "crippled" machine drove away. Police are seeking him.

EAST STREET SPAN READY BUT IDLE

Business Men Accept Plan For Fete in September; Residents Not Impatient

Pittsburgh's pioneering mayor, exploring Europe's great cities, is being paid a silent tribute by his public works department.

The East street bridge, million-dollar span linking Perrysville avenue at Charles street with "the great unknown" of Reserve Township, today is closed, awaiting his return.

The span, completed except for some tablets on which will be recorded who built it and what it is called, was turned over to the city yesterday, newly painted.

BUSINESS MEN AGREE

But North Side business associations, who plan a big celebration, have agreed to an indirect request by Director of Public Works Edward Lang that the thoroughfare remain closed until the itinerant Mayor Kline returns to open it. Organization members certified that it was Lang's "unexpressed wish."

Meanwhile—until September 16 or 18—a perfectly good or at least a perfectly new bridge remains closed to motorists.

Strangely, the residents of the neighborhoods on both sides mind but little that the opening date has been postponed.

The bridge on the Reserve Township side of the ravine ends in a hump of clay road, with a few scattered houses set in thickly clad forests—the primitive mud paths are popular as lovers' lanes. Facing Essen street which is the bridge's eastern approach, are a half dozen houses in the Twenty-sixth Ward. The remainder is Reserve Township—40 acres of which nearby is Senator Morris Einstein's, the neighbors say.

SOUGHT FOR 21 YEARS

"What's a month more?" asked Fred Pfeiffer, of Essen street. "We've been working 21 years to get the bridge. Then the bids haven't been let yet for paving the street."

"But how is Essen street to go anywhere, being only a block long?" another was asked.

"I understand the county is going to cut a boulevard over there by Einstein's property to connect the Babcock boulevard and other highways. That will make a great opening from the North Side. Anyhow, it suits me. My car's not running."

NOT GOING ANYWHERE

Another resident, M. R. Sterfvater, explained his position.

"A month doesn't matter. No one around here's going anywere, anyhow."

Tom M. Reed, assistant city engineer in charge of streets, explained that he was getting bids on the Reserve Township side approach September 4. This provides for the paving of 400 feet on Essen street.

While it was obvious that the building of the span would contribute to the opening of a vast area of isolated hilltops, a few dirt roads with great boulders and hills winding aimlessly through Summer and Spring Garden hills are the only connecting avenues. Barely passable in good weather, they are puddles of mud on rainy days.

PICTURESQUE VIEW

The view from the bridge, attracting walking couples from afar, and in great numbers, is extremely picturesque.

Some of the neighbors, who gave the late William Swindell credit for leading the fight for the bridge, said it would be named after him. Others just didn't know, although they said there was some talk of paving some of the dirt roads in the spring of 1931—which would make the bridge of some use.

The width of the span is 21 feet—which permits one car to move each way at a time.

making more than the lot of you put together!"

Eddie was bright and willing enough, but the sort who never quite gets a job. By the time he heard there was an opening somewhere it was filled. He'd come home quietly and settle himself to read.

"Did you try that broker's office, Eddie?"

"What?" Eddie would rouse himself, lift his heavy head and look at you with beautiful, clear blue eyes.

"The job, Eddie, the one you —"

"Oh, no, it was taken."

It worried them. Worried them all frightfully. So it was a real relief when Frank Prout's uncle got him a job on a boat. He shipped on the "Phoenix," a freighter bound for South America.

Summer passed. Fall came, and the rains. The roof leaked again and Ma decided it had to be fixed. Fall meant warmer clothes, too. So much more costly than summer rayons that you can pick up on the remnant counter for almost nothing. In the minutes, hours sometimes, that Cathie had nothing to do in the office, she would take out pencil and paper and figure. Figure the cost of things . . . taxes, middie tie, face powder, rouge—question mark after the rouge. She didn't really need it, but it would be nice to have it in a little box. . . . Shoes, carpenter for the back steps, winter coat for Ma . . . and where was the money?

News of Gordon

Learns That He Has a Responsible Place

"I guess I'm getting too businesslike to day-dream any more," Cathie thought. "I guess I don't imagine things any more, the way I used to."

"Did the man who gave you the chocolates ever come back?" the family used to ask, and "I hope you never run across that Mr. Moore again, it might be awkward for you, dear." But they hardly ever asked any more. Cathie's little adventure was over.

Yes, it was over. Cathie knew it now. She knew all about Gordon Moore, and the Moore Brothers. There was hardly a day in the office that his name was not mentioned. The Moore Brothers, it seemed, built many of the bridges, dams and tunnels that Vaughan and Farnsworth designed. They were the contractors for the Peacock Dam, one of the biggest projects in the office. They talked in millions, and though Gordon was many years younger than his brother, it was he who was usually their spokesman, he who signed their letters, he who people wanted to see. Even the innocent and inexperienced Cathie knew that men like that aren't likely to be seriously interested in office girls.

Once it had been a thrill to pore over the papers that Gordon Moore had handled. To type his name on an envelope, to look through the files for his letters, signed in his stubby, firm hand. But that was all over now. She had even given the candy box, the beautiful orchid moire box he had given her, to Jean. Jean had begged for it, and she had given it up. It was a kind of satisfaction to do it. It made her feel independent. He wasn't the only one who could have a good time for a day, and forget.

Bobbie Teases

Torments Cathie About Gordon Moore

Bobbie Timkin, the red-headed office boy, did his best to torment her. He continued to lay bets that Miss Darrow would be married to the boss before Christmas, and dragged Gordon Moore's name into every conversation.

"Seen the Sheik lately? Who? Oh, you know who I mean. I hear him and Darrow was out on a little party. Didn't you know he was in town? Ain't you going to put up any fight for him? What d'y'let Darrow freeze you out for? Honest, didn't you see him when he was in the office yesterday?"

"No . . . I didn't see him." Sometimes she would ask when it was that he came, and then Bobbie would go off into fits of roaring, choking guffaws, so that she knew he had been fooling her, and she learned to listen without answering, to smile to show that she did not care.

Rumors, office gossip, the scandals and stories of a big office floated all around her. . . . Mr. Farnsworth made $40,000 in the stock market . . . the telephone girl went on a week-end with Owen Faber, one of the field engineers, the one with the streak of gray in his hair and the nice eyes. Everybody seemed to know all about it, and about Miss Darrow, trying to marry the boss.

Now that she knew him better, Mr. Farnsworth didn't seem so old to Cathie. She got to picturing him marrying Miss Darrow. . . . Miss Darrow all dressed up in a white gown and veil. . . . Then she blushed, realizing that Mr. Farnsworth was looking at her, and turned away guiltily. She was glad when he finished dictating and she could go back to her desk. It made her feel self-conscious . . . what would he say if he knew what she was thinking?

The door into the big mahogany paneled waiting room was open. Miss Darrow in her new gray tweed sport suit was standing in the doorway, talking to someone.

A man of course. You could tell that by her honeyed accents. Miss Darrow had an entirely separate vocal register that she reserved for men.

Well, Cathie wasn't interested in Miss Darrow's conquests. She hardly looked as she passed. All she saw was a pair of long legs, stuck out from the big leather chair in the corner of the waiting room. A pair of long legs, relaxed, indolent . . . a pair of long legs . . . All of a sudden she knew. Knew before she heard Miss Darrow saying in her sweetest voice, "All right, you can go into Farnsworth's office now. He's through with the stenographer. And Gordon hurry! We've got to start early. Don't let him keep you!"

Gordon . . . Gordon Moore . . . Cathie sat down hastily. She felt just the way she used to feel when she was a child and her mother took her out to Holy Cross Cemetery on Sundays, in the crowded, swaying street car, with people and lunch boxes and wilting flowers . . . car sick.

Gordon Moore. So he'd come back. Only not to her. To Martha Darrow, with her new gray sport suit, with the fluttering emerald scarf. And it was true . . . what the office boy said . . .

Well, Cathie didn't care. It was nothing to her, nothing at all. She forced a letterhead and carbons into the typewriter. Slowly she turned the pages of her shorthand book. The curves and hooks blurred, rushed together, blurred again.

Miss Darrow, busy with her lipstick, hummed the Meditation from Thais, at her desk.

Cathie began to type, slowly, carefully: "With the Peacock dam nearing completion, and the Tarr-Burtleson irrigation project well under way, we are in a position to consider your problem. We believe that it will be to our mutual advantage—"

Cathie's fingers were cold and wet. She had to stop and wipe them on her handkerchief. Then she bent over her work again. She did not even look up when the outer door opened and Miss Darrow gurgled, "Just one shake, till I get my hat!"

TERM DELAYED IN JOB FAKE

John A. Bell, alias William Dawson, who, it is alleged, fraudently advertised for men and took their money, some giving up positions to accept what they thought were better ones, was before Judge Harry H. Rowand, of Criminal Court, for sentence.

Dawson hails from Cleveland. He claims that he was using the name of John A. Bell, of New York, for whom he worked, but Judge Rowand doubted his story.

Several men appeared who claim they were duped by Dawson. Among them were Ted Haber, of Brookline, and H. McGannon, of Bellevue. They said they gave Dawson $15 which was to pay their railroad and Pullman fare to Cincinnati where they were supposed to go to work.

Before they started Dawson was arrested. The latter told the court he did not receive $105 he collected, but that Bell took the money from a dresser of a Pittsburgher hotel and left. Judge Rowand postponed sentence until next Thursday.

ROOM FOR 3,200 MORE PUPILS PROVIDED

Buildings to Cure Crowded Conditions; Mt. Lebanon High Largest of Plants

Allegheny County will start the fall school term with eight new schools, or additions, erected at a cost of approximately $700,000, and providing for 3,200 more children, it was announced today by S. H. Replogle, assistant superintendent of county schools.

Scattered throughout the rural or nearby community districts, seven of the structures will be for expansion purposes. The eighth, the Broughton-Consolidated School, Snowden Township, will eliminate three frame buildings which pupils of the township attended last year. The total rooms for class purposes is 78. All are fire-proof or semi-fireproof.

The largest of the new plants will be the Mt. Lebanon High School of 30 rooms. Of these, 15 will be available during the coming term and probably will be used for junior high school activities.

RELIEVES CONGESTION

Stowe Township, with a 12-room building, is next. This structure, situated in the Nichols plan, will provide for more than 400 pupils and will relieve the congestion which last year pressed the capacities of the five other township schools.

Neville Island is expecting to have its new school ready, with the ultimate intention of making it into a junior high school. Coraopolis is rushing to complete an addition to its junior high school.

The new six-room building in West Deer Township will be a consolidation school. It has been erected near Bairdford. It will eliminate one old portable school, with the remainder serving for the added pupils expected. The Plum Township school of four rooms will be opened in Renton. It is an addition. Greentree Borough has a two-room addition.

DEDICATION PLANNED

The Broughton school will be opened Tuesday with dedicatory exercises planned for the steps of the new building. Prof. C. W. Peters, assistant county superintendent; Judge Sylvester J. Snee and other educators will attend.

The building, which cost $75,000 and is on the Cochran's Mills road, will seat 360 pupils. L. R. Cutshall is the supervising principal of the township schools. One of the features of this school will be the playground. More than $8,000 has been spent in beautifying the grounds. Ralph Holtzhauser, president of the board, will preside at the dedication.

PROPOSE AREA OF 2,500,000 PEOPLE

Commerce Chamber to Hear Project to Include Ohio, West Virginia Territory

Members of the Chamber of Commerce will be presented the census committee's tentative recommendations for a Pittsburgh metropolitan district at a meeting September 11, officials announced today. The plans embrace a district having a population of 2,500,000, which will be submitted to the United States Census Bureau.

The area proposed embraces Allegheny, Westmoreland, Beaver and Washington counties, portions of Butler, Lawrence, Armstrong and Fayette counties in Pennsylvania, two counties in West Virginia and the cities of Steubenville and East Liverpool, O.

Officials of the United States Census Bureau are now studying definite factors which determine metropolitan areas and will affect the final listing of the area of the Pittsburgh metropolitan district. Such a listing will place Pittsburgh among the great cities of the world, chamber officials say.

The prisoner, Vita Razara, 45, of 100 Chartiers avenue, McKees Rocks, was arrested by Wagonman George Wood, of Central Police Station.

The accident occurred as the cars were turning onto the bridge from Water street. Mrs. Reilly suffered cuts and bruises and was treated at the Mercy Hospital. Her husband, unhurt, caught their son as he was bounced against the car top when the machines hit.

Two men were injured, one seriously, when the machine in which they were passengers struck a Brighton road street car in Monterey street, at Sampson. The injured were R. J. The Camera Question Box

Today's question: Citizens of Paris, Tennessee, threaten to impeach their mayor because at the age of 63 he married a 16-year-old girl. Does the public have the right to censor personal affairs of its servants in this manner?

Fred Osterling

FRED OSTERLING, architect, Pittsburgh— It's my opinion that a man who marries is foolish anyway, and so I would say that the public does have a right to censor the affairs of its servants.

MISS ANNA MAY BERNHARDT, stenographer, South Hills — No. It doesn't. Everyone has a right to do as he pleases and if he loved her I don't see why he shouldn't have married her regardless of their ages.

A. M. Bernhardt

Leo Lehman

LEO LEHMAN, store manager, Squirrel Hill — I think in an affair of that sort the public does have a right to step in because a man that age has no business getting married at all.

H. W. KENNEDY, commercial artist, Mars—No. The public shouldn't interfere in personal affairs. As long as the man does his work in a satisfactory way why should they bother with anything like that?

H. W. Kennedy

Kath. Zeigler

MISS KATHRYN ZEIGLER, buyer, North Side — Yes, I think the public should certainly censor an affair of that sort. A man that old and a girl so young are entirely unmated, and for them to marry is foolish.

K. R. SMITH, commercial artist, Aliquippa — A man's marriage is no affair for the public to bother with. If he feels that young and wants to get married, why that's his own business and not the public's.

K. R. Smith

$35,000 ASKED OF BUS FIRM

Two suits seeking damages from the Greyhound Lines, Inc., were filed in Federal Court by plaintiffs who allege they were injured by buses of the defendant concern.

In an action for $20,000, Frank H. Hinkofer, a city policeman, avers, in his bill of complaint, that he was hurt June 27 by being struck by a bus at Grant street and Sixth avenue.

The other plaintiff, in a suit for $15,000, was John H. Wright, of Pittsburgh. He set forth in his bill of complaint that he was a passenger on one of the company's buses June 24, and that when the machine left a macadamized road near Butler, it struck a hole and he was thrown from his seat. He claimed to have suffered internal injuries and that his chest, arms and legs were injured.

In each suit the plaintiff charge the drivers of the buses with being negligent and operating the machines at high and unsafe rates of speed.

White Sulphur Springs Scene of Increased Social Activity

As the summer resort wanes in Canada, in the East, and in the mountains, some travelers, reluctant to return home until the first snow flurry, have gone to White Sulphur Springs, where social activity is heightening. This week there'll be a galaxy of social events, one is tempted to say.

Prominent among the White Sulphur social leaders are the George W Crawfords. Tomorrow night they'll entertain 200 guests at the annual fancy dress ball at Kates Mountain Cottage. Balloons and a profusion of yellow blossoms will be used in decorating.

And tonight they'll attend the Old White Ball, reviving all the grandeur and hospitality of the Old South. All the guests will wear Colonial costumes, and "Old Arthur," a darkey who has served as doorman at the ball for 55 years, will usher in the guests. There'll be a cotillion and a minuet and an Old Black Joe tap dance.

Yesterday afternoon there was a charity fashion show and tea in the Casino of the Greenbrier Golf and Tennis Club.

Patrons at the event included the George W. Crawfords, the Walter G. Mortlands, Mrs. R. W. Warmack.

DAWES IN SPAIN AS 'TOURIST'

MADRID, Aug. 29.—(Universal.)—U. S. Ambassador Charles G. Dawes, now in Spain on vacation from London, has temporarily abandoned his role of archaeologist, and become, in his own words, "just another American tourist."

The Ambassador arrived in Madrid in this capacity yesterday from Santander, and spent much of the day in visiting Madrid's many museums.

He said:

"Spain's a wonderful country. I wish I had more time to see it. I can't talk the language, but I can get a fair idea of what is going on in the world from the newspaper headlines."

The Ambassador left late last night for Andalusia, to visit the town of Niebla, where Mrs. Wishaw, an English woman excavator and archaeologist, has discovered the remains of a prehistoric city built in narrow tunnels.

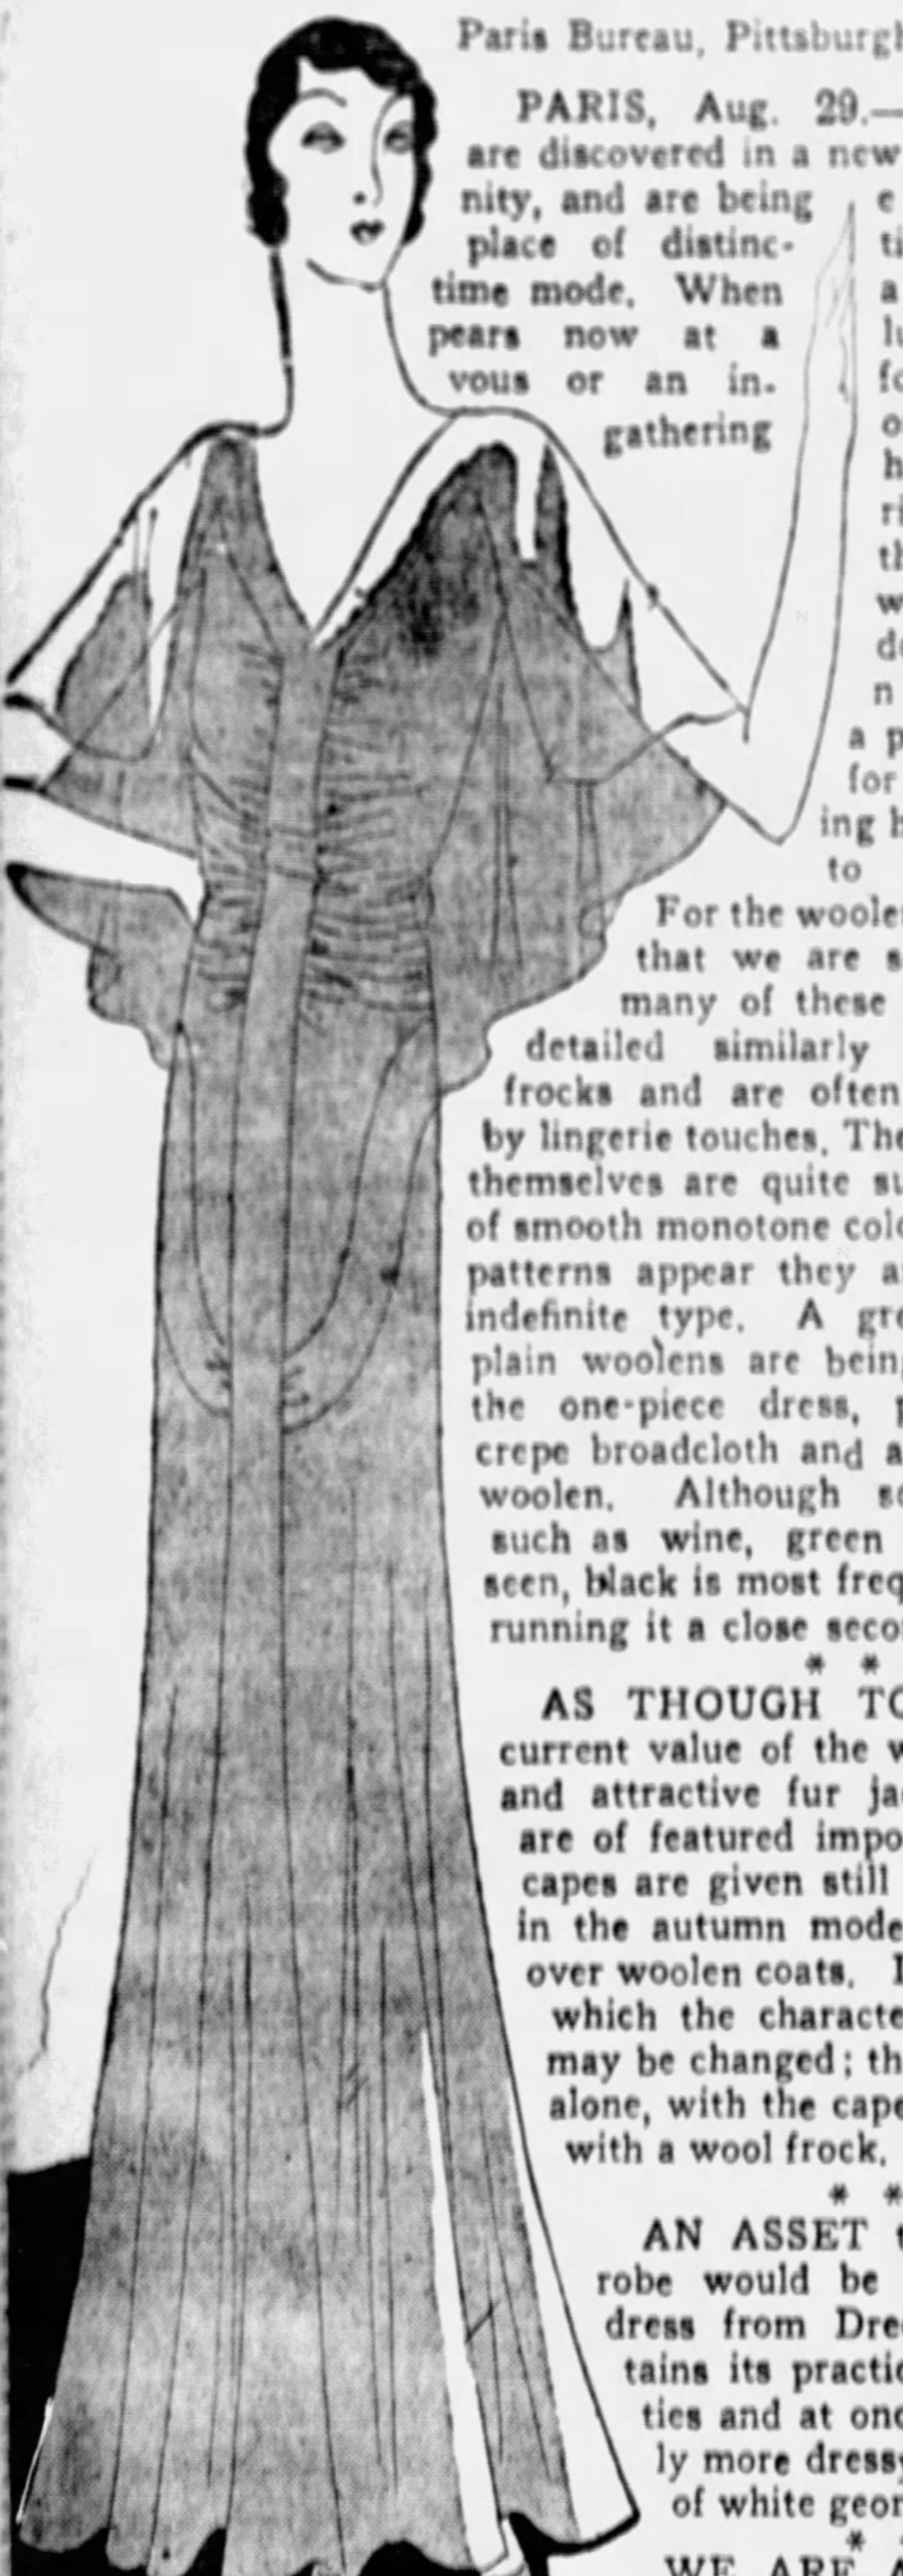
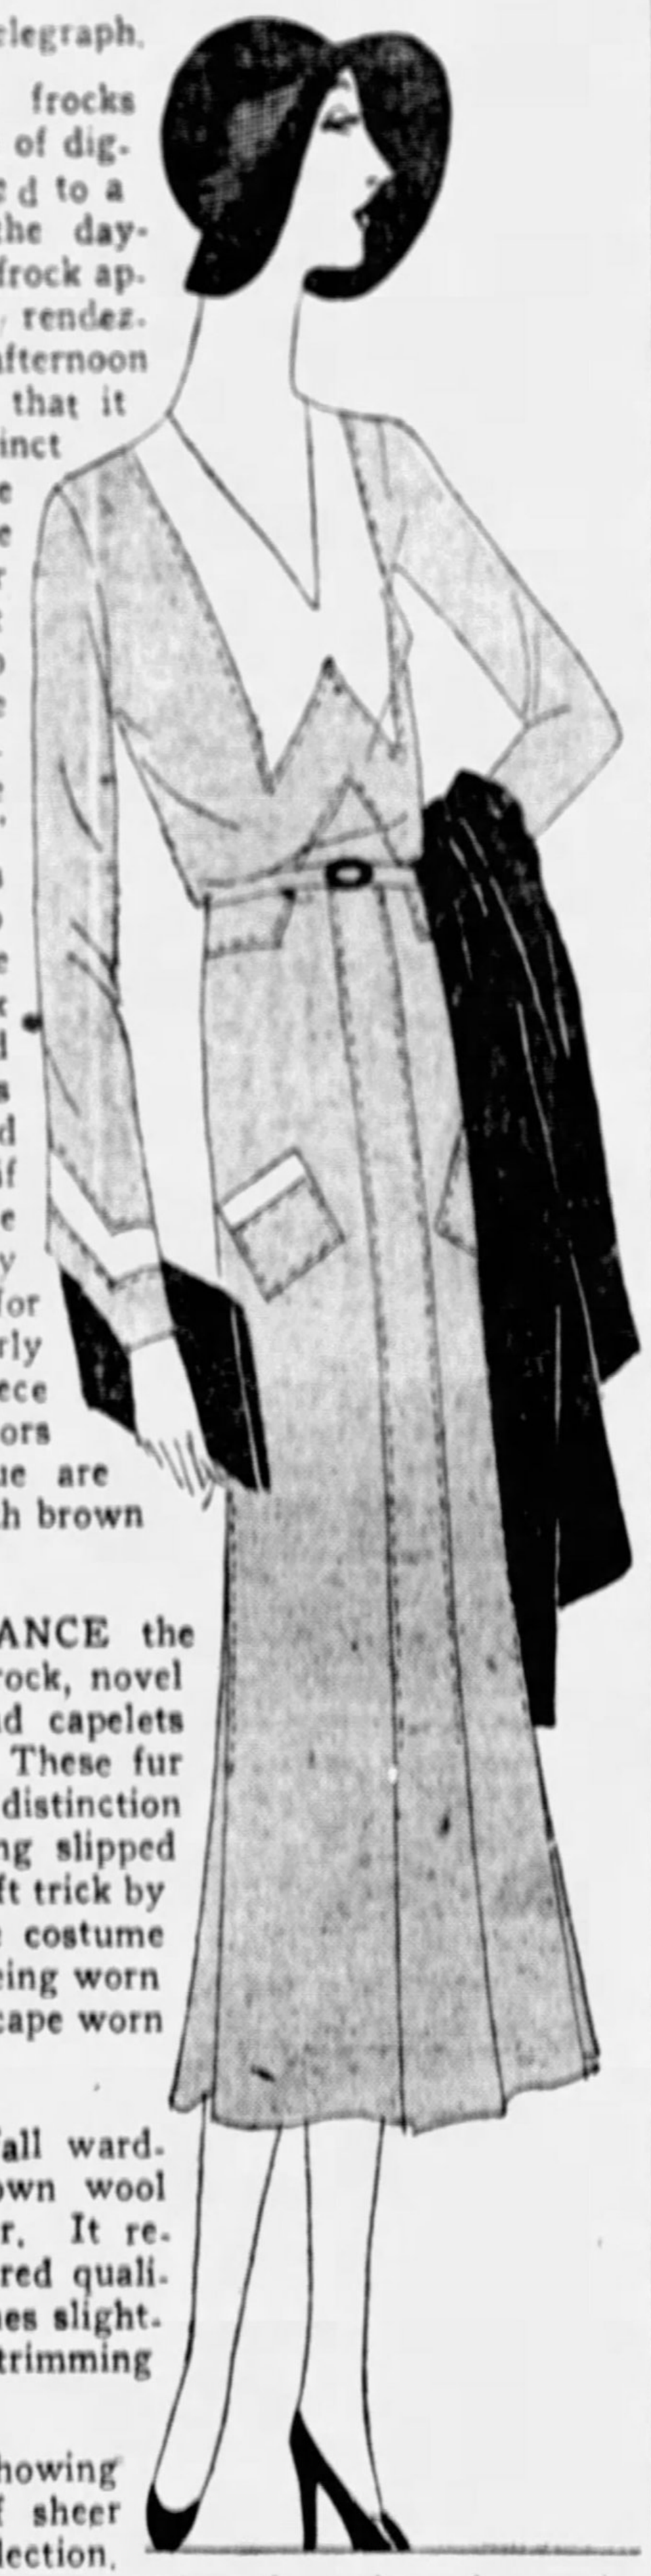
FUR JACKETS AND CAPELETS COMPLEMENT WOOLEN FROCKS

—Sketched in Paris—





Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Aug. 29.—Woolen frocks are discovered in a new attitude of dignity, and are being elevated to a place of distinction in the daytime mode. When a woolen frock appears now at a luncheon rendezvous or an informal afternoon gathering one feels that it has a distinct right to be there. The wearer does not need to apologize for not having had "time to change."

For the woolen dresses that we are seeing so many of these days are detailed similarly to silk frocks and are often finished by lingerie touches. The woolens themselves are quite supple and of smooth monotone colors, and if patterns appear they are of the indefinite type. A great many plain woolens are being used for the one-piece dress, particularly crepe broadcloth and a soft fleece woolen. Although some colors such as wine, green and blue are seen, black is most frequent with brown running it a close second.

AS THOUGH TO ENHANCE the current value of the woolen frock, novel and attractive fur jackets and capelets are of featured importance. These fur capes are given still another distinction in the autumn mode by being slipped over woolen coats. It is a deft trick by which the character of the costume may be changed; the coat being worn alone, with the cape or the cape worn with a wool frock.

AN ASSET to any fall wardrobe would be this brown wool dress from Drecoll Beer. It retains its practical, tailored qualities and at once becomes slightly more dressy by its trimming of white georgette.

WE ARE ALSO showing you an evening gown of sheer loveliness that attracted our attention in the Lelong collection. The model is deep red chiffon with the blouse shirred in front and at the wrist. A cape is cut in one with the V neck and flutters gently off the shoulders and down the back.

You have seen history-making furs through our keen fashion eye — and shopped elsewhere, but found coats wanting. Tomorrow is "decision time"—the last day you may buy a luxurious fur coat at well over 20% savings — with manufacturers already asking much higher prices for identical furs. These two coats, in particular, have made a splendid reputation for the August Sale of Furs:

Natural Squirrel Coat

Fitted, slightly flared, with face-framing collar and tab cuffs. A "best seller" because it's formal, flattering and individual in this year of elegance. The price, for its quality, is the lowest in town. Also in beige.

Hudson Seal* Coat

Of a very fine grade of black Hudson Seal, this is now known as the "coat-of-the-year." It is black, semi-fitted, slightly flared, and trimmed in a choice of fitch, kolinsky, leopard, ermine, squirrel, skunk. Dyed Muskrat.*

Fall Dresses

Among the most important fashion news for fall is that about sleeves—and Paris openings stressed the flounce, the leg-o'-mutton, the button trimmed, the oversleeve, and the pleated epaulet so smart with long gloves.

A new collection of dresses for women and misses shows this same individual sleeve treatment—in canton failles, satins, jacquard silks and georgettes—in Black and new glorious autumn colorings of

Fur-Trim'd Coats

$55

Comes the end of a great sale and the opportunity to save in buying winter coats early. Fashion forecasts have become facts: the importance of black, long lines, luxurious trims, four new silhouettes—features you'll find in stock later, but not at low August prices. Fur trimmings are lower, and offer the choice selection found early in the season.

Coats, all in all, worth $79.50, $89.50 and even as high as $110. Truly, never was there a better opportunity for women of every type to buy greater fashion at a saving.

Prudence Penny's Recipes

PRUNE BREAD—One cup white flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1½ cups whole wheat flour, 3 tablespoons shortening, 4 tablespoons sugar, 1 cup prunes, about ¾ cup milk.

Sift together the white flour, baking powder and salt, add the whole wheat flour, work in the shortening, then add the sugar and the prunes which have been soaked for several hours in cold water, then cut small, discarding the pits. Mix to a light dough with the milk and turn into a well greased bread pan. Bake one hour in a moderate oven, 350 to 375 degrees F. If desired you may substitute dates for the prunes, in which case omit the sugar.

ORANGE BISCUITS—Two cups flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 2-3 teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons shortening, 1 orange, scant 2-3 cup milk, cubes of sugar.

Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt, work in the shortening, add the grated rind of the orange and mix to a light soft dough with the milk. Roll or pat out on a floured board about 2-3 inches thick, cut out the biscuits and place on a slightly greased baking pan, press into the center of each biscuit a cube of sugar which has been dipped into the orange juice. Bake about 12 minutes in a hot oven, 400 degrees F.

GINGER ALE LEMONADE—Four lemons, 1 pint ginger ale, 1½ pints water, 1 cup sugar.

Place a small block of ice in a pitcher. With the juice of 4 lemons mix 1 cup of sugar, 1½ pints of water and 1 pint of ginger ale. Pour into pitcher and stir thoroughly. Allow to stand few minutes before serving. (Serves 6 persons.)

COCOANUT BONBON FROSTING—Melt 1½ cups of cocoanut bonbons in a double-boiler, softening them with a teaspoon of water. When dissolved, spread at once on the cake. Choose the color of the bonbons to match or contrast with the cakes.

MARSHMALLOW FILLING FOR LAYER CAKE—Melt 15 marshmallows in a double-boiler. When soft add an eggwhite, 1½ cups of confectioner's sugar and 3 tablespoons of cold water. Beat this mixture over boiling water for 7 minutes. Remove from fire, add another 15 marshmallows which have been cut small and fold over until the mixture will hold its shape.

BRABANT DRESSING—Mix together the yolks of 4 eggs, 1 teaspoon mustard, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 teaspoon butter, 4 tablespoons vinegar and a dash of red pepper. Cook in a double-boiler until thick. Cool and then beat in 1 cup whipped cream and 1 cup chopped nut meats. This is a delicious salad dressing for fruit salad, and the sugar it contains adds a touch of quick-energy fuel to the salad course.

DUCK AND ORANGE SALAD—Two cups cold duck cut in small pieces, 4 oranges, ½ cup salad oil, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, ¼ teaspoon paprika, lettuce.

Cut the duck into small dice. Peel the oranges and slice very thin. Mix oil, lemon juice and seasonings until well blended. Pour this dressing over the duck and oranges and allow to stand for a few minutes. Serve on lettuce with additional dressing of any desired kind if necessary.

CHOCOLATE MARSHMALLOW PUDDING—One bar milk chocolate, 12 marshmallows cut fine, 2 cups milk, 2 tablespoons sugar, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Melt the chocolate bar in a double boiler. Add 1½ cups of milk. Dissolve the cornstarch and sugar in the other ½ cup of milk and add. Cook slowly, stirring constantly, until thick and creamy. Cool and stir in marshmallows and vanilla. Cool and serve plain or with whipped cream.

LIVER LOAF—Remove skin from liver, cut into slices and cook in boiling salted water for 5 minutes. Drain, chop fine and add: 1 cup bread crumbs, 1 teaspoon onion juice, 2 tablespoons tomato catsup, 1 egg beaten, 1-3 cup fresh pork chopped, juice of ½ lemon. Salt and pepper to taste. Mix well and turn into a greased individual baking pan. Press the mixture firmly into the pan, brush over with melted butter and bake in a moderate oven for 1½ hours. Serve with tomato sauce. If served cold, slice very thin and serve with shaved cabbage salad.

ICED TEA—More women fail with their iced tea than with any other cooling drink attempted. The flavor of tea should be secondary, with that of lemon supreme. Otherwise the beverage will be too strong for some, too weak for others, and have a tea flavor that does not appeal at all to those guests who may use an entirely different blend in their own homes.

Make tea and cool. Pour over ice, adding water until flavor is reduced to a stage most pleasing to all. To each quart of this liquid add the juice of 2 lemons into which you have dissolved all the sugar possible. Stir thoroughly, adding additional sugar until the desired sweetness is secured.

RHUBARB CONSERVE—Combine the following ingredients: Eight cups sugar, 3 cups weak vinegar, 2 oranges, rind and juice, ½ teaspoon cloves, 1 teaspoon cinnamon and 2 cups of seeded raisins.

Wash 5 pounds of rhubarb, cut in pieces, and pour water over to cover. Allow to stand for 3 minutes, then drain. Over the rhubarb pour the above mixture and cook slowly until thick. Add the chopped nut meats (2 cups walnut meats), and pour into sterilized jars.

CHICKEN SALAD—One and a half cups diced chicken, 1 cup sliced celery, 1 cup sliced stuffed olives, cooked mayonnaise.

White meat of chicken is usually preferred because it is less oily. All meat of the chicken will be white, however, if the fowl is cooked in the following way: Wrap tightly in 4 or 5 layers of cheese cloth and tie. Cook in boiling water until tender. Cut meat into ¼ inch cubes. Keep covered and in a cool place until ready for use. Combine chicken, celery, olives and salad dressing. Turn into aspic rings and serve on lettuce leaves.

APPLE MARMALADE—Six oranges, 3 lemons, 9 apples, 9 cups sugar, 3 cups water.

Pare and slice apples and cover with lemon juice. Wash oranges and cut into thin slices. Slice lemon rind. Add sugar and water and let stand 1 hour. Cook slowly to boiling point; boil 1 hour or until of the consistency of marmalade. Turn into sterilized glasses or jars and seal when cool.

RED DEVIL'S FOOD—One and a half cup sifted flour, 1½ teaspoon baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons butter, 1 cup sugar, 2 eggs, ½ cup sour milk, ½ cup boiling water, 2 squares chocolate melted, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and sift 3 times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually and cream. Add egg yolks and beat vigorously. Add flour alternately with milk. Pour water into chocolate, mix quickly, add soda and stir until thick. Cool slightly and add to batter. Add vanilla and beaten egg white. Bake in shallow greased pan in a 350 degree oven about 45 minutes.

CHOCOLATE PIE—Two squares bitter chocolate, ⅞ cup sugar, ¼ cup flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 cup boiling water, 1 cup evaporated milk, 3 egg yolks, 1 tablespoon butter, ½ teaspoon vanilla. Baked pastry shell.

Melt chocolate over hot water. Add sugar that has been thoroughly mixed with flour and salt. Blend well. Add boiling water and milk. Cook in a double boiler 25 minutes, stirring occasionally. Pour chocolate mixture gradually over well-beaten egg yolks, beating vigorously to prevent curdling. Return to double boiler and cook 2 minutes longer. Add butter and flavoring, cool slightly and pour into cold baked pastry shell. Cover with meringue and brown to the preferred color in a slow oven.

Present Day Jelly Making Shows Marked Change

A Great Advance Has Been Made in This Form of Cookery by the Large Manufacturers, Says Dr. Copeland.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Former Health Commissioner of New York City; U. S. Senator from New York.

From very early days jam and jellies have been made in the home. In America today, the manufacturers produce endless varieties of these delicious products, in most attractive form.

Of course the home-made and commercial-made fruit products are not quite the same. But 10 or 15 years ago they were markedly different. The Pure Food Laws protect the public from much of the adulteration that formerly went on in their manufacture. Most of the canned and prepared fruits on the market now are of excellent quality.

A great advance has been made since science investigated the preparation of fruit products. The sterilizing or pasteurizing of fruit, and canning by the vacuum process, have all helped to make the commercial product more nearly like that made in the home.

FRUIT FLAVOR RETAINED

Commercial jellies made with low temperatures far surpass in flavor those cooked in higher temperatures. The real fruit flavor is thus retained, and many of them approach in quality the best homemade jellies.

A very important constituent of most fruits are the "pectin bodies". They are somewhat like starch and sugar, but with characteristic properties of their own. When vegetable acids are also present, these substances help to form a thick or gelatinous mass, or jelly. It is this pectin, or some substitute, which sets the jelly.

The making of fruit jelly and jam of the best consistency and natural flavor requires great skill. Just the proper proportions of pectin, vegetable acids and sugar must be maintained—they must be accurately weighed. In commercial canning this is all done in a most scientific way.

JELLIES BENEFICIAL

The manufacturers of jelly have found that the commercial grape juice makes a splendid jelly. It makes a better flavored jelly and one that seldom forms crystals of cream of tartar, which is one of the great objections to the usual home-made grape jelly.

Many persons prefer jellies to jam, because all the waste, like seeds and skin, are eliminated. That is one reason why jelly is good for the invalid diet. Jam and preserves include these substances, but are excellent for persons in normal health.

Speaking from a health standpoint, the fruit fodos are good for everyone. They lend zest to eating and give variety to the diet. They are rich in minerals, vitamins and sugars. And in them the present day commercial concerns are presenting for sale to the public a very excellent product.

HAPPENINGS IN HOLLYWOOD AND GOTHAM; NEW PICTURE REVIEW

Choosing Titles Serious Job at Hollywood Film Studios

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 29.

What motion pictures have had the greatest box office titles?

I have questioned several important film executives on this point.

Harry Rapf of Metro Goldwyn Mayer suggests "The Cock Eyed World," "The Way of All Flesh" and "The Big Parade."

Doug Fairbanks

Harold B. Franklin, head of West Coast Theaters, names "The Thief of Bagdad" because it brought the whole picture to the mind at once and was typical of Douglas Fairbanks; "Flesh and the Devil" because it suggested the allure of Greta Garbo; "What Price Glory" because it implied all the heroism and futility of war, and "Our Blushing Brides" because it is so typically youthful.

John Considine, general manager of United Artists, picks "The Birth of a Nation," "The Miracle Man" and "What Price Glory."

Carl Laemmle Jr., of Universal, likes "The Big Parade," "Seventh Heaven" and "The Hunchback of Notre Dame."

Choosing titles is taken very seriously at all the studios. Employes are asked to submit several for every picture they see in previews.

There are some very odd "don'ts" to be remembered. For instance, no title with the word "mother" in it has ever been successful. Marriage is another taboo. Liquor is another.

One of the principal things to be avoided is a title that people might not be able to pronounce. Hence "Declassee" was changed to "Her Private Life" and "La Marsellaise" to "Captain of the Guard."

Still remember the argument about the proper pronunciation of "Cytherea."

HARD-HEARTED

Lou Engel tells the story of a starving actor who met a prosperous friend in a restaurant. The friend was sitting down to a big juicy steak.

"Say," inquired the actor, "you're not going to eat that steak alone, are you?"

"No," replied the friend, "with potatoes."

ARGUMENT ON

There is a good deal of supposition going on as to whether Walter Huston may not be indelibly associated with Abraham Lincoln. H. B. Warner found it difficult to get roles after he portrayed Christ in "The King of Kings." The better the performance, of course, the tighter the bond. Huston also has the title role in "The Bad Man," and his friends believe that this will prevent an injurious effect in his career.

H. B. Warner

SHEIK ARRIVING

A genuine sheik is on his way to Hollywood to be technical adviser on "Beau Ideal."

Herbert Brenon met him in Morrocco and signed him to work on the picture.

The sheik is a Riff and participated in the rebellion against the French rule. His name is Abdeslam Ben Mohammed Khoubarik. May the composing rooms be with me in getting this name into print.

They're Off!

Al Jolson dons his blackface makeup for his role in "Big Boy," current Stanley film, which presents a story of the racing turf.

Portrait of a Man Talking to Himself

The Big Idea is to amount to something . . . All their letters pack the same theme . . . They all want to be Somebodies . . . It doesn't matter what, simply Somebody . . . To entice nods from the other Somebodies . . . Or respect from those who once belittled or snubbed them . . . To be able to crack the whip at their antagonists and Make Them Like It . . . Power, they want . . . From power comes Prestige . . . Power and Prestige bring Coin . . . From these come Happiness, they imagine . . . Heheheh . . . Happiness . . . Jimmy Walker has power, prestige and coin . . . Jimmy is a Somebody . . . Oh, yes—they say if you are Mayor of New York it is almost as important as being President . . . How does it feel to be a Somebody? I asked him . . . "When the glitter wears off," Jimmy said, "it still is a lousy job" . . . Jimmy has Power, Prestige and Plenty . . . So has Texas Guinan—in her asylum . . . Texas is happy somewhat . . . Jimmy isn't that happy . . . He wants to live, he says . . . But not the life his friends want him to live . . . "It must be great," Jimmy said, "to live your own life" . . . It is, I said.

Jimmy then unfolded the classic about the Bethlehem Steel executive . . . He had power, prestige and plenty too . . . After serving the firm and sweating for it for twenty years he took his first alcoholiday . . . In Yurrup . . . He gambled at Monte Carlo . . . He drank heavily . . . He liked young things around him—lots of young clutchable things with contagious eyes . . . Some fun . . . "Love alone makes us ridiculous" . . . When he returned to his desk they sent for him . . . Schwab and Gary . . . "It is difficult," said Gary, "to tell you—but you are through here" . . . "Why?" asked the Man Who Had Taken His First Holiday . . . "Because your conduct isn't good for our business. You must have gone mad over there the way you carried on" . . . "But," replied the discharged executive, "I thought that was the way to do it—out in the open—instead of hiding in a corner in dark cabarets. I took my ladies where the crowds were thickest, where the lights were brightest. I'm not much different from the others—who do their stuff behind closed doors" . . . "Listen to me and don't forget it," thundered Gary, "doors were made to be closed!"

Now there's that Belle Livingstone woman . . . Belle has a sort of power or prestige in the gay life of the town . . . Belle has Lived . . . Belle is a sort of a Somebody . . . Belle amounts to something . . . When she has an exclusive speakeasy, that is . . . You gotta have influence with Belle to get into her exclusive salon . . . Oh, yes . . . So Belle has a sort of power—a sort of prestige . . . And she has pelf . . . And she has had oh, so many husbands, some of whom were hers . . . The papers just told how her young intended groom eloped with her daughter . . . "How come you still can laugh loud?" I asked Belle in the foyer of a sin-den the other 4 o'clock . . . "Because it is all so comical," Belle replied. "I picked up my party line at our country place and overheard them plotting things. 'We've got to be careful,' my daughter said, 'or the old buzzard won't give us any dough.' And he said, 'Yeah, and if she heard this maybe she would drop dead from shock and we'd get it all, eh?' . . . That's why I can still laugh loud," said Belle, who has a sort of power, prestige and pelf, all of which brings Happiness, they say.

Hallam Keep Williams, perhaps, could answer some of the letters that come to my desk . . . Hallam has had his power—prestige—and pelf . . . He still has it, in a way . . Hallam Keep Williams lost his prestige after the Ann Murdock divorce or something . . . Ruth Anderson of the Ziegfeld choir was more important at the time, however . . . Hallam defied the Social Register which jerked his name out of that funny book . . . Hallam defied all of them . . . There is nothing greater than the bond between a Man and a Woman! . . . This was Happiness, by golly! . . . and so they were married and they lived so unhappily ever after . . . Hallam and Ruth are back in the Social Register, though . . . Yes, sir! . . Prestige—power! . . . His $150,000 is in trust, however . . . No can touch a penny of it until long time from now . . . 150 Grand in trust and listed in the Social Register! . . . Power, prestige and pelf! . . . The other night they were ejected from their second-rate Broadway hotel because they couldn't pay the rent . . . Somebodies!

Funny things—people . . . There's that night-loafing lawyer, frixample . . . Because I wrote: "Wonder if those lawyers who stagger out of night clubs at six in the yawning ever win their legal tilts?" the most guilty of the Consciences went crazy . . . And squawked his head off—and what he was going to do about it . . . The lawyer who inspired the line, and who knew it would be written, made no complaint at all . . . The loud-mouth, however, was sure it was directed at him! . . . Heheheh . . . If the shoe fits . . . Glenn Condon, the most patient and tolerant of the bosses, was a good tutor . . . Ten years ago his first lesson in colyuming was: "If you want to be read always remember this: Jot down your own faults and nine times out of ten you will hit the other fellow between the eyes!" . . . Alex Woollcott's lesson was good, too: "There is nothing," said the smartest of the Alecks, "so interesting as a fact, and nothing so readable as a name" . . . The Big Idea, however, is to keep raising hell.

Heheheh . . . Very funny . . . My name must mean something . . . Maybe I'm a Somebody after all . . . There's that Harry A. Ferrari, Ph.D., frinstance . . . He writes articles for newspapers about the meanings of people's names . . . The family name of Winchell, says De Ferrari (Ph.D.), may be traced back to several possible sources. It is probable that in many cases this name is derived from the Middle English wrenchel (Old English wencel), meaning small child, weakling and orphan. The corresponding adjective form in Old English is wancol, meaning unsteady, tottering and weak . . . All of which is interesting and true . . . I am a child and a weakling . . . In fact I was so weak yesterday I couldn't lift a gag.

Sewickley Woman Chosen for Honors

The appointment of Mrs. George Phelps Rose at Sewickley as parliamentarian for the national convention of the American Legion Auxiliary to be held in Boston October 6 to 9 has been announced by Mrs. Donald Macrae, national president.

RACE HORSE JOLSON'S SONNY BOY IN STANLEY

By CLARENCE E. GRUNDISH

Al Jolson is in the Stanley in a new talkie that is somewhat refreshingly different from the usual Jolson screen displays. This time he puts a soft pedal on the sentimental stuff and goes in for the comedy in the big way.

However, the "Sonny Boy" complex creeps in. Only instead of a Davey Lee it is a horse that the Jolson arms encircle and the Jolson voice mammyizes over.

He thinks so much about this horse that he dreams about it. And then he awakens and finds it's only a nightmare. Sure, this is a Jolson joke.

The picture, we should have told you before, is titled "Big Boy." It is based on one of Al's old stage vehicles.

The plot has to do with a blackfaced stable boy, who raises a horse from colthood days and sees it become the winner of the Kentucky Derby. And, certainly, Mr. Jolson is on its back on the gala day. He and the horse tear across the finish line in the best movie manner.

DOES A "BILL HART"

Jolson is more versatile than we thought. There comes a time in the story action that has him riding to the rescue of the lady fair. And a Bill Hart couldn't do it much better.

The star has a song for every situation and sometimes a song when there's no situation at all. He is blackfaced all the way through the film with the exception of a few moments at the finale.

A horse plays the title role. But, of course, it is Jolson who is the real "big boy" of the film. In fact, it is an all-Jolson picture. There isn't even the sign of one little gesture that could be said to take the spotlight from Al.

SAME OLD AL

It can be reported, too, that he is the same old Al. He has found himself in the movies. He's not camera shy, or whatever it was that bothered him in previous film displays, anymore.

"Big Boy" entertains if you like Jolson. It has a lot of laughs.

"Varietrix" is the stage show. It has some class. For example, take the acrobatic exhibition of the Kemmys with its almost tableau effects. It is cleverly done.

Negro talent dominates one of the acts. "Cryin' for the Carolines," sings a fellow, with a Negro spiritual flare. And a little and dark-faced lad capers with drums. There are other entertainers also, including Master of Ceremonies Gene Morgan and Bernie Armstrong.

PRESIDENTS' GRID OUTLOOK BRIGHTENS

WASHINGTON AND JEFFERSON has been rather in a football rut for the last few season, but a spirit like that for which this college is noted is not to be denied for long, and signs point to an upward trend in Presidential fortunes this year. The outlook is bright from the viewpoint of both coaching and material. Certainly the coaches are well qualified to teach all that is worth knowing about backfield and line play, as Bill Amos, head mentor, and Fats Henry, assistant, former stars at fullback and tackle, were among the best in the country in their playing days and of real all-America caliber, Henry being termed the greatest tackle by the late Walter Camp.

Bill Amos

The backfield timber is rich in promise, a speedy lot including such capable veterans as Stewart Wilson, of Oil City, burly fullback who passes and kicks from the left side; John Butler, of Charleroi, quarterback; Maury Rush, a great halfback, who is expected to be in shape for a big season despite an attack of malarial fever in Los Angeles; Ernie Kaiser, of Youngwood; Joe Umberger, of Clarksburg, Maurice Armstrong and Glenn Smith.

AMONG THE BACKFIELD additions from the freshmen squad of a year ago are George Shaffer, of Greensburg, quarterback, and Gerhart Zagray, of Canton, O., John Furkanic, of Steelton, Philip Port, of Rutherford, N. J., and Albert Rometo, of Glassmere, Pa., halfbacks and all promising boys. The line material is not so plentiful, but the coaches probably will be able to fill the shoes of Jap Douds, the great tackle, Don Malcolm, veteran guard, and Deb Secrist, end, who, like Halfback Don Lewis, have been lost by graduation.

The veteran linemen include Capt. Walter Levine, of Lock Haven, who starred in the Pitt game last year; Andy Cochrane, of Pittsburgh, guard; Saul Lipman, of Pittsburgh, center; Irwin Newby, of Ashtabula, an excellent guard, who was injured in the Lafayette game in 1929 but promises to be physically fit; George Demas, of Valencia, guard, who had a brilliant season as a sophomore; Kenneth McNeil, of Bradley Beach, N. J., a real end, and Pat Rigney, of Youngwood, varsity center.

UNDER THE SAME classification come Anthony Trappuzano, of Pittock, guard; John Pollock, of Pittsburgh, guard; Edwin Irwin, of Red Bank, N. J., Hugh Kelly, of Curwensville, tackle of promise; Bill Updegraff, of Pittsburgh, end, who underwent an operation last fall and was available only a short time; Wally Harris, of New Brighton, promising end; Dick Symons, of Pittsburgh, tackle, and Jim Hadley, of Oil City, center.

Fats Henry

THE TEAM WILL have fair weight and should be fast. Only eight games are on the card, due to the Pitt cancellation. The major events will be played with Temple University in Philadelphia, October 18; Lafayette in Atlantic City, an indoor game in the auditorium, October 25; Bucknell, in Pittsburgh, November 15; West Virginia in Morgantown, November 22, and Carnegie Tech in Pittsburgh, November 29. The season will open with Bethany in Washington, September 27. Westminster will be played in Washington, October 4, and Wittenberg in Springfield, O., October 11. It looks like a year in which you'll hear quite a bit more from W. & J. than for several seasons past.

IN HANGING UP his twenty-third victory of the season, Wes Ferrell, Cleveland pitcher, also scored his twelfth win in succession. This equals the best recent mark, set by Tom Zachary, who won 12 games for the Yankees last year without a defeat. The American League record is 16 straight, set by Joe Wood and Walter Johnson in 1912. The National League mark is 19 in a row, established by Tim Keefe in 1888 and equaled by Rube Marquard in 1912.

Ferrell has not been beaten since the Fourth of July when he lost to Detroit, 5 to 4, in 10 innings. Since then he has defeated every other club in the league, beating the Athletics, Yankees, Senators, Red Sox and Browns twice each, and the Tigers and White Sox once each. Against his 23 victories this year he is charged with only nine defeats.

THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN Ervin Brame's present total of 13 victories and the 20 or thereabouts that he probably would have hung up by this time if he had not been knocked out for a long period by an attack of grip, is not the only heavy loss the Pirates have suffered in the pitching department through unfortunate breaks.

For instance, there's Steve Swetonic, who yesterday pitched the Bucs to their sixteenth victory in 21 straight games. It's enough to bring another groan from the home rooters when they look at the North Side lad in his present form and think of what the Bucs missed while he was out of commission.

Steve Swetonic

AS THE RESULT of an operation for appendicitis, Swetonic didn't throw a ball in a real game from May 17 until July 22, a period of more than nine weeks, and was unable to make his first appearance of the season as a starting pitcher until August 19. Since the last-mentioned date he has hurled three games, one a shut-out against the hard-hitting Robins, winning two of them and being defeated only 2 to 0 in the one that he lost. In the three games he has allowed only four runs and 21 hits. Add to Remy Kremer's 21 victories the games that Brame and Swetonic probably would have won if in shape all season, and the Rovers would be right up in the thick of the pennant doings.

OPPOSING CLUBS SURELY have been making the Cubs work overtime in their fight for a second pennant. In less than two weeks the Bears have had to play one game of 20 innings, another of 16 and another of 11. And the 11-inning and 16-inning affairs ended in ties and had to be played over.

Counting the nine-inning play-off, 36 innings were required to decide a single contest, and now, with a 20-inning battle added, the Cubs hold the odd record of having been forced within 13 days to travel a grand total of 56 innings to decide only two games. A severe strain on a pitching staff that has now been hit hard again by the loss of Charley Root for 10 days or longer on account of a strained muscle in his salary arm.

THE STRUGGLE OF 20 innings between the Cubs and Cardinals was the longest game of the present season in the major leagues. The

CHAMP TRAILS AFTER FIRST 18 HOLES

By VERN SWARTSFAGER

The biggest gallery ever to witness a public links match in Pittsburgh trailed Robert Graham and Carl Kauffmann as they started the last 18 holes of their 36-hole match for the city golf championship at the Schenley Park municipal links this afternoon.

As a result of a series of brilliant chip shots this morning, Graham, the tournament medalist, started the afternon round with a lead of 4 up on Kauffmann, the defending champion, and some 1,500 links fans in the wake of the star performers were keyed up to a high pitch of excitement as the champion fought to wipe out his rival's lead and retain his crown.

GRAHAM UNDER PAR

Graham gained his rather commanding lead this morning by shooting a great 65, one under par, to Kauffmann's creditable 69. Great chip shots that often enabled him to get down in one putt, permitted the medalist to slip under perfect figures.

Two fine pitch-and-run shots enabled Kauffmann to bag a birdie 3 at the first and a par 4 at the second hole, and the champion was 2 up as they went to the third tee. Graham missed a short putt for a win at the third, and they halved the hole in 5s. The fourth and fifth holes were halved in uneventful par 4 and 3, respectively, but Graham won the sixth with a par 3 when Kauffmann missed a putt of less than three feet.

The medalist squared the match at the seventh when he got down a chip shot from four feet off the green for a winning birdie 2, and he forged to the front for the first time when another fine chip shot enabled him to get down in one putt at the eighth. Kauffmann here took par 4 to Graham's birdie 3.

Graham bagged his third successive birdie at the ninth when he drove to the edge of the green and found the cup in two putts. Carl's chip shot was somewhat short and he took a par 4 to be 2 down at the turn.

BOB RETAINS LEAD

The tenth, eleventh and twelfth holes were halved in par, but the champion reduced Graham's lead to one hole at the thirteenth when a pitch-and-run shot that stopped on the lip of the cup gave him a birdie 3. At the fourteenth Kauffmann's chip shot was short and the medalist won with a par 3. At the fifteenth Carl drove the green while Graham was short, but Bob chipped close and got down in one putt while Carl three-putted and lost. Graham's great tee shot at the sixteenth stopped at the edge of the green, and Kauffmann drove out of bounds. Bob won with a birdie 3 and became 4 up. He maintained this advantage by matching Kauffmann's par 4s at the seventeenth and eighteenth. The cards:

Par out	4	4	4	4	3	3	3	4	4—33
Graham out	5	5	5	4	3	3	2	3	3—33
Kauffmann out	3	4	5	4	3	4	3	4	4—34
Par in	4	4	3	4	3	3	4	4	4—33—66
Graham in	4	4	3	4	3	3	3	4	4—32—65
Kauffmann in	4	4	3	3	4	4	5	4	4—35—69

John Jay Burke, local public links leader, issued instructions on deportment to the big gallery before the start of the match, and perfect order was maintained.

MRS. HUESSENER WINS

Mrs. Huessener scored a net 75 to cop the honors in the invitation tournament for women held at the Chartiers Heights Country Club yesterday.

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: THE BORNEO BELLE OF THE KYAN TRIBE—The Kyans, or Kayans of Barram, Sarawak, are a warlike tribe greatly feared by their neighbors. Like all natives of Borneo they have a perverted sense of beauty, to which the unnatural elongation of their women's earlobes is to be ascribed. (Reference: Any travel book or geographical text on Borneo.) EMIL VELAZCO PLAYED 1,024 COMPOSITIONS WITHOUT REPETITION—Mr. Velazco played the organ over Station WOR, Newark, N. J., 30 minutes a day, five times a week, for a period of six months. He averaged eight compositions for each broadcast during that time, and never played one composition a second time.

TOMORROW—IMMUNE TO POISON!

W. VA. TENNIS PLAY OPENS

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN,
Staff Correspondent.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Aug. 29.—Racqueters from West Virginia, Western Pennsylvania and Maryland swing into action here today in the second annual Morgantown Country Club invitation tennis tourney. Men's singles play is the feature of the morning and afternoon program and, with entries in the neighborhood of three-score, including a flock of the fastest performers in the Tri-State District, primed for the competition, vast quantities of keenly fought contesting may be looked for.

The men's doubles event will begin tomorrow morning, with women's singles slated to start in the afternoon. It is also likely that there will be mixed and perhaps even women's doubles, addition of these latter-named divisions depending upon the numbers and inclination of the feminine aspirants.

ARKLE RISKS CROWN

B. F. Arkle, blonde Wheeling ace, who cavorted for the Pitt Freshman squad a couple of seasons ago, is carded to defend the crown he bagged in the 1929 Mountaineer event. His chief rivals will be Sam Cohn, brilliant Beckley, W. Va., stylist, who holds several decisions over him; Stump Friedrichs, Wash-Jeff flash of 1923-24-25, and at present a student in the West Virginia University Law School; Bill Abrams, hard-hitting Wheeling husky; Bill O'Loughlin and Jack Lauler, crack Pittsburgh Athletic Association drivers; C. P. Trask, Charleston veteran, who enjoyed high National ranking before the Great War; Red Brown, Davis-Elkins luminary and West Virginia state intercollegiate champion; Bill Weber, Clarksburg court leader.

Senator Wright Hugus, undoubtedly the most prominent netman ever produced in Wheeling until he forsook the game for the political arena, is on hand,

In the eight round semi-final Johnny Chiodo, 128, of Johnstown, Pa., outpointed Kid Cosden, 125, Cordova, Md.

Local Police Star Third in Shoot

CAMP PERRY, O., Aug. 29.—(AP.)—James E. Davis, Los Angeles, Cal., policeman, late yesterday won the Hardy left and right hand pistol match for peace officers at the national rifle and pistol tourney here, with a score of 265 out of a possible 300 points.

One point behind Davis came George A. Marshall, Portland, Ore., policeman, with 264. John H. Young, of Pittsburgh was third with 262, and Alfred Heming, Detroit, won fourth with 259.

The Hardy match was fired at distances of 25 and 50 yards, five shots from each stage for each hand, with one minute allowed for each 50 yard shot and 20 seconds for 25 yards.

LITZ, CANTLON SET PACE

ALTOONA, Aug. 29.—Deacon Litz, DuBois speed ace, rounded the mile and a quarter oval at 120.3 miles an hour yesterday to be the first to qualify for Monday's 200-mile championship auto race and set the pace for the first day of trials.

His closest competitor, Shorty Cantlon, holder of the world's record for four-cylinder cars of the type he is driving here, made the lap at 117.8.

Lou Meyer, champion in 1928 and 1929, unofficially beat Litz's time in practice by motoring at 123.4 miles an hour, but on his qualifying lap he was clocked at only 115 miles an hour.

Mel Kenealy was third in the lineup, completing his lap in 117.1 miles an hour. Russ Snowberger, Philadelphia, was next best at 115.3; Phil Pardee, 114.1; Lou Schneider, piloting the famous "Flaming Chariot" in which Winnai and Terry were wrecked Flag Day, 109.2.

The commission suspended those connected with the bout, including Baer, Toby Irwin, referee; J. H. Lorimer, Baer's manager; Ray Carlin and Frankie Burns, seconds; C. E. Working, Campbell's manager; Tom Maloney, Tillie (Kid) Herman and Larry Morrison, seconds of Campbell.

Game starts at 3:30.

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

Our Pirates are riding high, but with the pitching staff on the verge of a collapse again, the Ensmen face a four-day crisis, for in that time six battles must be played with a hurried jump to Cincinnati and back included.

Victors in both battles of a doubleheader yesterday, the Buccos will meet the Reds in a single engagement this afternoon. Two battles with the Reds are on the home card for tomorrow with a single contest Sunday in Cincinnati. After this game is played, the Freebooters will hurry back to meet the Cardinals, new National League sensations, in the Labor Day games.

KREMER WINS 19TH

Remy Kremer hung up his nineteenth victory of the season in the first clash of yesterday, but it was a different Kremer who left the contest after pitching the fifth inning. The veteran showed signs of cracking under the strain which has been his over a long period. Besides taking his regular turn, Remy has been called on ahead of time. He seemed to lose his stuff in the fifth inning and Manager Ens wisely sent Glenn Spencer to his rescue.

Spencer has a very bad left knee and is in no shape to pitch, yet he went in and held the fort as the Buccos eventually won, 16 to 12, in what the score indicates—a batting contest.

Steve Swentoic, who recovered his health just in time to prevent a total collapse of the slab staff, was the master of the Rhinelanders in the second game and the home boys copped this contest easily, the score being 11 to 2.

FRENCH TO HURL

Larry French must go to the mound today, although French worked nine innings against the Cubs on Tuesday. It will be a big thing for the club if Larry can get through the contest in good shape as Ens would have to call upon Spencer again for the relief trick and he doesn't want to do this. Ray Kolp is due to work for the Reds. Charlie Wood will work one of the Saturday contests and if Ervin Brame is able he is likely to be in the other. Brame's left hand is still bad, but he is able to pitch even if he is handicapped at the plate where his services are often desired. It is said that Brame made his four hits of Wednesday while practically swinging with one hand. Anyhow, they were all singles and Erv when he has the use of both hands does not confine himself to one-basers.

Andy Bednar, of Wichita, was supposed to report to the Pirates in Chicago, but just as he was getting ready to leave something happened in Wichita that caused the Wichita officials to dissent on the Bednar move. Their club is leading the league and apparently they don't want to see Andy leave. All of which is not so good for Jewel Ens.

Harry Heilmann's second homer, a boundary belt with three Reds on the sacks and two out in the fifth, was the wallop that really took Kremer out of the early game of yesterday. The Pirates had made so many runs in the first four rounds they were

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—It would be natural if I put on some war paint and pretended to be brave and claimed our Washington club would lick those Athletics yet. But Uncle Nick is too old for cosmetics and besides, he is smart enough to know that the A's are in. The other seven clubs are just bait for old Connie Mackerel now. Our Washington club will keep plugging right down to the end of the season, but we are just dancing with tears in our eyes and it ain't from hay fever, either. All we can say is just wait till next year, which you were going to do anyway.

Baltimore Wins In Legion Series

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 29.—(AP.)—A boy they call "Nutty" dashed across home plate at Russwood Park yesterday afternoon with a 10th inning run that brought Baltimore from behind for the second time to defeat New Orleans, 5 to 4, in the first game of the American Legion Junior world's series.

K. M. Landis, commissioner of baseball, President John D. Martin of the Southern Association, and Legion leaders, including Frank Barton, national adjutant, were in the stands. Landis threw in the first ball.

BULLETIN.

The Detroit Typos were leading the Cincinnati Typos, 9 to 7, at the end of six innings in their game at Magee Field this afternoon.

By TOM BIRKS.

Charley Radabaugh of Detroit was crowned International Union printers golf champion today when he turned in a fine 77 for the last 18 holes of the 72-hole tourney at the Alcoma Country Club. His total for the 72 holes of medal play was 326.

Eddie Gabelman of Cincinnati, 18-year-old apprentice, finished second, he taking an 82 today for a total of 328.

Jimmy Holland of Minneapolis took third prize with a total of 355, getting an 89 on the last round.

Detroit copped the trophy for the two-men team championship. J. G. Ryan of Detroit had a total of 369 and this with Radabaugh's 326 gave the Michiganders a total of 695.

When the last round started Gabelman had a lead of three strokes over the Detroit man. Both had the same score on the outward trek, but Radabaugh, showing a liking for the home nine in all his rounds, flashed a 36, Gabelman taking a 41. Radabaugh's card for the final round:

Real battles are promised the fans in the three baseball games scheduled for today. The big battle will be staged at Magee Field at 3 p. m., when Chicago and Washington clash.

The Windy City aggregation defeated the Senators twice last season, and the supporters feel that the boys can turn the trick again this afternoon. However, it is hardly possible that the Washington team will get so carefree as in the Forbes Field game. Washington has the best pitching staff of any team in the tourney, and pitching is going to count in the hectic games to come. This game was preceded by the Detroit-Cincinnati game.

LOCALS MEET N. Y.

At Frick playgrounds the Pittsburgh team will get an opportunity to avenge that Monday defeat at the hands of the New Yorkers. Skeets Nellican is going to send Brittan to the mound. New York will probably have Roche shooting them over again.

Should Chicago defeat Washington this afternoon the officials running the meet are faced with the possibility of having one team playing three games tomorrow. Practically every other tourney has been of seven days duration, but seeing that Pittsburgh has the Blue laws, Sunday baseball is taboo. So the schedule of seven days will have to be played in six.

WASHINGTON WINS

Another club went into the defeated ranks in the third round of the International Union Printers League tourney. The great Washington club, staging a great comeback in defense of its title, swamped Detroit by a 16 to 3 score at Magee Field in the only game scheduled yesterday.

It was the first defeat of the series for the Michigan club, and the game brought out all best baseball that the Senators possess, for a defeat would have eliminated the defending champs.

Washington went down to defeat at the hands of Chicago in the twilight game at Forbes Field on Wednesday. The champions assumed a worried look as the game started.

CHAMPS HIT HARD

However, the big bats started swinging and Tingstead was hit freely. Webb, a real veteran, was on the mound for the Senators. He mixed up a fine assortment of pitching and though Detroit got 12 hits, they were well scattered.

high mark last year was the 21-inning tussle on May 24, in which the Tigers defeated the White Sox 6 to 5. The all-time record in the majors is 26 innings. The Robins and Braves went that distance to a 1-to-1 tie on May 21, 1920.

Though the Bruins routed Burleigh Grimes in the seventh inning of the Marathon contest, they did not succeed in pulling the game out of the fire. Grimes has been the toughest pitcher in the league for them to beat. Since the beginning of the 1927 season he has defeated them 16 times while losing to them on only four occasions.

Al Grabowski

THE COMMITTEES in charge have completed arrangements for the big testimonial which the Polish baseball fans of Pittsburgh and vicinity will tender to Outfielder Adam Comorosky, of the Pirates, and Pitcher Al Grabowski, of the Cardinals, at Forbes Field next Monday (Labor Day) evening. Following the afternoon game of the holiday bill between the Buccaneers and Redbirds, the field will be taken by Polish Roman Catholic Union Settlement No. 5, of Pittsburgh, for a special evening baseball program and ceremonies in honor of Comorosky and Grabowski, each of whom will receive a handsome gift from Polish admirers in this section. In addition to the two guests of honor, Manager Jewel Ens, Capt. Pie Traynor, the Waner brothers, Pitcher Steve Swetonic, and several other members of the Pittsburgh and St. Louis clubs also will be present. After the presentations two teams of the Polish Roman Catholic Union Baseball League will meet at 6 o'clock in an important elimination game, the winner to play an outside club on a later date for district honors. The occasion will be the high spot of the season in Polish baseball circles, and a large turnout of Polish fans and other friends of Comorosky and Grabowski is assured.

Pie Traynor, Pirate captain, who collected five hits in as many times at bat in Chicago Wednesday, continued his strong hitting at Forbes Field yesterday as the Bucs took two games from the Reds. The bases were full when Pie came to bat in the fourth inning of the first fray. He slammed a single to right which scored L. Waner and Grantham, and then followed Comorosky home when Heilmann threw high to the plate.

WILSON MEETS JADERBERG

Francis Flynn, who started his local boxing venture at the Moose Temple two years ago as promoter, matchmaker, public relation man and sundry other positions, will make his open-air debut tonight at the Twenty-seventh Ward A. C., California and Superior avenues, North Side, with a double windup card backed up by two six-round bouts.

In the main 10-rounder, Jack Wilson, North Side middleweight, who is now doing his fighting for Red Mason, will encounter Al (Red) Jaderberg, of Jamestown, N. Y.

This bout has all the earmarks of one of those knock-'em-down-and drag-'em-out affairs, for both boys possess punches laden with knockout powder.

Jimmy Belmont, of Braddock, and Paul Oger, of Bellaire, O., are paired in the other half of the bargain bill. Belmont, in his last time out, scored a technical knockout over Al Becker at Hickey Park.

Mickey Solomen, of New Castle, and Billy Brent, Negro, of the Hill, box the second bout of six rounds, with Frankie Lands, of Youngstown, squaring off against Tony Anderson, of the Hill, in the opening bout. The show will start at 8:45, daylight saving time. Tickets for the show can be reserved by calling Ceder 9368.

Flynn also has his main bout lined up for his second show next Friday night. He has signed Jackie Rodgers and Soldier Dombroski, the fighting aviator, of Detroit.

Between Rounds

Chet Smallwood, pleasing Akron, O., southpaw, has been matched with Eddie Ruffman of Wheeling, W. Va., for the eight-round semi-final to the Jack (Buck) McTiernan-Clyde Hull bout at the Meyers Bowl, North Braddock, Tuesday night.

Tony Herrera, Mexican lightweight, of Chicago, meets Maxie Strub in 10 rounds at Erie tonight and he also will appear on the Freeman-Thompson welterweight title bout card in Cleveland next Friday night.

Billy Petrolle, the Fargo Express, will be one of the main bout contestants on the benefit show card for the widow of Paddy Harmon, creator of the Chicago Stadium, at the Stadium, September 11. Leo Lomski, the Aberdeen (Wash.) lightheavyweight, and King Levinsky, of Chicago, are in another 10-rounder. [illegible] Peters and Harry Fierro, Chicago bantamweights, box the eight-round bout.

Manuel Quintero, Tampa (Fla.) welterweight, boxes Pete Meyers at San Francisco tonight.

Frank [illegible], of the Pastorius A. C., meets Joe [illegible], of the Braddock Library, in one of the bouts at the bi-monthly amateur show at the Twenty-seventh Ward A. C., which is scheduled for Tuesday night.

ERICKSON GETS GIFT WIN OVER RODGERS

By JAMES MILLER

Winning seven of the 10 rounds, losing two and holding his foe even in one, did not bring victory to Jackie Rodgers, local Negro, last night in his fight with Johnny Erickson, New York Italian, who was handed the decision at Hickey Park, Millvale.

It was a hotly contested battle from start to finish, with both boys standing toe-to-toe whaling away with both fists. During all these inside exchanges, Rodgers had the better of it.

Both judges, Lou Meininger and Freddie Lux, voted for Erickson, with Al Grayber, the referee, justly voting for Rodgers. The latter's ballot could not change the outcome.

About the only real fighting that Erickson exhibited was in the sixth and eighth rounds, in which he jolted Jackie's head back repeatedly with short right hand uppercuts. Again, in the tenth round, he managed to do some punching to even up with Rodgers' early spurt.

RODGERS AGGRESSOR

Outside of these rounds, Jackie was his usual punching self, sinking his right hand deep into Erickson's side with resounding effect and forcing the issue at every stage.

This was the second tainted verdict rendered against Rodgers at the park this summer. The first was in his bout with Mike Dundee, when the judges called the scrap a draw, after Jackie had won practically every round. Now this one. Well, give the boys a chance, they are still young and may pull better ones as the years flit past.

The large crowd on hand cheered the decision and gave Erickson a rousing hand when he left the ring, while Rodgers, who by all rights should have been basking in the esteem of the gathering, received nothing but a chorus of cat-calls.

ERICKSON OUTWEIGHED

Rodgers outweighed Erickson by five pounds, scaling in at 126¼. The main bout was put on after the second six-rounder, due to the uncertainty of the weather.

Eddie Brannon, Hill Negro, fought Billy (Muscle) Scholes, of the North Side, with two bruised hands, in the semi-final, but this was not enough to stop him from winning the decision at the end of eight rounds. Brannon injured his hands last Tuesday night fighting Frankie Chatterton in East Liverpool.

Scholes, with his various poses and assortment of punches, could not reach Brannon with a solid blow during the fight, while Mike Ray's battler used an effective left jab and right cross to win. Brannon tipped the scales at 135¾ and Scholes 131.

In the third six-round bout, Sol Lippo, who recently migrated from Philadelphia, won a three-way decision over Jackie Griffiths, Negro lightweight, of the Hill.

BUTCH VICTOR

Mose Butch, Oakland, having a weight advantage of six pounds over Billy Campbell, of Brookline, won the decision in the second six-rounder. Butch had Campbell on the floor for the count of four in the first round.

Anastasio Vaquerio, of Panama, scored his first victory in two starts here, when he battered young Jackie Ruffner, of Kittanning, around the ring for three rounds, until Referee Al Grayber stopped the fight. It goes down as a technical knockout for the boy from the Isthmus.

Jack Henderson refereed the second and fourth bouts, with Grayber handling the first, third and main settos. Max Zeugschmidt and Steve Russell kept time. Dr. J. A. Munster was the commission physician and Harry Kiaas did the announcing.

PIRATES FACE SLAB CRISIS

still leading by three after Heilmann's punch had been struck. As the contest rolled on the Pirates added to their advantage and Spencer, on top of a bad start, was able to check the Howley entourage.

HARRY HITS PAIR

Heilmann's clean-up roundtripper was his second of the game. He drove one over the same fence in the first inning with one man on and later he connected with a double. In all he drove in seven runs and scored three others in this contest.

Bob Meusel slammed a homer over the left wall in the first inning of the opener. Gus Suhr found the range on the right-field stands for a homer in the eighth.

Red Lucas started against Kremer, but the sorrel-top star left the scene in the fourth. Johnson and Ash followed him to the mound.

Suhr was a batting hero of both contests. The firstsacker, who has been in a slump, came out of his hard luck while the Pirates were in Cincinnati and Chicago. Gush smacked the ball hard in the four games in these two towns, his homer in the last battle in Chicago playing a big part in the Pirate victory.

COLLEGE GRID STARS AWAIT ZERO HOUR

By JESS CARVER.

The zero hour for the college footballers is approaching. By the zero hour I mean the time when they'll hop to the business of real fall training. They shoved off at Tech yest'day. Pitt will entrain for Camp Hamilton Sunday and the Dukes will shoot the works next Wednesday. Charleyhorse time is here.

Its Monday and Chewsday, however, that the majority of the tristate district teams will open their camps. West Virginia and Penn State will be the only major schools to hold off, these two planning first workouts for September 8. West Virginia usually goes into camp at Jackson's Mill Labor Day, but since the Mountaineers have stepped out into the Big Six (Oregon and that crowd), they have to give up training camps and more than a week or so of preliminary drill.

The boys posed for the cameramen and the juniors and seniors made the usual tough faces at the sophomores at Tech yesterday afternoon as Bob Waddell put his Tartan linemen through their first paces. The drills were just those usual opening day things, a mere taste of what is to come.

ONE ON DRESHAR

After the workout, in the dressing room, Capt. Johnny Dreshar stepped over to the phone:

"Hey Rosenzweig," he yipped, "what's that Mary Blank's phone number?"

And in chorus, the rest of the linemen answered—

"Mayflower 1111."

Mike Getto, who has been summering heahabouts, hopped a choo choo yesterday for Lawrence, Kansas, where he'll enter upon his second season as line coach at the University of Kansas.

Getto, one of Pitt's greatest linemen, an all-American tackle if ever there was cream on your coffee, is getting a pretty piece of jack at Kansas, so they tell me, and ranks just about on a par with the head coach. They are going to install the Pitt system in its entirety there this year.

Another former Panther star, Luby DiMeolo, last year's captain, will get away Sunday or Monday for Farmingdale, L. I., where he will join Chick Meehan's coaching staff at New York University.

TRAINERS READY

While the athletes are getting down to work, the three local trainers are gathering together the paraphernalia of their calling. Bud Moore, at Pitt; Bert Munhall, at Tech, and Brew (Hot Foot) Jackson, at Duquesne, are very much on the jobs.

Machines for working out on white charleyhorses; machines for black and brown charleyhorses; machines for bay charleyhorses and machines for brindle charleyhorses; rolls of bandage for bum ankles, splints for busted snoots, adhesive tape for cauliflower ears and cracked ribs are being laid in and gone over by the trainers.

How sweet to their ears is the crashing attending the meeting of a couple 200-pounders.

MINIATURE GOLF NEWS

Indications that miniature golf here is preparing to move inside for the winter season are seen as under-cover courses near completion in every section of the city.

The first indoor 18-hole course to be ready for play is the Western, which opens tomorrow. This course, at Western and Galveston Avenues, North Side, contains several new hazards. Although completely under cover, rustic construction and a large fountain lend an outdoor atmosphere. A tiny course is provided to entertain children while their parents play. Par is 42.

Par of 42 on the Six Little Bees Dolly Links was beaten this week by Stanley [illegible], who shot 41. Other scores made at this course were: Sam [illegible], 43; Margaret Bannon, 45; Mrs. R. Donaldson, 51.

Six players beat the par of 42 at the Twin Orchards course this week with the following scores: Ralph Hoel, 39; [illegible] Hoel, 39; Leo Clarke, 39; Shorty Clarke, 38; R. G. Pender, 35; Theodore Rash, 37.

Players at the Sunset Cabins course have been doing some good shooting the past few days, as is attested by these low scores: W. R. Harris, 38; David Hill, 41; J. H. Carr, 41 and 47; D. B. Green, 51; J. Grover Miller, 46. Par is 42.

PAIR SUSPENDED

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 29.—Ace Hudkins and Jack McVey have been suspended indefinitely for their unsatisfactory bout in Los Angeles Tuesday.

WILLIAM A. SALZMANN, local golfer, joined the Hole-In-One club by holing his tee shot yesterday afternoon on No. 5 at the Schenley public links.

ROBINS TAKE SECOND WIN OVER GIANTS

Associated Press.

At least three teams in the National League apparently have no intention of letting the Chicago Cubs capture another pennant without a battle. With their successive triumphs over Brooklyn and New York, the Cubs seemed to be having things much their own way. Then along came the St. Louis Cardinals to cause trouble.

The Cards, who have been creeping up in fourth place for some time, moved into Chicago yesterday with a record of eight straight victories. Instead of following the example of their predecessors and letting themselves be knocked out of such a place, they fought through the major league season's longest game to make it nine straight with an 8-to-7 triumph in 20 innings.

GRIMES CHASED

For six innings Burleigh Grimes shut out the champions, while the Cards piled up a five-run lead. Then Grimes weakened and before Sylvester Johnson took over the mound duty, the Cubs had tied the score at 5-5.

Johnson finished the game for St. Louis, hurling 12 innings and giving only nine hits. And young Bob Osborn, who opposed him for the last nine frames, did about as well.

Brooklyn complicated the standing by taking second place from New York with an 8 to 7 victory. The Robins blasted Carl Hubbell and Pete Donohue from the mound in the sixth inning for seven of their runs, just enough to hold off a final Giant rally.

Pittsburgh's Pirates slammed out a pair of victories over Cincinnati, carry their winning streak to 10 victories in 12 games. A 16-hit assault in the first game offset the slugging of Harry Heilmann and gave Pittsburgh a 16 to 12 victory. Fifteen more wallops won the second game by an 11 to 2 count.

BRAVES BEAT PHILS

The Boston Braves, aided by Wally Berger's 31st home run, poled out a 13 to 10 victory over Philadelphia.

Washington's Senators continued their efforts to make the American League race resemble that in the elder circuit by trouncing the New York Yankees, 6 to 3, by virture of a five run rally in the sixth inning. The victory not only sent the Yankees 4½ games behind second place, but it reduced Philadelphia's lead to 6½ games. The Athletics ran afoul of some of the great pitching the last-place Boston Red Sox have been getting from time to time and lost a 2 to 1 decision as Hod Lisenbee outpitched George Earnshaw with a six-hit performance.

The tie in games for sixth place in the standing cropped up as the St. Louis Browns continued to outplay the Detroit Tigers, gaining a 9 to 1 victory. The Chicago White Sox, after pulling ahead at Cleveland's expense, dropped back again when opposed by Wesley Ferrell. The big Indian hurler, getting his usual assistance in the form of five runs in the opening inning, won his twenty-third victory of the season and his twelfth in succession by a 10 to 5 count.

Eddie Jacobs Loses In West Va. Play

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Aug. 29.—(AP.)—The battle of the courts in the Southern West Virginia open tennis tournament went into the last stages yesterday, with Ted Burwell, Sewanee, Tenn., and Jake Hess, Fort Worth, Tex., emerging as contenders for the championship which will be decided today.

Burwell, defending champion, took his semi-final match from Archie McCallum, Cincinnati, 3-6, 7-5, 6-0, and Hess, forced to fight all the way, was the victor over Eddie Jacobs, Pittsburgh, 4-6, 6-4, 6-2.

Football Contest Blank

Can you recall the Pitt football stars of yesteryear? If you are acquainted with the prowess of the gridiron Panthers, why not select an all-time Pitt eleven and win choice tickets to games which Pitt will play in the Stadium this fall?

James J. Long, sports critic and columnist, is to select the team which will be regarded as "official." Match Mr. Long's team and you will receive a season ticket to Pitt's home games; disagree with Mr. Long regarding the merits of one player and you and a friend will be "armed" with Pitt-Notre Dame game credentials. For information regarding other prizes, and comment regarding the feats of Panthers of the distant and not-so-distant past (which will be very helpful to contest entrants) read the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph's sports columns each day.

Fill out the attached contest blank today and mail it to the Football Contest Editor.

HILL CLIMBING NEW WRINKLE IN CONDITIONING OF SKIBO LINEMEN

A novel training act was introduced by Coach Bob Waddell as Carnegie Tech linemen inaugurated the football training campaign at the Tech field yesterday. Figuring that hill climbing will strengthen their leg muscles and give them more drive, Waddell sent his stalwart forwards charging up a steep bank of the Bowl.

TARTANS LIVE IN TENT AND BECOME MEN OF WIDE OPEN SPACES

The Carnegie Tech football camp is of the good oldfashioned variety in that the boys are living in tents while the conditioning work goes on. More fresh air and more peace and quiet when peace and quiet are wanted were the ideas which prompted Waddell to house his huskies under canvas.

SOCCER LEAGUE FRAYS CARDED

President Frank Mincher, of the Honus Wagner Pittsburgh Central Soccer League, has announced that the league will open its season on September 13. Following are the games for the first week: Pierpoint Motors at Crafton Heights; Sons of St. George at Pittsburgh Celtics; Pittsburgh Rovers at Clan Douglas, and Union Switch and Signal at Mesta Machine.

The successful meeting held at Bridgeville Wednesday evening when Honus Wagner organized two more soccer leagues shows that the sport is far from being dead in the Panhandle district.

The revival of the old Keystone League certainly will help the sport, and the introduction of the Panhandle Junior League should also give the game a necessary boost.

For some reason or other, the West Penn Football Association was badgered into sending out an ultimatum to teams to prevent them attending the meeting. This will be carried to the United States Football Association in due course of time.

The initial meeting of the Chartiers Valley League found three clubs in attendance. Despite the fact that there was not a quorum to vote on the election of officers, the teams were given the impression that they must elect a delegate to the West Penn.

How can any league without officials and without a membership with paid dues, and with none of the teams having a forfeit up, elect officers or transact any business? Let the West Penn Football Association ask themselves if the first meeting of the Chartiers Valley was legitimate, and concern themselves with that particular question.

A four-run attack in the first inning and some timely follow up slugging from then on enabled Book Shoe, first half champions in the City League to defeat Homewood, 8 to 6 in the first game of the league's championship playoff series at Olympia Park last evening.

Fine support backed Gus Otey's pitching. The latter was touched for 13 safe hits, but Homewood was blanked in four of the seven innings.

along with Roth Johnson and George Dudderar, Morgantown's main home contenders; and the wandering Greensburghers, Don Snyder and Dillinger Hixson.

Though local milling will be pushed well forward before this evening, it is improbable that there will be much of a Pittsburgh flavor to the conclave until the morrow, the Steel City delegation having indicated intention of arriving Saturday morning and remaining over the week-end till the close of hostilities Labor Day afternoon. Among the Pittsburghers entered in the draw are, besides O'Loughlin and Lauler, Austin Famariss, flashy College Avenue southpaw; Miriam Sullivan, P. A. A. girl and recent winner of the Western Maryland women's doubles title; Betty Wattles, another highly capable P. A. A. racquetress; and Paul Sullivan, also of the Winged Head group.

Men's singles entries for the annual Beaver County net championships will be received by Chairman Howard E. Campbell at Beaver Falls 26-W until this evening. Tilting in the Beaver meeting will get under way at the College Hill Tennis Club, Beaver Falls, tomorrow afternoon and will be continued over Labor Day and through the remainder of the week. Already a large throng of Ohio Valley and Pittsburgh court devotees are enrolled for the affair and the inauguration of festivities should find one of the strongest fields in the long and honorable history of the tournament assembled.

Sam Keller, chairman of the revival of the Allegheny County championships, billed to commence on Saturday, September 6, at the Duquesne Library Club, Duquesne, Pa., will care for names of entrants by mail at 559 Sixth avenue, McKeesport, or by 'phone at McKeesport 8254.

LOTT, DOEG GAIN FINALS

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 29.—(AP.)—History repeated itself here yesterday when hard-driving George Lott and Johnny Doeg, defending champions in the national doubles tennis tourney, gained the final round by defeating those wise old veterans, big Bill Tilden and Frank Hunter, in a sparkling five-set match, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2, 9-11, 6-2.

Tilden used up most of his stamina in rushing to Hunter's rescue during the first four sets and when the finale rolled around he was so tired the champions blasted both of his services and clinched the victory early.

Lott and Doeg must upset Johnny Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison, Davis cup doubles team, tomorrow to retain their title, for those Wimbledon champions gained the last bracket with a four-set victory over another Texas-New Jersey combination, Berkley Bell and Gregory Mangin, by scores of 6-8, 6-4, 6-4, 6-3.

Because of the overtime men's matches, only two brackets in the semi-finals round of the mixed doubles could be filled. Mrs. J. D. Corbiere, Boston, and Fritz Mercur, Bethlehem, Pa., gained one of these berths by defeating Marjorie Gladman, Santa Monica, Cal., and Van Ryn, 6-4, 2-6, 6-4. The other became the property of Marjorie Morrill, Dedham, and Frank Shields, New York, when they they eliminated the Californian team of Josephine Cruickshank and Keith Gledhill, 6-3, 6-8, 6-1.

Betty Nuthall, of England, and Lott, the defending champions, were unable to play because of the latter's marathon play against Tilden and Hunter.

GEMS DEFEAT SCOTS; TIE FOR LEAD

Fairmont slipped back into a tie for the lead in the Mid-Atlantic League yesterday, defeating Scottdale while Clarksburg was losing to Wheeling.

A home run in the first inning by Sexton, with Casares on base, enabled the Fairies to defeat Scottdale, 2 to 0. The game from then on in was a hurlers duel between Beam and Chapman. Chapman allowed three safe hits, while Beam was touched for five, but he kept them scattered and did not permit the Scots to score.

Wheeling scored a run in the ninth inning to defeat Clarksburg, 6 to 5. A double and a long single scored the winning run with two out.

Jeannette went 10 innings to upset Charleroi, 7 to 6, at Jeannette. The Jays got off to a five-run lead, but the Guys rallied and tied the score in the ninth.

Johnstown lost another to Cumberland at Johnstown, the Colts winning 4 to 1 behind the fine hurling of Chase. Chase kept the Johnnies' 11 hits well scattered.

WESTERN DOGS RACE TONIGHT

Five greyhounds from the Far West will make their debut tonight at the New Kensington Kennel Club. They are Mate O' Mine, Musty Miller, Golden Rod, Blue Event, from California, and Polly Prim, from Montana.

The latter is owned by Mrs. T. J. Green, of Butte, one of the leading woman owners of dogs in this country.

All these dogs raced at the recent Butte meeting.

Alloon took a trimming in the feature event last night, his measure being taken by Hunters Home and Keno Thought. The Irish champion finished third, being in a jam at the first turn that forced him to lose several lengths.

Favorite raced in excellent form and the crowd got a great kick out of the sensational victory scored by Blended in the eighth race. He came from fifth place in the back stretch to win by an eyelash.

MON-YOUGH TO MEET

There will be a meeting of the Mon-Yough Valley Soccer League this evening at [illegible]. Teams from around that district, including Gratztown, Madison, Hermine, McKeesport and Elizabeth are requested to be on hand.

$500,000 BALM SUIT FOUGHT

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—(INS.)—Charges that she was friendly with other men were contained in the answer of Joseph B. Whitehead, heir to a large share of the Coca Cola Company fortune, on file today in the breach of promise suit of Annette Shelby Bracy. Miss Bracy asks $500,000.

In his reply Whitehead denied he had ever asked Miss Bracy to marry him. He designated the men he charged she was friendly with by their initials, but said he would reveal their full names if called upon to do so in court.

Whitehead said he met Miss Bracy on the steamship Olympic in January, 1925, when he was the husband of Marjorie Whitehead, but was separated from her. He said he was impressed by Miss Bracy's beauty and "the social status of her family in California."

He named by initials eight rivals between April, 1926 and October, 1929 including a "judge of Detroit."

Whitehead married Miss Laura Scoffield last February 14.

SEEK OBREGON NUN'S RELEASE

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 29.—(AP.)—A petition for revocation of the sentence imposed upon the nun Concepcion Acevedo De La Llata, accused of being the intellectual instigator of ex-president Obregon's assassination in July 1928, has been filed by her two sisters, Dolores and Josefina, in the Supreme Court.

The petitioners allege there were irregularities in the trial of their sister. The accused woman is imprisoned on the Islas Marias, serving a 20-year sentence.

5,000 Homes Burn In Chinese Town

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—(AP.)—A Shanghai dispatch to the New York Times today said telegraphic reports from Chungking, Yangtze Kiang City, in Szechwan Province, tell of a colossal conflagration there in which more than 5,000 houses, shops and warehouses, were burned. The origin of the fire was undetermined, but Communists are suspected.

SIX STARS SUED FOR U. S. TAX

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 29.—(AP.)—Income tax liens were filed today against six motion picture stars, whom revenue agents alleged failed to make complete returns on their 1929 earnings.

Among those named were John Barrymore, cited for alleged failure to pay $28.21, Norman Kerry for $140.08, Olive Borden $519.95, Ford Sterling $1,086.42, Alice Day $306.59 and William Collier, Jr., $284.55.

Junior Golf Men Try 'Curfew' Ruse

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—(AP.)—When miniature golf courses close at 11:30 o'clock every night in obedience to District of Columbia law, they must stay closed until daylight, anyhow, otherwise the spirit of the law will be invoked to do what its word does not. Enforcement of the closing hour regulation recently defeated passionate devotees of their late putting. Operators found the law said nothing about the legal hour of opening and after a few minutes of darkness turned on the lights and let the players in again.

Court Orders Inquiry In Philadelphia Vote

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 29.—(AP.)—Judge Harry S McDevitt in Common Pleas Court yesterday directed George W. Geasey, supervisor of the election recount, to issue subpenas for election officers in 20 or more divisions where a discrepancy has been found in the May 20 primary. The action followed a conference between Judge McDevitt and Deputy Controller S. D. Wilson, city campaign manager for Gifford Pinchot, who submitted a list showing a wide difference between the official figures and the recount under the direction of Geasey.

WATER BATTLE BY WOMEN

A water battle for the championship of the county will be staged by the women volunteer fire fighters of Chalfant and North Braddock boroughs Wednesday night in Dravosburg.

The neutral section was agreed upon at a meeting of representatives of the two departments. The teams have fought twice before, each winning a battle. The event next Wednesday will be a feature of the four-day bazar of the Dravosburg firemen.

CO-ED MURDER STILL BAFFLES

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 29.—(AP.)—The attempt by Mexican and American police to solve the mystery which surrounds the slaying of Lois Kentle, University of California co-ed, and her fiance, Francis Conlon, stabbed to death on the beach at Ensenada, Mexico, shifted to Los Angeles today.

Maj. Louis Farrell Cubillas, personal representative of Gov. Jose Maria Tapia, of the northern district of Lower California, and Jack Tillery, San Diego County deputy sheriff, came here last night by airplane.

They suspected the young couple were slain by a jealous acquaintance of the girl, who had traced them to their camp at Ensenada.

Although relatives of the girl said they knew of no admirer but Conlon, the Mexican official declared the manner in which Miss Kentle was buried indicated that her slayer had treated her with a degree of reverence not displayed toward Conlon. The latter's body had been rolled carelessly into its shallow grave in the sands.

WIFE KILLS TWO MAKING RUM

PORT ORCHARD, Wash., Aug. 29.—(AP.)—A double slaying, attributed to a rum feud, was explained, Deputy Sheriff A. D. Corliss announced today, by a wife's confession that she killed her husband and his hired man to put an end to their manufacture of liquor.

The wife, Mrs. Julia Lee Christianson, 36, the officer said, admitted ambushing her husband, G. L. Christianson, and John Higebar, as they were at work in a woodshed, where officers later found 102 gallons of whisky. They were shot to death Tuesday.

Mrs. Christianson, 27 years younger than her husband, was quoted as saying she killed Higebar to prevent his telling of the murder of her husband.

Employer Separates Raquel And Greta in Paris

CHAPTER XXXIX.

Raquel's first impression of Paris was that of a long platform clogged with people who shouted and gesticulated. Who laughed and cried with equal ease. And who ran wildly around in circles without seeming to go any place in particular.

Her next impression was of hundreds of horns shrieking their protests through a turmoil of traffic that looked as if it could not be disentangled, but that finally unsnarled itself and rolled away at a high rate of speed.

"Well, here we are," burbled Greta, when they had edged their way through the turmoil on the platform. "I expected the Markeeze of Dubonnet to meet me, but maybe the Markeeza wouldn't let him."

"The Marquis of what?" asked Raquel. She never knew when to take this mischievous Greta seriously.

"Dubonnet, dearie. Dubonnet. You don't know him? I'm surprised. But you'll meet him. He's all over the place, in letters as high as your best silk hat. Good egg on a party. Lively. Very, if you stick with him long enough."

Alphonse motioned them to follow him. A car had drawn up just ahead. A long, closed car the color of coffee with plenty of rich cream in it. A chauffeur in brown livery alighted and greeted Alphonse with a succession of quick bows that bent stiffly from the waist.

Girls Must Separate

"Look," whispered Greta. "Alphonse has trotted out the pride of his motor stable. That one's a Spanish Sneezer. Some little wagon."

The interior of the car was deep and soft. Suede leather of a shade lighter than the body. Dull bronze fittings.

"Everything he has is perfect," Raquel thought, sinking back into the cushioned leather.

"I've arranged for your hotels," explained Alphonse, assuming his ultra-official tone.

Hotels?" Raquel's heart skipped a beat.

He was going to take Greta away. Separate them. There would be no Greta with her funny talk and her irrepressible spirit of fun and frolic to dull the edge of her loneliness. But this morsel of friendship was to be denied her.

"I have decided it would be advisable to make a showing in two places," Alphonse went on glibly. "You will be much observed. Especially when it is known you represent the creations of Chez Alphonse. By placing you separately, we pique the interest in two places. You, Mademoiselle, will go to the Continental. And for you, Miss Greta, I have chosen the Ritz."

To Raquel the names were so many words. Yet they were more than words, she knew, when she caught the look of surprise on Greta's face.

"We first go past my atelier," he added. "I must stop there. You wait, for only a moment."

Raquel Puzzled

The "atelier" was in a fine stone building fronting on a broad street that flowed toward a great arch spanning it on the horizon.

"Didn't I tell you?" Greta demanded, when they were alone in the car. "The Continental! You won't grab off any Vanderbilt orders there. And little Greta draws the Ritz, no less."

"What is it like—this Continental?" Raquel asked, alarmed.

"Don't worry, dearie," Greta said. "It's respectable. Too darned respectable. Regular old homestead. Quiet as Main Street after dark. But when it comes to the show-off—wonder what his idea is in parking you there?"

"Perhaps he thinks it is safe. I'm a stranger, you know."

"It's safe, all right. Of course, he figures on getting you away from my bad influence. He wants to hide you, that's his game. He knows you won't stay put long in the Ritz."

"But why should he want to hide me, if I'm to show his models——"

Greta giggled. "Now I'll ask you an easy one," she said. "You're private stock. He's saving you for himself."

"If I thought that," Raquel flared, "I'd refuse to go to this——"

"Kone-tee-nen-tahl. The accent is on the last syllable, as in cash. Take it easy, old dear. Don't start a riot before the fun begins. Just you run along as if you were Witless Winnie in person. I'm just around the corner from you. And I've got good eyesight. I'll tip you off to the news. This frog can't pull any rubber checks on little Greta, nor you either, if you say so."

Greta Disagrees

"I'd rather have it out now, tell him I'm going with you——"

"Nothing doing. Do you want to get me shipped back to Broadway, C. O. D.? Keep your jewelry on, dearie. No one's held us up——yet. Sssh. Here he comes. Act natural now——yes, that's the Arc de Triumph. Neat little package. It was put there so's you'd know when you got into the Bois de Bologna, which is some grand little playground, believe me."

"We shall dine there tonight," said Alphonse, resuming his place in the car. He was in high good humor. Evidently only the best of tidings awaited him in his atelier, which, Raquel learned from Greta, was the French equivalent of a studio. It was here that Alphonse exhibited his works done in the name of that fickle goddess, Dame Fashion.

"Hurrah!" cried Greta gleefully. "Chateau Madrid. Won't Cinderella here go woozy over it? There was a geegalow there last summer—a geegalow is a hired man who dances for a dishonest living, dearie——"

"Then we shall dine at Amenonville," Alphonse said, curtly. "There must be none of these sleek worms. It is not the American custom."

Greta exploded: "My eye, it aint! With every fat mamma from Oshkosh to the Bronx tripping a mean fox-trot at so much per trot."

"You are free to do as you wish, but Mademoiselle will dance only with gentlemen."

"Huh. I like that. Why, geegalows are the most respectable amusement in Paris. Any girl who misses her grandmother goes right out to the Bois and drags grandma away from a boy friend who's teaching her a new step in the tango. Honest."

Reach Destination

Clever Greta. She had successfully dissembled her just resentment in a trickle of irrepressible fun.

The car glided to a stop in an open circle walled with a gray stone building. A tall shaft centered the circle.

"This is the Place Vendome," said Greta. "A as in oysters. My, how good it is to be home! I hope Mr. and Mrs. Ritz have waited up for me."

Raquel was to remain in the car while Alphonse saw that Greta was properly cared for. He was back almost immediately.

"Now that you are here, ma cherie," he said to Raquel, "we shall hope to keep you for a long time." His voice was unsteady. There was passion in it he could not conceal.

"I want very much to stay, if I find it—agreeable," Raquel said. There was a warning in her words, in her air of aloofness.

"Then we must make it—agreeable." He had sensed the warning.

They were midway in a street giving off the open circle. Yes, Greta was just around the corner.

They walked under an arch leading into a court. The court was set with tables under gaily-striped umbrellas. People sat at the tables sipping iced drinks. A long covered gallery opened on the court, circled three sides of the enclosed rectangle. They turned to the right, mounted a short flight of steps, and were in a hotel office before an ingratiating clerk.

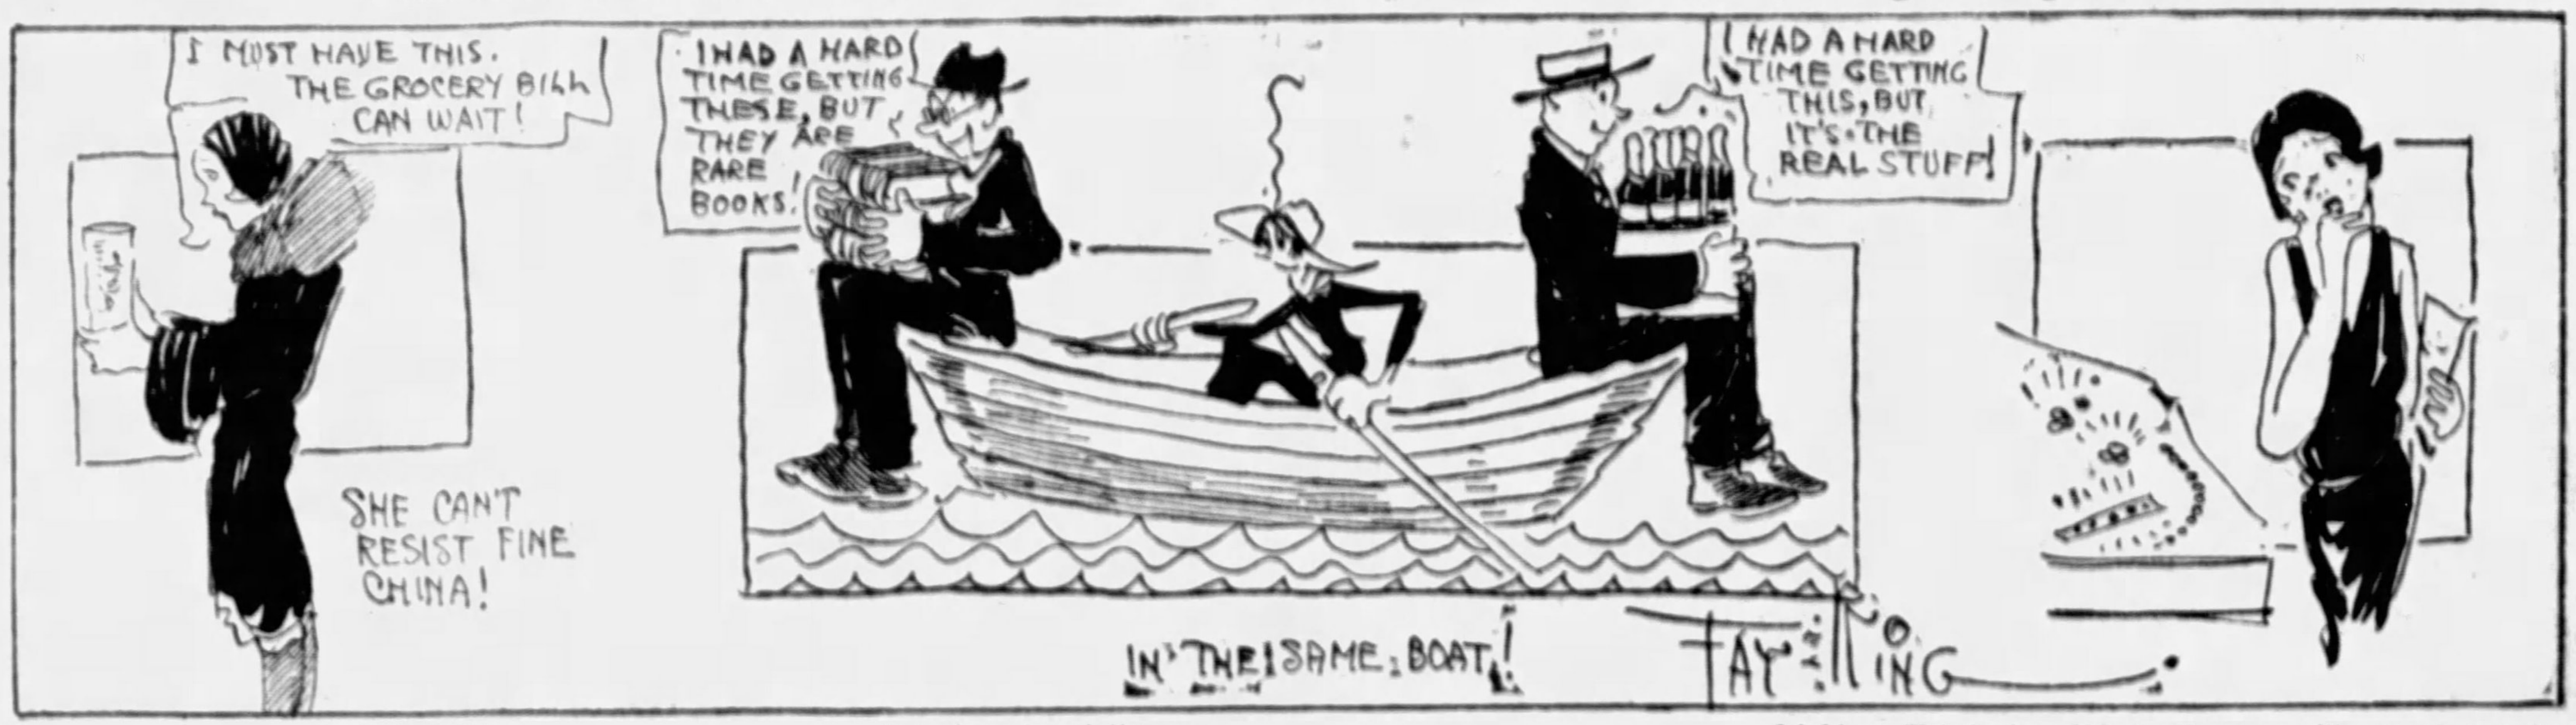
Consider Personal Faults Before Socking Other Fellow, Says Fay King



I MUST HAVE THIS. THE GROCERY BILL CAN WAIT!
SHE CAN'T RESIST FINE CHINA!
I HAD A HARD TIME GETTING THESE, BUT THEY ARE RARE BOOKS!
I HAD A HARD TIME GETTING THIS, BUT IT'S THE REAL STUFF!
IN THE SAME BOAT!
FAY KING

By FAY KING

Never condemn a weakness in another without considering and comparing your own weakness, which may be in another direction but to the same degree.

It is hard to understand how another cannot resist what to us is no temptation.

We can only understand by appreciating how difficult it is for us to resist what we prefer.

Anything carried too far becomes a fault.

Economy, which is miserly, is as bad as waste.

A woman heartily condemns a friend who could not stop drinking. Yet she herself lacks the same will power to cure herself of biting her fingernails.

One man's weakness is booze.

Another man's weakness is books. They are in the same boat, though one may not drink and the other may not read.

Continuation of Loves Awakening

The Journey Ends, and Madge Agrees to Act as Ambassador

As I walked out of the garage door in obedience to Harry Underwood's dictum to "hurry up and tell Lil my news from Robert Savarin's neighbor, I saw her figure and Mary's several rods down the road. It was but a second, however, until Lillian looked back, and when she saw me she whirled and came toward me. I saw her turn her head and speak to Mary as she started and when Dicky's young niece lagged behind her I knew that she had asked the girl to wait for a little before coming up to us.

I almost ran to meet her and as soon as I could make myself audible without shouting I called out: "All right dear."

She stopped, swaying a little, then came up to me at a pace as swift as my own.

"You're not fooling me?" she whispered then impulsively. "I beg your pardon, Madge, but I——"

"For what?" I retorted, with purposeful tartness. "Haven't we enough on hand without you cluttering up the place with social forms. You'd be much better employed in listening quietly to my news. Mrs. Hasbrouck says that Robert is no worse tonight, that she was talking to his sister just before I called. She will have two rooms, with two beds in each, and a hot supper for us when we get there. I stipulated for the extra bed so that I can sleep in either room, depending upon whether you want to be alone or have me in the room with you."

She put her hand on my shoulder.

"You never forget anything, dear girl," she said, a bit unsteady.

"Thank you," I said a bit gruffly, for I knew that she was perilously near an emotional breakdown, and that it behooved me to keep the conversation on as matter-of-fact a plane as possible. "Now here is something which I did without consulting you, but which I think is wise. I asked Mrs. Hasbrouck to tell Mrs. Cosgrove that we would be there tonight and to use her own judgment as to telling her brother we were coming. I hope you approve."

"I approve, unconditionally, anything you do," she said earnestly. "And now—did Harry get the gas? Are we all ready to start?"

"I am sure we are," I said. "Shall I tell Mary to hurry up?"

"Please!" she said tensely. "It's my fault she's loitering. I asked her to wait until I had talked to you. I don't know what she'll think."

"Does it matter?" I asked, and, on the word, turned and signaled to Mary, who promptly accelerated her pace and caught up to us as we were climbing into the car.

"How about it, Mary? Want to sit with me again?" Mr. Underwood queried, and I knew that he must consider there was no further danger of espionage from the detective he had shaken off below Tarrytown.

But it was not until after we had reached Mrs. Hasbrouck's hospitable roof that I found out what means he had employed for getting rid of the man. When Lillian, Mary and I had been shown to our rooms and Mrs. Hasbrouck had gone down to her kitchen to give the final touches to the warm supper she had promised us, Lillian shut the door of her room, where I also had put my bag, leaving to Mary the smaller room adjoining and faced me tensely.

"Madge," she said, "I can't go over there first this way, after so long, and see Mrs. Cosgrove. She—must—hate—me for what she naturally considers my injustice to her brother. Will you go over and see her first?"

"Of course," I said promptly. "I'll have time while Mrs. Hasbrouck is getting supper. But I'm sure you are mistaken about Mrs. Cosgrove's feeling."

"I hope so," she said, but with no conviction in her voice, and with no further comment I left her.

Her husband was standing just outside the front door when I came out. "I've been watching for you," he said. "Where are you going?"

I told him what Lillian had asked me to do, but withheld her fear of Mrs. Cosgrove's disapproval. His keen perception, however, read what I withheld.

"I can imagine this sister wouldn't be very keen about seeing Lil," he said, "but you'll be able to smooth things over. But that isn't why I wanted to see you. I want to thank you for the way you played up about that detective and to spill you what few beans I've collected about him."

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Saturday, August 30

While this day will be lively enough, with much stirring, yet it may not be considered one of unalloyed success or progress. Employment, new undertakings, finances are all under hazardous astral influences and there is a strong disrupting and devastating force at work. Nevertheless, determination and perseverance will reap reward and some subtle or peculiar influence may assist to save the day.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a year in which determination, persistency and patience, as well as hard work may be required to offset many perils and disruptive forces in business, employment and new undertakings. It may be that some sudden inspiration or stroke of genius or strategy may prove to be a saving grace when things appear darkest.

A child born on this day should be steady and persevering, as well as given to bursts of genius or strategem which may assist it to surmount many difficult or perilous places. It should be given careful training.

The Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND.

Why Men Stay Young

There is nothing like a long-drawn-out love-affair to age a woman and rob her of all her color, personality and pep.

Sometimes, I wonder why so many sensible girls permit themselves to be entangled in these soul-deadening, "now-you've-got-me-and-now-you haven't" affairs, which keep them hovering on the edge of uncertainty, and usually end in a blind alley.

Love is the most important thing in life, to a woman. But, like homeopathy, it has a primary and a secondary effect.

* * *

Just at first, falling in love, like a facial massage, completely transforms and transfigures a woman. But, after a while, it is apt to leave her looking more saggy and wan than ever.

Marriage is different. It is more like a beauty diet. A husband is a sure thing. He couldn't possibly absorb a woman's thoughts, wear out her nerves, keep her on the ragged edge and spoil her beauty sleep as a sweetheart or a fiance does.

A husband may TRY to establish a dictatorship over a woman's thoughts, life, habits, clothes and amusements — but only a sweetheart really succeeds. Only a sweetheart can manage to transform a girl into a solitary island, completely surrounded by his own personality.

The most brilliant and dashing of women will gradually fade into a pathetic little colorless echo, under the shadow of some man's perpetual domination.

And when at last she has become just a reflection or a nonentity, and the last vestige of her individuality has disappeared, perhaps he marries her and she is "sunk."

Or, perhaps he doesn't marry her—and she revives

That is why most men stay YOUNG so much longer than most women, even in these days of cosmeticians and plastic surgeons.

A man never permits LOVE to absorb, dominate and obliterate him. Not for more than a few weeks.

He never "settles down" to any one woman, until he marries; and sometimes, not even then. With him, it is "just a little love"—and then another little love.

* * *

A man is always "in love"—but never deep enough in love to be utterly submerged by the waters of oblivion. But, a woman always plunges off at the deep end, and just floats aimlessly around, until fate or the man rescues her.

CORRECT MANNERS

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

To the Winner Belongs the Prize

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

At a bridge shower given in honor of a recent bride, the girl who won first prize was told by the hostess to give the prize to the bride, as it was the proper thing to do. The hostess did not give the bride a gift. This is the first time that I have ever seen or heard of this and wish to ask if this was not a breach of etiquette on the part of the hostess. At all previous showers where bridge was played, the hostess gave the bride a gift and those who won the prizes kept them. Is this not correct? M.

I agree with you, that it was a decided breach of form for the hostess to request that the guest who had won the prize should give it up to the guest of honor. The person who wins a prize should keep it, or at least allowed to keep it. It is not necessary, even, that the hostess give the guest of honor a prize.

Announcing a Quiet Wedding

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

As we have no parents and no near relatives, my fiance and I have decided to slip away and be married in Reno, Nev. I have my engagement ring, but am not wearing it, as we do not intend to tell anyone of our plans. Under these circumstances, what kind of announcement would you suggest sending our friends from Reno? We do not want any gifts and hope such an announcement does not call for them. H. R. M.

Under the circumstances there is no reason why you should not send to your friends the same kind of announcement—the formally engraved one—that is sent to announce a more conventional marriage. Unless you wish to send the announcement in the name of one of your relatives—even though not a close relative—they may be sent in the names of you and your husband.

Household Hints

Never allow anyone to kiss baby on the mouth.

If you should run short of ice over the week-end, add two teaspoonfulls of limewater to each pint of milk you are keeping and it will stay sweet over this short time.

Iron rust can usually be removed from lace by using lemon and salt and exposing it to the strong sunlight. However, if this is not wholly successful, why not dip the lace in coffee and make it ecru, thus covering any remains of the rusted portion.

TELL IT TO SALLY

By SALLY MARTIN

She Refused to Be a Wife After Giving Marriage a Trial.

Here's dynamite!

For here is something more than a startling letter. Here is an amazing bit of man's changing world. Here is one of those things that was bound to happen when women acquired freedom and funds. Most people reading this will say that it is a bad thing. A few—a very few—will say that it is a good thing. What will you say when you read this story of the woman who refused to be a wife after she had given marriage a six months' trial?

"Dear Miss Martin—

"Can you give me help in my strange problem?

"I am a man of 41—never married. A year ago I met a charming young widow of 29. I admired Sue from the first, and eventually fell in love with and proposed to her. She admitted that she loved me—but she said she would not marry me unless I consented to a six montins' trial marriage.

"I don't think I am any better than the next man, Miss Martin, but I admit this demand shocked me. A man may talk a lot of wild theories to the woman he respects enough to make his wife—that's different. I argued with her, but she steadfastly refused. So I agreed. We took an apartment together, and pretended we were married. Everyone thinks we are.

"We have now passed through our six months of trial marriage. I have been supremely happy during this time, and I think she has, too. She is a highly cultured, beautiful girl. She entertains my friends charmingly. She is a marvelously tidy housekeeper and a good cook.

"I not only love her, but I have complete trust in her. I have a fine position. Before we started living together she was a bookkeeper, so I have let her manage all our affairs, and cash all checks to show my confidence in her. She has the bank account in her own name. She is very thrifty and certainly knows how to save money.

"But, here's the rub. Although we love and respect each other; although we have proven that we can be perfect partners, she refuses to marry me. I have begged, pleaded and argued, to no avail. She simply says that she doesn't want to be married, and doesn't see why she should be forced to do so, unless she wishes. When I persist, she says that if I'm not satisfied, she will go back to work and we can still be friends.

"I can't seem to make her see my side of the question. Our present situation seems all right to her, but it is the last position in which I would want to continue. I was brought up to be a decent fellow. I don't believe in living like this, and if I hadn't been sure that she would marry me, I would never have gone into it, no matter how much I loved her. I feel that I'm wrong in every way. I announced my 'marriage' to my company when we started in together, because I wanted to treat her exactly as I would a wife, and I believe the checks should always be sent to the wife. My company gave me a nice raise. How can I now confess to them that I am not married?

"The whole affair is making me bitter and cynical. I think I should leave her—I can't bear the sort of life I am leading—and yet the thought of leaving her turns me into a coward.

"Miss Martin, can you possibly help me? Have you ever heard of a case like this? Do you think if I left her to go back to work, she'd wake up?

"DISCOURAGED JOHN."

Have I heard of such cases? Thousands of 'em, John. But usually they have been on the reverse. Nine times out of ten it is the woman who makes light of the protection of marriage and then wails—"I trusted him to do the right thing by me and he didn't! How can I stand my shame?"

And now you're finding, John, that a decent man needs and wants the protection of marriage quite as much as the decent woman.

What can you do? What you should have done at first . . . leave her. Refuse to share your purse or your companionship unless she becomes your wife.

I have also a slight, and perhaps a mean hunch, that if you tell her the money which now stands in her name is not her money at all—that a mistress can claim no property or cash under community rights—she may be much more disposed to think warmly of marriage.

But mind you, John, even while I'm giving you this advice, I'm not judging Sue's stand. Many will condemn her, but I can't. She's the product of a new world and a new freedom. And she's taking that freedom, as men once took theirs—asserting her right to love 'em or leave 'em as her fancy dictates. Financial security and independence gave men that power, John. And they're giving that power to women now.

Is it a good power?

Has a woman a right to accept love, but refuse marriage, if she so pleases?

Will that make for better homes—fairer partnerships?

Or will it ruin homes and make love and loyalty empty names?

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Don't Neglect an Infected Wound.

I recently received a letter from a mother whose son had been very ill with tetanus. She wishes to know something more about this serious condition.

DR. COPELAND

Tetanus is an infectious disease, characterized by rigid, or unrelaxing spasms of the muscles. The more familiar name is "lockjaw," as the symptom commonly seen is a clamping or rigidity of the jaws.

Tetanus is generally caused by infection of wound. Occasionally cases have been thought to have been caused by inhaling infected dust, or by eating uncooked vegetables which were contaminated. The germ is found especially about stables, gardens or other places where the earth has been enriched.

Many cases followed wounds from cap pistols and blank cartridges used in celebrating the Fourth of July until the sale of these dangerous playthings was reduced by repeated warnings. During the World War many cases developed among the soldiers.

Usually the first symptom is a feeling of stiffness in the neck muscles. The stiffness spreads to the muscles of the jaw and of the face. The muscles of the throat become involved, causing difficulty in swallowing.

As the body muscles are affected and the spasms develop, the body may be so arched as to be raised from the bed, until only the head and heels are touching the bed. The spasms are accompanied by terrific pain.

To avoid trouble all wounds must be carefully looked after. If there is the least suspicion that a wound has been made by some infected article be sure to thoroughly cleanse the wound, enlarging it if necessary. Cauterization is desirable. As soon as possible tetanus antitoxin should be administered by your physician.

As the symptoms develop the patient must be kept quiet in a dark room. All irritations such as sudden light or sound, jarring of the bed, or even a light touch on the skin, must be avoided. They bring on the spasms.

Sleep must be obtained. To this end sedatives will be prescribed by the doctor in charge.

There is a valuable serum used to prevent or combat tetanus. Your doctor will tell you about it.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

Applications of castor oil will remove warts that suddenly pop into being. Castor oil contains ricinolic acid and that is what chases Mr. Wart off the premises.

Pretty ears are a priceless inheritance and can be displayed to advantage. For every pair of nice ones there are thousands that are no credit to the cause of pulchritude. There are ears that are as large as Cotuit oysters, ears with thick, heavy lobes, ears that point upward in a demonish fashion, ears that are so wide they are almost round, and ears that carry a perennial blush. All these should be curtained with hirsute lambrequins. They are not beauty bargains.

Tight brassieres should never be worn. Continued pressure destroys the delicate glands of the breasts. Vigorous massage is harmful. If development is desired, anoint with cocoa butter and massage lightly with flattened palms, pressure being firmer with the upward movement.

Dressing the hair becomingly on the forehead is important. The pattern of the wave lines has much to do with bringing out the beauty of the eyes. Pulling the hair down in the center of the forehead is old stuff now, though some women do it. Loops of hair pulled out over the cheeks are passe. The coiffure of today is chic because it is trig and neat, well patterned throughout. It clings closely to the scalp.

U. S. Total of Unemployed Moderate Compared With Other Nations

—By B. C. FORBES—

Mr. Forbes

IN THE FAR WEST, Aug. 29.—The official announcement that, by the census count, there are only 2,500,000 unemployed in the United States, should do more than any one thing to check the exaggeration which has been so grossly indulged in by pessimists.

By comparison with Britain to say nothing of Germany and other industrial nations (France excepted) that total is very moderate.

Allowing for a normal unemployed total of a million, which is commonly accepted as reasonable, we have only a million and a half out of work because of poor business conditions.

Does that justify Wall Street's blue funk? Does that justify talking and acting as if America had gone to the dogs? Does that warrant despairing head-shaking and gloomy forebodings (and forecasts) that prosperity can never, never possibly return?

ENFORCED IDLENESS is an affliction so heartbreaking that those who have never experienced it cannot form the slightest idea of its awful, devastating, devitalizing, harrowing, maddening, unbearable effect upon its victims.

The census figures, while far less serious than generally anticipated, should not be allowed to lull to indifference a single individual or agency charged in any way whatsoever with responsibility for exerting the utmost effort to ameliorate the existing unemployment. It is infinitely the worst blight upon our "capitalistic" system, a blight which, if not thoughtfully handled, might conceivably lead by and by to its undoing.

WHEN I ASKED Herbert Fleishhacker, dynamic San Francisco banker and enterpriser, for some brass-tack facts about conditions in his city, he enlisted the co-operation of the old-established house of Thomas Magee & Sons, recognized authorities on real estate, mortgages and building. Figures furnished tend to confirm that recent appraisals of general business conditions have been altogether too pessimistic. Also, they bring out the unusual wealth of the financial capital of the Pacific.

Detailed figures compiled by the Building Owners and Managers' Association show that San Francisco has only 8¼ per cent vacant office space. Returns collected in May give these percentages of vacancy:

Chicago	17.67
Philadelphia	18.80
St. Louis	11.49
Boston	11.62
Pittsburgh	6.63
San Francisco	8.339
Baltimore	9.09
Cincinnati	9.54
Detroit	23.73
Cleveland	14.34
Buffalo	8.20

THAT SAN FRANCISCO did not lose its head during the "Coolidge Boom" is reflected by these real estate sales recorded in recent years:

1920	$ 82,641,161
1921	80,863,796
1922	132,227,478
1923	156,188,428
1924	141,355,269
1925	182,907,216
1926	163,445,035
1927	144,793,397
1928	124,276,027
1929	96,794,815
1930 (First half)	45,910,915

SOME IDEA of the wealth of San Francisco is derivable from the fact that the value of land and buildings per capita has now reached $1,565.

"Recent comparisons with other cities are not available," it is explained, "but the following figures made several years ago are interesting:

New York	$1,675.54
Chicago	733.12
Philadelphia	1,031.58
St. Louis	914.37
Boston	1,762.25
Pittsburgh	1,383.79
San Francisco	1,388.54
Baltimore	585.02
Cincinnati	889.38
Detroit	708.74
Cleveland	951.53
Buffalo	768.25
Milwaukee	1,014.28

WOULD I BE in danger of being catapulted into an insane asylum were I to predict that in a few years our national and civic and per capita wealth will far exceed anything ever yet known?

P. S.—Wall Street papers please copy.

ATCHISON NET FOR JULY HIGHER

Increase in Operating Income Accomplished by Cut in Maintenance Expenses

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway's July report brings to light what may be expected from a number of railroads in the way of better net during the last half of this year, due to the carriers retrenching on capital improvement work entailing heavy charges against operating expenses and keeping maintenance outlay down to a better relationship to revenues.

Atchison's July net operating income of $8,182,508 shows an increase of $138,996 over a year ago, when including results of the Orient line not taken into Atchison system figures until August, 1929. This is the first month to show an improvement over corresponding 1929 period, net for the preceding six months averaging about $2,500,000 monthly under a year ago. The betterment is made despite the fact that gross revenues in July of $23,503,558 were $2,972,129 lower than in 1929.

MAINTENANCE PROGRAM

It could hardly be expected that Atchison management would continue the heavy maintenance program carried out in the first half of the year. While it is usual for this road to accomplish a greater portion of its road work before the heavy crop movement these expenditures up to the end of June were $500,000 ahead of a year ago, while revenues registered a decline of $16,812,421, or 13.56 per cent.

Maintenance of way and structure expenses for the six months totaled $21,698,715, or 20.2 per cent of gross, compared with $21,468,894, or 17.3 per cent in 1929. Equipment maintenance outlay at the same time was $24,461,414, or 22.8 per cent of gross, against $241,198,033 last year, or 19.5 per cent of revenues.

HIGHER CAR RENTALS

More idle rolling stock increased road's equipment rental debit balance to $1,623,766, compared with $547,697. In keeping with lower earnings tax accruals for the six months were $1,691,509 below last year.

Although net operating income reported by Atchison during the last half of 1929 was about $750,000 less than in the 1928 period the showing was better than the average, so considering the drop of $15,016,116 in net up to the end of July it may be estimated that Atchison can wind up the year with earnings of between $14 and $15 a common share. This would compare with $22.69 in 1929 and $18.09 in 1928.

THE PRODUCE MARKET

The demand for fruit and vegetables was slow today at the wholesale produce markets in Pittsburgh. There were no changes in quotations.

The poultry markets [illegible] firm, demand fair, supply adequate with few changes in quotations.

The butter, egg and cheese markets remained steady, demand good, supply adequate with slight changes in butter quotations.

Car lot supplies were normal with [illegible] cars on track. Arrivals included six cars of apples, 3 cabbage, 10 cantaloupes, 1 cucumbers, 4 grapes, 3 lettuce, 2 onions, 5 oranges, 15 peaches, 12 pears, 1 peas, 2 pineapples, 2 plums, 22 potatoes, 1 sweet potatoes, 3 tomatoes and 6 watermelons.

BONDS UPHELD BY MELLON

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—(AP.)—Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon in a letter to a group of bankers who have sold federal land bank bonds to the public declares the land bank system has demonstrated its fundamental soundness, and investors in the banks' bonds should not be disturbed by false or misleading information over the agricultural situation.

The letter was written in reference to a report being prepared by the syndicate managers on the banks and their bonds, an advance copy of which was sent to Mellon.

Mellon writes that the report reviewing the land bank situation after 13 years, is appropriate, and "timely in view of the current discussion of adverse agricultural conditions, and also should be helpful to refute much of the misinformation that has been circulated recently with respect to these banks and their securities, and which undoubtedly has misled and therefore disturbed some investors."

STOCK PRICES RISE IN DULL SESSION

Long List of Important Shares Shows Advances; Rails Come Back Strong

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—(AP.)—Bears who waited until the last day before the three-day week-end suspension to close out their short contracts found stocks could be bought only at increasingly higher prices in today's stock market.

Rails, which had been heavily sold by the bear crowd because of the low summer volume of freight traffic, the lowest in 8 years, made one of the most pronounced upturns of the summer. A long list of important industrials, utilities and merchandising shares made moderate headway. Trading was extremely dull, however, as many operators had already left town for the week-end.

Few important shares failed to gain as much as a point. Advances of 3 to 5 or more were recorded by American Tobacco B, Westinghouse Electric, Eastman Kodak, Coca Cola, Rock Island, Southern Railway and Canadian Pacific. In addition, Atchison, Union Pacific, New Haven, Air Reduction, American Telephone, Macy and Real Silk Hosiery gained 2 or more. U. S. Steel, trading ex-dividend, gained more than 2. Trans-American made one of the best gains since its transference from the curb, getting up more than 2 [illegible] announcement of expansion abroad. Packard, however, eased under considerable liquidation.

PRESSURE APPLIED

The bull leaders probably applied some pressure to the bear faction to give the list a firm tone at the end of the week. Prominent speculators for the advance have been hoping for a better market after Labor Day, but it is acknowledged that the extent of the progress to be made will depend upon successful restoration of public confidence in the stock market.

The day's corporate news was light, and inclined to be unfavorable, but it involved situations apparently already discounted. Most conspicuous were announcements of passing of the Oliver Farm equipment participating preferred dividend, and the Celotex preferred dividend.

The advance in the rails may have represented more than short covering for July earnings statements, while showing a reduction of about 30 per cent from last year, are running a little better than June as compared to 1929, and more than 60 class one carriers have already reported.

BROKERS' LOANS

Wall Street was inclined to place a decidedly favorable interpretation on the brokerage loan figures, showing for the second week a moderate reduction, for a period of rising stock prices. If the buying has been entirely of a professional character, as some of the more pessimistic observers have felt the figures indicate, that professionals were paying cash.

While a reduction of $26,000,000 is moderate, bulls point out that the volume of trading has been small.

Call money continued abundant at 2 per cent, as eagerness to place funds for the three-day period offset withdrawals to meet holiday currency requirements. The federal reserve condition statement showed a reduction in the volume of credit outstanding for the latest week. The system will be able to offset any credit tightening which may appear next week. The pinch of the month-end settlements is usually felt a few days after the first. A resumption of the gold movement to France caused no concern in banking circles.

Baldwin Locomotive Shipments Higher

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 29.—Shipments by the Baldwin Locomotive Works in August are expected to be in excess of $2,000,000, comparing with $2,525,000 in July. Business booked in August has been the largest of any month since last March, when bookings amounted to about $2,250,000.

An improvement in locomotive business is expected to develop in September or October at the latest.

Baldwin has sufficient orders on hand to maintain production at about $2,000,000 per month for the balance of the year.

Watch Steel Scrap For Improvement

Following increasing firmness in the scrap market, notably in the Pittsburgh district, during the past several weeks, an almost general advance in heavy melting steel scrap has taken place during the past week.

At this time of year the scrap market is watched closely for indications of fall improvement.

Waldorf System Retires Preferred

BOSTON, Aug. 29.—Directors of Waldorf System, Inc., have decided to retire at $11 a share 10,000 shares of 8 per cent preferred stock, $10 par. This will leave outstanding about 8,000 shares of 8 per cent preferred stock as the only obligation ahead of 461,610 shares of no par common.

Real Estate Mart Closed Tomorrow

Stock Exchange Topics

Choice Investment Issues Develop No Important Liquidation

The market has not developed evidence of further important liquidation in the choice investment type of stocks like Steel common, American Can, General Electric, American Telephone and shares of such caliber. There has, of course, been the usual liquidation of new speculative positions in such issues, but indications are that investment buying has been readily absorbing such offerings. It becomes apparent again that people who accumulated such stocks for their investment portfolios in the early post-war years still have little or no incentive to dispose of such holdings despite the fact that enormous appreciation accrues to them even at current levels. The return on the original investment in stocks like American Can, General Electric or Steel, for example, is eminently satisfactory and apparently preferable to the taking of profits and payment of a large part of the gain to the government in taxes.

Speculative interest is reported leaning to merchandising shares, since this group will be one of the first to enjoy a seasonable pick-up in trade. Woolworth, one of the strongly intrenched organizations in this field, is regarded as a logical leader in any general upturn of this list. Differing strikingly from most chain store companies, Woolworth is understood to have shown a betterment in profits over last year, despite a 4 per cent smaller gross business in the first seven months. In an analysis of this company's position, one banking source points out that with costs of merchandise declining it should become easier for Woolworth to resume its former rate of growth in earnings. When costs were higher, there doubtless was difficulty in maintaining five and ten cents prices and share earnings of $3.66 in 1929, $3.63 in 1928, and $3.67 in 1927 were almost stationary. These earnings, however, are 50 per cent over $2.40 dividend requirements.

Banking interests familiar with Warren Bros' affairs have officially stated that so far this year earnings are running well ahead of the 1929 showing, with every indication that net for the year will equal $6.50 a share on the common stock. This would be the ninth successive year of increasing earnings for this outstanding road building organization. Among the favorable factors stressed concerning the outlook for the latter half of the year are the continued ease in money tending to stimulate road building and the tendency to build more roads during periods of unemployment. The stock affords a return of slightly under 6 per cent at prevailing levels on the $3 annual cash dividend.

An encouraging feature of Thatcher Manufacturing Company's business is the increase in sales in August. After running behind the 1929 month during July, sales between August 1 and 25 showed a gain of 5 per cent over the 1929 period. At this rate it seems possible earnings in the second half year may bear the same ratio to first half earnings as obtained in 1929, when less than 40 per cent of the $921,189 net shown for the full year was earned in the first half. If this ratio should hold this year, net profit for the full year would amount to more than $800,000. This would cover annual dividend requirements of $1.60 a share on 131,826 common shares by a margin of about 75 cents after allowance for dividends on the preference stock. Thatcher is in a strong cash position. As of June 30 cash on hand amounted to $1,243,766, sufficient to cover common dividend requirements at the present rate for nearly six years.

Talk that the congressional campaign this fall may have some influence on the market, especially if the party in power suffers many upsets, is not agreed to in all quarters. It is argued that even such a development would have only temporary effect, especially if business indices are considered satisfactory around the time of the election.

Sentiment is still cheerful. Few expect the market to move ahead sharply in today's session, but they are anticipating an advancing trend next week if developments over the holiday are favorable. Scale buying on any sharp reaction is being recommended in the leading shares, while some are urging taking profits if the market enjoys a sharp upturn with the view of replacing holdings at moderate concessions next week.

BUILDING OFF FOR HALF

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—Building operations in the first six months of 1930 were 53.1 per cent below the corresponding period in 1929, according to the Monthly Labor Review of the Labor Department.

Permits were issued for building operations at an estimated cost of $736,591,196 in the first half of this year as compared with $1,570,145,411 for the similar period in 1929.

These estimated costs are based on information received from 85 cities with a population of 100,000 or over.

Residential building fared worse than non-residential building, the decrease in the former class being 72.7 per cent to less than $250,000,000 from more than $900,000,000. New non-residential building decreased only 25.9 per cent, dropping to $378,270,981 from $510,761,272.

In the Borough of Manhattan permits fell to less than $100,000,000 from over $400,000,000, and in Chicago total building operations were slightly more than $40,000,000 as against nearly $120,000,000. In Philadelphia the decrease was to $34,500,000 from $58,500,000.

SUGAR MAKERS CONFERRING

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—(AP.)—Thomas L. Chadbourne, chairman of the conference of American and Cuban sugar producers, declared that definite progress had been made by conferees toward establishment of balance between demand and supply in the sugar industry.

The conferences will be continued, he said, until a definite agreement has been reached upon the proposal by Cuban interests of a pact calling for curtailment of Cuban and American sugar production during the next five years in an effort to stabilize prices.

The conference is attended by representatives of the sugar industry in Cuba, the United States, the Philippines, Porto Rico and Hawaii.

Baldwin Elects Two New Directors

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 29.—Thomas Newhall and Joseph Wayne, Jr., were elected directors of the Baldwin Locomotive Works to fill vacancies created by the resignation of William L. Austin and the increase in the directorate to 16 members from 15. Mr. Newhall, a member of J. P. Morgan & Co. and Drexel & Co., was elected chairman of the board. Mr. Wayne is president of the Philadelphia National Bank. More Visitors at U. S. National Parks

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—America's national parks have had more visitors this season than ever before, the National Park Service reported, despite a decline in tourist traffic felt by railroads and other resorts.

Through the week ended August 9, a total of 1,942,541 tourists had passed through the national parks this season, an increase of 121,095 over last year. Bulk of the increase came from automobile tourists.

Only six of 21 national parks have shown a decrease. Among there were Yellowstone, where there was a 7 per cent drop; Glacier, 5 per cent; Grand Canyon, 6 per cent, and Hawaii, 23 per cent.

The greatest increase, 211 per cent, was reported at Grand Teton, newest of the park systems. The largest number of visitors, 371,794, passed through Yosemite Park in California.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—The curb market lived up to expectations today for a session that preceded a three-day suspension for the holidays. Price movement and trading were dull. A fairly steady tone was in evidence and here and there a stock attracted bids up to a point above the previous final.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

STOCKS PARALLEL BONDS

From the records of the past 40 years there is every reason to believe that this summer's rise in bond prices will be paralleled by a rise in stock prices, says the Alexander Hamilton Institute. A rising bond market precedes normally a rising stock market; a declining bond market is followed in normal cycles by a drop in stock prices. Ordinarily as stocks advance there is some shifting of funds out of the stock market. The usual medium for their investment is the bond market. Unless an investor wishes to keep his money idle and earning but a nominal return, bonds offer a medium for profitable use of his funds with some risk, but a risk not comparable to that of the stock market, according to the Institute.

SOFT COAL PRODUCTION

The weekly estimate of bituminous coal production in the United States, prepared by the National Coal Association from preliminary car loading reports from the railroads, shows a total for the week ended August 23 of 8,350,000 net tons. The tonnage mined during the corresponding week of 1929 was 9,971,000 net tons. Production for the weeks ended August 9 and August 16 was reported by the United States Bureau of Mines as 7,839,000 net tons and 8,169,000 net tons, respectively.

Mayflower Drug Sales Show Gain

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

SALES OF MAYFLOWER DRUG Stores Inc continue to gain. Uncertainty in the business situation has not had any noticeable effect on the organization's volume.

In July sales were 18 per cent in excess of the corresponding month of last year. May and June also recorded substantial gains.

The chain was formed in April 1929, so that no comparisons with corresponding periods of earlier years can be made previous to these months.

The company is operating 20 stores in the Pittsburgh district. Fourteen of these were acquired at the time of organization. Six stores have been added since that time as attractive locations have been secured.

Expansion Planned

MAYFLOWER PLANS TO INCREASE its operations in the future. Negotiations are understood to be under way to acquire several stores doing a large volume of business. The company has been proceeding slowly on its expansion program in order to make certain that new stores will be on a profitable basis from the start.

Earnings statements are issued only once a year. It is known, however, that preferred dividend requirements in the first six months of 1930 were earned by a good margin. Sales in the drug business are usually greater in the second half of the year so that 1930 may be expected to show favorable results for an organization which has recently been launched under highly competitive conditions.

Preferred Stock Retired

THE OUTSTANDING AMOUNT of $2 cumulative convertible preference stock has been reduced from 32,964 shares to 25,291 shares which increases the equity of the common stock in the organization's earnings. At present 139,715 shares of common are outstanding. There is no funded debt.

Each share of the preference stock is convertible into two shares of common until April 15, 1931, into 1½ shares of common from that date until April 15, 1933, or into one share of common from that time until April 15, 1935.

Cash Position Strong

THE BALANCE SHEET of June 30 showed the company to be in excellent financial condition. Cash alone was in excess of current liabilities. The company had $52,544 in the bank, $30,000 on call and owned marketable securities amounting to $85,003.

Total current assets of $555,480 were nine times current liabilities of $59,971. This was a marked improvement over the statement at the close of 1929 which showed a ratio of seven to one.

The holdings of cash and securities will permit the company to carry out expansion work which is now planned without recourse to any new financing.

Dillon, Reed Calls Chemical Bonds

Dillon Read & Co fiscal agent for the Ruhr Chemical Corporation, announce that $106,000 principal amount of 6 per cent sinking fund mortgage bonds Series A due April 1 1948 have been drawn for redemption October 1 1930. The drawn bonds will be paid by Dillon Read & Co at 100 and interest. At the option of the holders of these bonds the principal and interest may be collected in London at the office of M Samuel & Co Ltd in sterling or in Amsterdam at the offices of Mendelssohn & Co and Nederlandshe Handel-Maatschappij in Dutch guilders or in Zurich Switzerland at the office of Credit Suisse, in Swiss francs.

Giannini Interests Get Italian Bank

SAN FRANCISCO Aug 29 (AP)—Officers of the Giannini banking interests verified in substance cabled reports from Rome that the Italian bank Italo Bank Brittanico was about to be acquired by Banca D'America E D'Italia. Banca D'America E D'Italia, controlled by Transamerica Corporation, has headquarters at Milan and controls 29 branches in the principal cities of Italy. It was understood strong British interests said to be associated with Transamerica in the acquisition of Italo Brittanico will be represented on the directorate as well as in the executive management of the acquired bank.

Dullness Rules In Non-Ferrous Metal Parts

NEW YORK Aug 29. Trading in the markets for the important non-ferrous metals during the past week continued dull with little change in prices, Metal and Mineral Markets reports. Copper lead zinc and tin were all extremely quiet, but prices held quite steady. Producers are inclined to be pessimistic but feel that current conditions are as bad as they are likely to get.

Little actual change from a week ago occurred in the copper market. Consumers are not as eager to buy copper at 10½ cents as they were a week or two ago and sellers at that figure are beginning to quote it to possible buyers rather than parcel out the metal to favored customers. Any demand of consequence would likely absorb all the 10½ cents copper that is available for all large producers seem as firm as ever at 11 cents.

The foreign market has been quiet and unchanged.

Voting Trust for Celotex Company

NEW YORK Aug 29. A voting trust has been formed for Celotex Company common stock.

Earnings for eight months ended June 30 amounted to $2.15 a share on 53,216 7 per cent preferred shares.

Highway Construction at Record Level

Based on the contracts awarded in square yards, the construction of concrete roads and streets throughout the United States during the first half of 1930 is compared with the corresponding figures for the past nine years. Source: Highway Bureau, Portland Cement Association.

Highway improvement, as indicated by contracts for concrete roads and streets, is breaking all records this year. This means not only a present prosperity for the contractors and certain industries, but also an unprecedented progress in the development of one of the nation's principal transportation assets. Paving roads is paving the way to better and sounder economic conditions.

DAILY TRUE STORY

Betty slipped out of her fur coat, picked her way across Flo's toy-laden living room floor, and catching up baby Betty settled herself comfortably on the end of the chesterfield. Such a clutter, such a mess, but such adorable kiddies.

Flo appeared at the [illegible] a bit disheveled, apron a [illegible] soiled but beautiful nevertheless. The odor of fresh [illegible] and [illegible] wafted in from the k[illegible]

"[illegible] you ever see such a [illegible] It's a wonder you can [illegible] after your peaceful [illegible]." She laughed, [illegible] a wisp of damp hair [illegible] her forehead as she [illegible] down beside Betty for a moment.

There was a scuffle on the front porch, laughing young voices, the door burst open and in bounded Bobby and Joe with a huge police dog by the collar. The baby in Betty's arms became frightened and began to cry violently.

"Bobby, take that dog out of the house this instant," Flo exclaimed, gathering the baby in her arms and trying to quiet her.

The two sturdy figures in the door stood stock still.

"But Mom, Mrs. Hale said we could hitch the dog to our wagon," protested Bobby.

Busy Woman

Without a word Flo handed the baby to Betty and started toward the door. As if by magic the two boys and the dog vanished and the door was shut with a bang. Flo looked at Betty and smiled.

"Kitty, pick up every one of these toys and put them away. Daddy won't have a place to put his feet when he comes in. Hurry now, there's a dear." She gave her small daughter an affectionate shove.

"I'll be there in a minute, dear, just as soon as I put the bread in the stove," she called cheerily to Betty, disappearing in the kitchen.

The baby settled down and began to coo, finally bursting into a beaming toothless smile. Betty felt relieved. She wondered how Flo could live in this confusion. It wasn't just today—it was always—sometimes more so. She loved Flo and the kiddies but somehow it was always a relief to get back to her little apartment, with its faint odor of cedar and expensive perfume. The smell of cooking was abominable—outside the kitchen. Yet how could it be helped, in these dinky little houses with the kitchen not more than two feet from the front door?

Intends to Marry

Flo came in again.

"There, that's all for the present." She sighed, dropping down again beside Betty.

"Ed'll be late tonight. He's had to work overtime to make ends meet lately. That doctor's bill for Kitty set him back a good bit. A man surely takes a load of responsibility on his shoulders when he gets married."

Betty looked at her narrowly.

"And if they don't, they get it anyway, sooner or later. Just have to live long enough, that's all." Betty paused, glancing at Flo; she felt that something must have gone wrong with her, but Flo never complained.

"Look at Bob Brooks, what married man do you know is carrying a heavier load than he is, with Helen and her five children to care for? It seems to me it's a case of, say yes, and they'll hang you—say no, and they'll cut your hand off. Oh, it's a great life." Betty laughed.

"As to whether you'll have your responsibility served with or without marriage, is merely a matter of choice—I'll take mine with—thank you."

She laughed again, lightly, as she held up her left hand for Flo's inspection.

On the third finger flashed what Flo termed a gorgeous diamond.

Flo caught her breath.

"Not really, dear," she exclaimed. "You are not giving up your salary and that jewel of an apartment and everything for hum-drum married life!"

The baby had fallen asleep and Flo laid her gently among the pillows on the other end of the chesterfield. She looked at Betty sharply.

Betty Blushes

"I thought all this clutter and confusion annoyed you!" She smiled in a mysterious way. "It's all in the game, you know."

Betty looked superior. She turned the ring around on her finger, gazing at it fondly. She looked up at Flo, blushing prettily.

"But Flo, you don't understand, with Phil—oh, this is different."

Flo opened her mouth to speak, then shut it abruptly and caught Betty in her arms, a wise little smile hovering about her mouth.

"Of course, dear, I understand and I wouldn't spoil it for the world," she whispered. "I wish—why, I wish you all the happiness anybody ever had in every married life put together." She laughed.

"Rather a confused wish, but then I am confused at the thought of you getting married."

Later Betty lay awake in her little apartment thinking. She wondered why Flo had been so upset at the idea of her getting married. Perhaps she thought of all the things one is supposed to give up when one marries, of all the sacrifices and heartaches. Betty laughed gaily to herself. She didn't believe half she heard about all this sacrifice business. She thought of Phil, so strong and handsome, and a warm little feeling crept up around her heart. She switched off the light and settled down to sleep. Flo needn't worry about her; she was going to get married, true, but this was different.

It's fun to guess what the new fall colors are like just by reading their names. Here are a few of them with the fruit family in full glory: Orange, plum, almond, plum black, raisin, prune, currant, mountain berry, chocolate, cocoa, gypsy cricket, rust, terra cotta, tete de negre, ink, putty, pistache, cyclamen—we could go on. Even hemlines, normal waistlines, belts, especially draped girdles, boleros, jabots, capelets, tunics, bloused bodices, the "bell" silhouette and flounces and tiers all characterize fall dresses of 1930.

Short History of Rackets and Racketeering

No history of gangland would be complete without a word or two about the most ferocious Amazon who ever held sway over the hoodlums of Newport—Hell-Cat Hattie. Every day, according to legend, she drank cod liver oil, so you can imagine how strong she was. Her racket was to marry some rich old rowdie and then, before the honeymoon was over, to slip away to a grocery store and buy a lot of groceries on credit. She would then take the groceries around to neighbors and sell them for cash, using the money thus gotten to go to motion picture shows. It was estimated, at the time of her arrest, that she had seen John Gilbert on the screen no less than fourteen times.

That Home-Coming Dinner In Honor of Mayor Kline

Politicians are arranging a big dinner to be given in honor of Mayor Charles H. Kline when he returns from his European tour. It will be at the William Penn Hotel on September 10, and they are expecting to sell 3,000 tickets at $7.50 each.

If a person not acquainted with conditions in Pittsburgh should attend the dinner he would doubtless get the impression that we are living in the Golden Age, with everything lovely and the goose hanging high. The Mayor will, of course, be told that he is a great man, the idol of the people, and a brilliant exponent of all the virtues that one looks for in the chief executive of a large city. His administration, it will be said, is a glorious epoch in Pittsburgh's history. And much else will no doubt be said that is fatuous and fulsome, if not false, although Mayor Kline is fully entitled to credit in at least two particulars.

He has given benefit and pleasure to hundreds of thousands through the Sunday night movies which he instituted in the parks. By his non-interference, despite political temptation, with the apparently efficient operation of the Department of Public Works, the city's streets are being maintained in an exceptionally good state of repair, a very real blessing.

But how much more to the point it would be if the mayor, instead of receiving plaudits for imaginary virtues, were to be told instead that during his absence the symptoms of corruption and bribery in the management of the city's affairs have become more and more evident—that if it is not one "racket" that is the news, it is another!

He might be told, for example, that the scandal now most conspicuously before the public is that involving the theft of accessories and other property from automobiles towed by order of the police to certain garages. He might be told that, according to C. H. Roth, secretary of the Pittsburgh Motor Club, several hundred complaints have been made by members whose things have been stolen, but that they do not dare to prosecute because of "fear of political retaliation."

The Mayor might be told that the Clearing House lottery has become an evil of the first magnitude and within the last few weeks has caused a suicide, a homicide and a number of robberies. He might be told it is common gossip that some of the lottery agents who were arrested lately were arrested not because of the zeal of the police to enforce the law, but because they had trespassed on the territory of lottery operators who had been given the exclusive right by political powers to operate in that district.

The Mayor might be told of the slot machine racket—of the arrest, for instance, of some Soho boys for stealing a slot machine in which they had lost $6, of the suspicious conduct of the police in giving out that it was a cash register that had been stolen and barring newspaper reporters from the magistrate's hearing.

The Mayor might be told interesting things about the booze racket—about the recent "barrel murder," for instance, and the alleged confession that hundreds of thousands of dollars had been paid in bribes to politicians. He could be told of still other forms of crime and commercial vice that thrive in Pittsburgh with offiical connivance if not participation.

But Kline, of course, will be told none of these really important things.

The situation in Pittsburgh is bad, but probably no worse than in other cities. Prohibition tempted persons powerful in municipal politics to accept bribes from bootleggers for protection. And from that it was an easy step to take bribes from lottery and slot machine operators. The gulf between that and winking at the theft of accessories from cars towed, because of illegal parking, to politically controlled garages, was not difficult to bridge.

There are some places, like Chicago and New York, where things are probably worse than in Pittsburgh. But something is being done elsewhere to clean up the mess, while nothing is being done here.

In Scranton yesterday a former mayor was sentenced to a year in jail in connection with a slot machine scandal. The chief of police of Carbondale was sentenced to a jail sentence yesterday also for the same kind of offense.

In New York City Mayor Walker called a group of 200 civic and business leaders to City Hall, told them he had been informed graft and corruption were widespread, and that he would like to have their help in stamping it out. He said he would "run the complaints down and run the men who were guilty out of the service and out of the city."

Chicago, too, is trying to clean house.

Mayor Kline would win praise worth far more to him than the fulsome flattery that will be poured out at his home-coming dinner if he would part company with gang politicians and devote himself to an earnest effort to rid the city of their "rackets."

He might follow the example of Mayor Walker and call a meeting of civic and business leaders to discuss the situation. If such a meeting accomplished nothing else, it would at least evince a desire on the part of the administration to effect an improvement in conditions.

The disheartening thing is the feeling that he may not care.

Where's Madagascar?

And Why?

Police in Philadelphia, forced to submit to an intelligence test, have protested against the catch questions contained in it. They had to name the States along the Mexican border, locate Madagascar or Mozambique, and describe the source of the River Nile.

One cop, who failed to pass, asks the examiners what the big idea is. He has been on traffic duty quite a while now, but no motorist or pedestrian ever came to him for directions to the Mexican border, or Madagascar, or Mozambique, or the Nile. And if they did, he says, he would know what to do with them.

Others will share the perplexity of this puzzled policeman. What on earth have these questions got to do with policing? And, if so, why?

It seems to us the aggrieved bluecoat shows considerably more intelligence in protesting against the test than his examiners did in putting it. We hope he meets them in traffic sometime, and they ask him the shortest way to Madagascar.

Strange Eggs in the Eagle's Nest!

Strange the eggs that are discovered

THE FLIGHT OF THE R-100

By Archibald Henderson

The dream of the air-passenger is to have dinner in London on Monday and dinner in Montreal on Wednesday—two days later. That dream came close to realization through the recent flight of the British dirigible, the R-100. But for the bad weather encountered and a tear in a fin surface, which had to be repaired en route under great difficulties, the miracle would have been accomplished. The flight of the R-100, while not entirely successful, points forward to a time in the near future when a line of airships will be running on a regular schedule between England and Canada, taking three days to come over and two to return.

The R-100 set a new dirigible record for westward crossing of the Atlantic. On this, her maiden voyage, she made the journey from Cardington, Yorkshire, to St. Hubert Airport, Montreal, Canada, in 78 hours 49 minutes. She beat the best record of the Graf Zeppelin, and also the world record of the United States Navy dirigible Los Angeles from Germany to Lakehurst, N. J. The latter's record, of 80 hours 9 minutes, however, was made on a much longer route. So the R-100 has little of which to boast.

While the trip was not an unalloyed success, the excellent behavior of the ship in the storm it encountered and its quick response to control were satisfactory features. The most important result was the discovery that the ship was not of the right size nor capable of making the desired speed. It is now believed that the essential type of dirigible indicated by this flight should be at least twice the size of the R-100, and achieve an average speed of eighty-five miles an hour. This would result, it is thought, in a four-day schedule, and so reduce the cost of transportation as to make this form of air travel commercially acceptable.

A serious drawback in the recent flight was the type of gas and gasoline employed. Both were highly inflammable and readily combustible. The airship was in grave danger during the thunderstorm; and the lights had to be extinguished for a time to reduce the danger. The companion ship of the R-100, the R-101, is scheduled to make a voyage to India in the near future.

She will use non-inflammable furnace oil as fuel, and will employ compression ignition engines; but this will be at the cost of diminished horsepower, reduced speed and increased weight in the power cars.

Dr. Hugo Eckener prophesies that there will be regular North Atlantic service of dirigible lines within the next two or three years; and regular South Atlantic service somewhat later. Pacific service—San Francisco, Honolulu, Tokio—will come in a few years. Says Eckener: These ocean-route airships already have won places as future carriers of passengers, mails and highly valuable cargo. Repeated attempts to use airplanes to cross the North Atlantic have shown them to be tragically unsuited for ocean routes. Heavier-than-air machines have their most important future over-land routes and as feeders to airships on ocean routes.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Here's a problem. This paper wants YOUR answer to it. Al Harvey started it. Al's an automobile dealer in Kansas City. He is forty-two years of age, prosperous—owns a couple of apartment houses and a lunchette, as well as his agency—and is thoroughly contented with his lot. People point to Al with pride and tell how he started, without a nickel or any education. They say he's a typical American success. Al, himself, hasn't a doubt of it.

But for all that, there's a knock in Al's performance—his 16-year-old son, Dan. Young Dan's as different from his dad as a humming bird from an oil truck. A shy, twitchy youngster, with flickering, light brown eyes—they say he takes after his mother who died when he was eight. The very sight of machinery, the stench of oil and roar of motors, that's sweetest music to Al, batters something in Dan. He wants to be an artist. A designer. You'd know it! He goes gangling along the street, mooning at nothing in particular—and making the old man see red! For, according to Al Harvey, there never yet was an artist that was worth a retread.

No artists for him, declares Al. Dan is to follow his footsteps. Take a good business course, then learn the automobile business and make money. Afterward, if he wants art, he can BUY it. Nor are his motives quite as mercenary as this sounds. It's for the kid's own good, says Al. What good are artists, anyway, to themselves or anyone else? Never have a nickel. Always have to sponge on somebody. And nobody respects them, because you can't count on them when it comes to serious business. For instance, in the Community Drive—who'd think of asking an artist to contribute? And, if the city wants to build a bridge or an incinerator, what good's an artist? In short, artists are just a coupla jumps ahead of common loafers, says Al, and no son of his is going to be one, not if A. H. knows it.

Young Dan whines and sulks and sneers, but Al's immovable. And he honestly feels that the youngster's an ungrateful pup. Here he's trying to build up a Great Future for the kid—help him to be a useful, self respecting citizen—and what thanks does he get?

"But," mildly suggests one of Al's friends, "isn't it better to let the boy live life as he sees it—serve beauty, if that's his aim, even if it doesn't bring him money—than to try and pour him into your mold?"

But Al, in horror, asks what kind of a father would he be if he let the kid make a mess of his life—and invites us to referee.

So here is your chance. What's your answer?

HAS A FATHER THE RIGHT TO PICK THE PATTERN OF HIS CHILD'S LIFE? Is it his DUTY to select a career which he considers honorable and profitable, and force his boy to follow it, regardless of the youngster's desires?

OR HAS A BOY THE RIGHT TO CHOOSE HIS OWN CAREER? And suppose he wishes to serve Beauty instead of Butter 'n' Eggs? Supposes he chooses to be poor and obscure, but, in his own way, happy—what then? That is against the American tradition. Abraham Lincoln might have approved it — you never could count on Abe—but Calvin Coolidge and Herbert Hoover would certainly discourage it. Would YOU? SHOULD you—if this were your boy and you were his dad?

You have an opinion? Then tell it to the editor of this paper. He wants to know—and he'll pass it on to the world.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS.

The Dancer

Because I saw her dancing there,
A feather whirling on the air,
A joyous sprite,
Breeze tossed, leaf light,
The world has grown more blithe, more fair.

I gained, in that bright interlude,
That dance my eyes, enraptured, viewed,
A new delight
In this, the height
Of art, which seemed an artless mood.

And ever, when my pathway goes Through open fields or garden close,
With joy I trace
A strange, rare grace
In swaying poppy, nodding rose.

Now fairy flutterings I see (Since her enchantment rests on me)
In bubbling springs,
In soaring wings,
In every leaf on every tree!

Text For Today I am the good shepherd: the good shepherd giveth his life for the sheep.—John, x: 11.

(The text for today is suggested by the Rev. John Bauman, pastor, Emmanuel Lutheran Church, East Pittsburgh.)

"Bugs" Baer Says:

A Powerful Census

Ex-Ambassador Gerard, who once bravely attacked the German army with 24 black bags, says that America is ruled by 59 prominent men.

He omits the writer from his glossary of pomp and power. But the sting is taken out of the chowder by the fact that he also fails to mention Shipwreck Kelly and the man who invented slippery floors for cafeterias.

Bugs Baer

Nobody yet knows just what Mr. Gerard had in those black bags when he was ambassadoring around the hot spots of Europe in 1914. He was living the life of hotel labels and travel posters.

Wherever you went in Europe you were sure to stumble over one of Mr. Gerard's sinister handbags. They went with him all over the world and when he expected to arrive he always wired ahead, "Reserve Grand Central Station for Gerard and luggage.

Now, we realize that he was carrying around his own private miniature golf course in sections.

His list of prominent citizens who hold the balance of power in their vest pockets sounds very reasonable. But he left out the Boston Watch and Ward Society.

And it's sure to start an argument with the Daughters of the American Revolution. They have been suspiciously quiet ever since that last soprano shindig.

When you mention names like Rockefeller, Mellon, Hearst, Ochs, Schwab, Howard, Rosenwald, Mitchell, Lamont and Raskob, you ain't reading the batting order of the Red Sox or the Braves.

Boys, they ain't railroad guards. They have enough money to simonize an elephant with gold leaf.

It's a tribute to America to know that all these men started life as boys and never changed.

Some day, we hope to join that huddle of biggity men. It must be quite a thrill to be mentioned as a world power and to be able to afford a pair of suspenders for every pair of trousers.

Of course, you might say that they can only eat one meal at a time, smoke one cigar at a time and wear but one suit of clothes at a time.

That's a good argument. But, you never inhaled the kind of cigars we have to smoke, did you?

When one of those men orders a meal he can tear one leaf off an artichoke and throw the rest away.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS

In Collaboration With

Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

But in not one of these cases is there any trace of an inheritance of the effect, whether it lead to a stunting as with the Chinese women's feet, or to overgrowth, as with distended lips and ear-lobes.

Most familiar of all such failures is the absence of any hereditary effect of language.

H. G. Wells

Not only do English children have to learn their own language, but they learn it no quicker than they would learn French if brought up from the first in a French-speaking household.

Here is a habit practiced daily and hourly through all but the first year of life; and nothing of it, neither words nor ideas, neither grammar or accent, has become engrained in the hereditary constitution.

By these facts the older view of the hereditary mechanism was undetermined and the probability of a complete independence of the germ-plasm was strengthened. It became extraordinarily hard to see how an acquired character could be inherited.

Weismann proceeded to look into the evidence for the phenomenon. Is there any need for us to admit this theoretically incongruous hypothesis into the harmony of our ideas? In a word, is there any clear case of such inheritance on record?

Many supposed examples, he found, could be dismissed as the result of mere chance, or of the natural but unfortunate tendency of human nature to remember and exaggerate striking coincidences, while allowing the much more numerous cases where nothing striking occurred to fade out of mind.

A man has a finger amputated; his son is born with defective fingers. A woman bears a scar on her face as result of a wound; her child has a birthmark in "exactly" the same place.

Such facts may be perfectly true (although we often find we have to discount some of the exactitude of the resemblance on account of this tendency to make the best of a good story), but they do not prove anything.

Isolated cases never prove anything, because they may be due to chance and we do not know the odds. Children with defective fingers or marks on their faces are also born from perfectly normal parents.

Only a systematic collection of observation, selecting nothing and omitting nothing, or a systematic set of experiments, in which the results of treatment can be compared with those of a control experiment in which no treatment is given—only these will prove anything, whether positively or negatively.

They will show us what is due to chance alone, and what to the treatment. To trust to these anecdotes of isolated cases is like backing a horse odds-on when his real starting price is long odds against.

Many other cases Weismann found to be based on misapprehension. The facts were correct, but the interpretation was wrong, or, at least, not necessarily right.

Stock-breeders, for example, tell us that when barbed wire fencing was first introduced in the Western United States there were many cases of cattle injuring themselves on the new-fangled fences, but that after a comparatively few years such accidents became extremely rare.

This is often cited as a case of inherited experience; but it could equally well depend not on the young animal's inheriting anything, but on their learning directly from the old, and this is, on general grounds, more likely.

Again, it is perfectly true that many seashore plants produce unusually large, fleshy leaves. So do many garden plants, such as geraniums, when they are watered with salt water. But in the shore plants the character is inherited; it appears even if they are grown miles away from the coast.

May it not be that they owe their fleshiness to the cumulative effect of generations of exposure to the salty spray? Perhaps, but not necessarily. Succulence appears to be a useful quality in such situations, for the presence of salt makes it more difficult for the plant to withdraw water from the soil—the soil is, physiologically speaking, dry, and the fleshy leaves provide a reserve store of water in case the roots fail to keep up the supply.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Thoughts while strolling: How many remember when a mantle scarf was a "throw?" An auto license plate U. 13—sounds like a submarine. What became of Frederic and Fanny Hatton? Tweedy boys who say "Howjudew!" Surprise for a beauty picker—the brunette manageress at Schrafft's on the evenue near 46th.

Robert Garland, a Baltimore, Md., boy, who made good in the city. Very few ladies know how to wear neck furs. Jefferson Machamer, the artist. Rheumy-eyed old roues who totter to leg show matinees. Then sit down front and doze. Second hand auto—$8.90. A new cabaret "Hot Ashes."

Restaurant offers menus for children. A Chinese laundryman—Sing Sing. William Lyon Phelps, the critic. Sign: "Pent house for quiet bachelor." Leslie Howard or his double. Those two polite traffic cops at Madison avenue and 6th street. Wish Ben Bernie would come back to town.

A cake of bath soap—$8. I used to have a room and bath weekly for that at the Gerdes in Cincinnati. The antique shop society speak-easy. Julia Marlowe turning into her Park Avenue apartment house. Margola Gilmore has a look of perpetual surprise. Like Ring Lardner.

Wrecking sign: "This building must be down in 30 days or we lose $25,000." I've a notion to take off my coat and help. Wonder what Helen Morgan would charge to sing to me an hour or so? Justine Hall, who used to go to school with our gang and doesn't look 30. Zoe Beckley.

Ladies who wear white orchids to luncheons. The avenue is to have a bird shop called "The Audubon." Maury Paul breezing along. Gloomy side street Russian cafes but tres cher. For a $2.50 cover charge they give you the Volga boat thing and a sitting down kick out dancer.

The St. Thomas gargoyles. And Latin inscription on the University Club. Bow-legged men in butter-bean shaped riding pants. And red vests. Sigmund Romberg, the composer. Who used to play the piano in Bustanoby's basement. And now roosts in an avenue sky castle.

Devastating changes come to Tin Pan Alley with the talkie theme song. A tune such as "Alexander's Ragtime Band" used to [illegible] a year. A hit tune often sold [illegible] remote areas 10 years after publication. The radio stopped that. Even a misery song is lucky to last two months, thank heavens.

Kin Hubbard's 1926 observation the only way to cross a crowded New York street was to lead a cow is more fitting than ever. I saw a gentleman almost test the immortality of his soul under four different autos this morning crossing Park avenue at Fiftieth street. "You made it!" I congratulated with a fluttery Ed Wynn laugh and my customary goofiness for saying the wrong thing at the wrong time. And the way he looked me over I know better than ever there is something more the matter with me than just splay feet.

The idea has likely been elaborated, but after years of trying to cross Fifth avenue it might be comical to call it "Fit avenue." Never mind, you can't expect to die laughing after each paragraph.

At one of those 60-cent soda water salons where a slight puff of sweetened wind is served by a waiter with gold epaulets, they now charge 5 cents extra for straws—straws that will not even give a sucker an even break. It won't be long until they have cover charges at soda fountains and in such an event look for me well up front in the rioting.

In a boyhood diary is this entry: "With Edna McMullen and Frankie Dunbar to Rathburn's for soda. Had chocolate—total 15 cents."

From a news story: "She was waiting for her husband who always passed the corner on a dead run."

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

Why permit trivial disappointments to influence you?

Isn't it foolish to allow things, many of them insignificant in nature, to take comfort and joy out of life?

Why attach so much importance to whether you attend the theater a certain night, to a game of golf, to going away on a short trip, to missing a train connection or not having a new suit at the promised time?

These are small matters in a lifetime, yet it is very likely that it is matters of no more importance than these which cause you much regret.

You stew and fret and become generally ill-natured and put yourself into a state where it is impossible to enjoy the things that are vital.

Much of your unhappiness is the result of not being able to carry out plans for your own amusement.

Is being entertained the big thing in your life?

Are your social affairs your most desired form of happiness?

If so you don't go far in worthwhile undertakings.

If you can't fortify yourself against the little disturbing things, what will be the effect when you have to meet serious difficulties?

Aren't you too much of a play-boy?
